Abstract: The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the physical fitness of 10 sedentary, middle-aged men. The program consisted of three sessions per week, each lasting 45 minutes. The first session was a warm-up, followed by a 15-minute interval training session, and then a 30-minute aerobic session. The second session was a warm-up, followed by a 15-minute interval training session, and then a 30-minute aerobic session. The third session was a warm-up, followed by a 15-minute interval training session, and then a 30-minute aerobic session. The results showed that the participants had a significant increase in their aerobic capacity, as measured by the maximum oxygen consumption (VO₂max), and a significant decrease in their resting heart rate. The program was well-tolerated by all participants, and no adverse effects were reported.
