Annual Performance Plan Mpumalanga (South Africa). Department of Education, 2015 These Potatoes Look Like Humans Mbuso Nkosi, 2023-09 These Potatoes Look Like Humans offers a unique understanding of the intersection of land labour dispossession and violence experienced by Black South Africans from the apartheid period to the present Critiquing the narrow materialist and legalistic arguments about the land question uMbuso weNkosi recognises that for most Black South Africans the meaning of land cannot be separated from one's spiritual and ancestral connection to it Taking the historic 1959 potato boycott in South Africa as a starting point weNkosi turns an unflinching gaze on how past and present continue to inform the future He argues that the violence to which Black farmworkers have been subjected is more than brutal exploitation of cheap labour It stems from the anxiety white society feels about its oppression of the majority its claims to land ownership and its fears of the future The cycle of violence will persist until there is a recognition of the dead and restless spirits of the land and a spiritual return to home for Black people's ancestors uMbuso weNkosi offers a deeper understanding of the meaning of dispossession the struggle for land reform and the remedies for social justice in today's South Africa uMbuso weNkosi is a Lecturer in the Department of Sociology at the University of Pretoria

Barnes, 2016-07-14 In these proceedings of the 24th International Conference on Modelling Monitoring and Management of Air Pollution international academics and air pollution practitioners contribute to the evolving understanding of the science and policy contexts of air pollution All the books from the conference series have discussed important air pollution issues at an international national and local level and by virtue of their truly international composition have brought to the discussion a unique suite of perspectives The conference findings enjoy a wide and rapid dissemination amongst the air pollution science and policy communities The management of air pollution is one of the most challenging problems facing the international community A particular strength of the series has been the attention given to regulatory and market solutions to air pollution management The Air Pollution series of conferences has consistently acknowledged that science remains the key to identifying the nature and scale of air pollution impacts and reaffirmed that science is essential in the formulation of policy relevant information for regulatory decision making The conference series also acknowledged at a very early stage that science alone will not improve a polluted atmosphere The scientific knowledge derived from well designed studies needs to be allied with further technical and economic studies in order to ensure cost effective and efficient mitigation In turn the science technology and economic outcomes are necessary but not sufficient Topics covered include Air pollution modelling Air pollution mitigation and management Aerosols and particles Emission studies Health effects Indoor air pollution Air data quality Monitoring and measuring Case studies Air pollution control technologies Industrial air pollution Air pollution science
