Teaching Eu Citizenship in Europe DR. Faruk TÜRK,2021-06-30 Citizenship can be defined simply as being a member of political institutions Citizenship the first evidence of which is encountered in ancient Greek city states in history is found in the Roman state constitutionally for the first time National citizenship which became more important with the importance of nation states was supported by the concept of human rights after the French Revolution Events and phenomena such as Reform Industrialization Democracy Globalization Digitalization International Trade and Migration have given different dimensions to the concept of citizenship Today all states have determined the rights and duties of individuals as their citizens in their constitutions and convey the rights and responsibilities of citizenship to the students in school education Societies with good citizens who know their rights and responsibilities are thought to develop and advance more in any area

Rethinking the Economics of Land and Housing Josh Ryan-Collins,Toby Lloyd,Laurie Macfarlane,2017-02-28 Why are house prices in many advanced economies rising faster than incomes Why isn t land and location taught or seen as important in modern economics What is the relationship between the financial system and land In this accessible but provocative guide to the economics of land and housing the authors reveal how many of the key challenges facing modern economies including housing crises financial instability and growing inequalities are intimately tied to the land economy Looking at the ways in which discussions of land have been routinely excluded from both housing policy and economic theory the authors show that in order to tackle these increasingly pressing issues a major rethink by both politicians and economists is required The Color of Creatorship Anjali Vats,2020-09-29 The Color of Creatorship examines how copyright trademark and patent discourses work together to form American ideals around race citizenship and property Working through key moments in intellectual property history since 1790 Anjali Vats reveals that even as they have seemingly evolved American understandings of who is a creator and who is an infringer have remained remarkably racially conservative and consistent over time Vats examines archival legal political and popular culture texts to demonstrate how intellectual properties developed alongside definitions of the good citizen bad citizen and intellectual labor in racialized ways Offering readers a theory of critical race intellectual property Vats historicizes the figure of the citizen creator the white male maker who was incorporated into the national ideology as a key contributor to the nation s moral and economic development She also traces the emergence of racial panics around infringement arguing that the post racial creator exists in opposition to the figure of the hyper racial infringer a national enemy who is the opposite of the hardworking innovative American creator The Color of Creatorship contributes to a rapidly developing conversation in critical race intellectual property Vats argues that once anti racist activists grapple with the underlying racial structures of intellectual property law they can better advocate for strategies that resist the underlying drivers of racially disparate copyright patent and trademark policy

Reconstructing Urban Economics Franklin Obeng-Odoom,2016-08-15 Neoclassical economics the intellectual bedrock of modern capitalism faces growing criticisms as many of its key assumptions and policy prescriptions are systematically challenged Yet there remains one field of economics where these limitations continue virtually unchallenged the study of cities and regions in built environment economics In this book Franklin Obeng Odoom draws on institutional Georgist and Marxist economics to clearly but comprehensively show what the key issues are today in thinking about urban economics In doing so he demonstrates the widespread tensions and contradictions in the status quo showing how to reconstruct urban economics in order to create a more just society and environment

Global Developments in Public Infrastructure Procurement Darrin Grimsey,Mervyn K. Lewis,2017-11-24 There is widespread acceptance of the importance of infrastructure but less agreement about how it should be funded and procured While most public infrastructure is still provided in house or by traditional procurement methods with well researched strengths and weaknesses the development of service concession arrangements has seen a greater emphasis on lifecycle costing risk assessment and asset design as featured in a variety of public private partnership PPP delivery models This book examines the various procurement approaches and provides a framework for comparing their advantages and disadvantages Drawing on international experience it considers some of the best and worst examples of PPPs and infrastructure projects generally along with the lessons for improving infrastructure procurement processes Impact of anthropogenic environmental changes on animal microbiomes Joel White, Katherine Amato, Ellen Decaestecker, Valerie McKenzie, 2023-06-09 Geographies of Developing Areas Glyn Williams, Paula Meth, Katie Willis, 2014-03-21

Geographies of Developing Areas is a thought provoking and accessible introductory text presenting a fresh view of the Global South that challenges students pre conceptions and promotes lively debate Rather than presenting the Global South as a set of problems from rapid urbanization to poverty this book focuses on the diversity of life in the South and looks at the role the South plays in shaping and responding to current global change The core contents of the book integrate traditional concerns of development geographers such as economic development and social inequality with aspects of the global South that are usually given less attention such as cultural identity and political conflict This edition has been fully updated to reflect recent changes in the field and highlight issues of security risk and violence environmental sustainability and climate change and the impact of ICT on patterns of North South and South South exchange It also challenges students to think about how space is important in both the directions and the outcomes of change in the Global South emphasizing the inherently spatial nature of political economic and socio cultural processes Students are introduced to the Global South via contemporary debates in development and current research in cultural economic and political geographies of developing areas The textbook consider how images of the so called Third World are powerful but problematic It explores the economic political and cultural processes shaping the South at the global scale and the impact that these have on people s lives and identities Finally the text considers the possibilities and limitations of different development strategies The main arguments of the book are richly illustrated through case study material drawn from across the Global South as well as full colour figures and photos Students are supported throughout with clear examples explanations of key terms ideas and debates and introductions to the wider literature and relevant websites in the field The pedagogical features of the book have been further developed through discussion questions and activities that provide focused tasks for students research including investigation based around the book s case studies and in depth exploration of debates and concepts it introduces
