Unity in Diversity Lynne Bowker, Michael Cronin, Dorothy Kenny, Jennifer Pearson, 2016-04-08 Translation studies as a discipline has grown enormously in recent decades Contributions to the discipline have come from a variety of fields including machine translation history literature philosophy linguistics terminology signed language interpreting screen translation translation pedagogy software localization and lexicography There is evidently great diversity in translation studies but is there much unity Have the different branches of translation studies become so specialized that they can no longer talk to each other Would translation studies be strengthened or weakened by the search for or the existence of unifying principles This volume brings together contributions from feminist theory screen translation terminology interpreting computer assisted translation advertising literature linguistics and translation pedagogy in order to counter the tendency to partition or exclude in translation studies Machine translation specialists and literary translators should be found between the same book covers if only because the nomadic journeying of concepts is often the key to intellectual discovery and renewal Celebrating our differences does not mean ignoring what we have in common Unity in Diversity offers a valuable overview of the current state of translation studies from both theoretical and practical perspectives and makes an important contribution to debates on the future direction of translation studies Performing New German Realities Lizzie

Stewart, 2021-07-07 One in four people in Germany today have a so called migration background however the relationship between theatre and migration there has only recently begun to take centre stage Indeed fifty years after large scale Turkish labour migration to the Federal Republic of Germany began theatre by Turkish German artists is only now becoming a consistent feature of Germany's influential state funded theatrical landscape Drawing on extensive archival and field work this book asks where when why and how plays engaging with the new realities of postmigrant Germany have been performed over the past 30 years Focusing on plays by renowned artists Emine Sevgi Zaimar and Feridun Zaimoglu G nter Senkel it asks which new realities have been scripted in the theatrical sphere in the process in the imaginations of playwrights readers audience members in the enactment and direction of scripts on stage and in the performance of new institutional approaches and cultural policies Highlighting the role this theatre has played in a larger ongoing re scripting of the German stage this study presents a critical perspective on contemporary European theatre and opens innovative developments in the
