Assessment in Geographical Education: An International Perspective Theresa Bourke, Reece Mills, Rod Lane, 2022-02-27 In recent years there has been increased attention paid to the importance of assessment in Geographical Education the chosen subject for this book Assessment is an important tool for collecting information about student learning and for providing timely data to inform key stakeholders including students teachers parents and policymakers To be effective assessment needs to be valid reliable and fair Validity is about ensuring that we assess what we claim we are assessing Reliability is about measuring performance and understanding in a consistent way Without validity and reliability assessment is unlikely to provide equitable opportunities for students to demonstrate what they know and can do As geography educators it is therefore important that we identify the core concepts and skills in geography that we want students to master We need a clear understanding of what the progression of learning looks like for each concept and skill so we can develop fit for purpose assessments that track and improve student learning While there is a substantial literature on evidence based assessment in secondary school contexts research exploring best practice assessment in geography is rare This is a concern given the distinctive nature of geography and the important role of assessment in the learning process This scholarly collection seeks to address this issue by connecting research in educational assessment with the domain of geography The chapters are written by leading researchers in Geographical Education from across the globe These chapters provide examples of innovation through the collective voices of geography teacher educator scholars from across Australia USA South Korea Germany Switzerland and Singapore What unifies the work in this book is that each chapter focuses on a key feature of the discipline of geography providing scholarly examples of evidence based practices for assessing student s knowledge and skills

The Geography of South Africa Jasper Knight, Christian M. Rogerson, 2018-10-03 This edited collection examines contemporary directions in geographical research on South Africa It encompasses a cross section of selected themes of critical importance not only to the discipline of Geography in South Africa but also of relevance to other areas of the Global South All chapters are original contributions providing a state of the art research baseline on key themes in physical human and environmental geography and in understanding the changing geographical landscapes of modern South Africa These contributions set the scene for an understanding of the relationships between modern South Africa and the wider contemporary world including issues of sustainable development and growth in the Global South

Handbook on Political Trust Sonja Zmerli, Tom W.G. van der Meer, 2017-01-27 Political trust in government parliament or political parties has taken centre stage in political science for more than half a century reflecting ongoing concerns with the legitimacy and functioning of representative democracy To provide scholars students and policy makers with a tool to navigate through the complexity of causes and consequences of political trust this Handbook offers an excellent overview of the conceptual theoretical methodological and empirical state of the art complemented by accounts of regional particularities and authored by international experts in this field

Children, Education and Geography Lauren Hammond, Mary Biddulph, Simon Catling, John H. McKendrick, 2022-11-30 This book examines the intersections between children education and geography With a particular focus on children s geographies and geographies of education the book draws upon cutting edge research to consider how geographical education can be enhanced through increased engagement with these fields The book is underpinned by the position that the lives of children and young people are inherently geographical as are educational institutions systems and processes The volume explores the ways in which the diverse relationships between children education and geography can enrich research and work with and for children and young people Chapters in this book consider how injustices are re produced through education Chapters also explore how insights generated by thinking in and across geography and education can be used to support and empower young people in both formal education and in their everyday lives Ultimately this book is written for children and young people Not as the readership but as people often marginalised in decision making at a variety of scales in education and who we contend should be at the heart of all educational thinking The book is of value to undergraduate and post graduate students interested in geography education and children s geographies as well as teachers of geography both new and experienced

Anti-Press Violence in Subnational Undemocratic Regimes Jos Midas Bartman, 2023-04-15 The global trend of increasing violence against the press has spurred research interest into the questions of where why and how communicators are repressed As a result scholarship has demonstrated that hybrid regimes which mix undemocratic and democratic elements constitute a specifically dangerous and lethal context for these actors Decentralized countries in which some subnational political elites have retained authoritarian features have been identified as the most perilous context for communicators However despite the burgeoning interest in illiberal practices and repression on the subnational level it is still relatively unexplored how and why subnational political elites repress communicators within their multi level setting The author argues that communicators in subnational undemocratic regimes who can spread the scope of compromising information beyond subnational boundaries can cause uncertainties for subnational undemocratic regimes The book explores how the political elites of these regimes repress these communicators in response
