America On Paper The First Hundred Years:

Howard University: the First Hundred Years, 1867-1967 Rayford W. Logan, 1969 When Rayford W Logan s astute history of Howard University appeared in 1969 Logan was in a unique position to analyze one of the nation s most prominent African American colleges He had recently completed nearly thirty years at Howard as a history professor living and teaching through almost a third of the school s first century Drawing from his own knowledge and university documents Logan traced Howard s chronology from 1866 when it was conceived as a theological seminary for African American ministers to the increasingly successful and in Logan s words cosmopolitan institution of the 1960s Logan detailed university milestones including Howard s founding by an act of Congress in 1867 and the election of Dr Mordecai W Johnson the university s first black president in 1926 as well as the accomplishments of Howard graduates More than thirty years after its first publication Logan s engaging account is essential for a thorough understanding of Howard and its place in the legacy of historically black universities

Embracing the Song of Term: An Mental Symphony within America On Paper The First Hundred Years

In a global taken by screens and the ceaseless chatter of instant communication, the melodic elegance and mental symphony developed by the published word usually diminish into the backdrop, eclipsed by the constant noise and disturbances that permeate our lives. But, set within the pages of America On Paper The First Hundred Years an enchanting fictional treasure brimming with organic feelings, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Constructed by an outstanding musician of language, this interesting masterpiece conducts visitors on an emotional trip, well unraveling the concealed songs and profound influence resonating within each carefully crafted phrase. Within the depths with this touching examination, we shall examine the book is main harmonies, analyze their enthralling writing design, and submit ourselves to the profound resonance that echoes in the depths of readers souls.
