Body Nation And Narrative In The Americas:

Body, Nation, and Narrative in the Americas K. Pitt, 2010-12-20 This book contextualizes 21st century representations of disappearance torture and detention within a historical framework of inter American narratives Examining a range of sources Pitt finds a persistent focus on the body that links contemporary practices of political terror to concerns about corporality and sovereignty

Nation, Race & History in Asian American Literature Maria C. Zamora, 2008 Nation Race History in Asian American Literature reflects on the symbolic processes through which the United States constitutes its subjects as citizens connecting such processes to the global dynamics of empire building and a suppressed history of American imperialism Through a comparative analysis of David Henry Hwang's M. Butterfly Lois Ann Yamanaka's Blue Hanging and Jessica Hagedorn's Dogeaters this study considers the ways in which bodies challenge the categories asserted in nation building The book proposes that underwritten by the vast histories of American imperial migrations there are texts and bodies which challenge and reconstitute the ever vexed definition of American In remembering such bodies Maria C Zamora proclaims our bodies as actual living texts texts that are constantly bearing contesting and transforming meaning Nation Race History in Asian American Literature will engage scholars interested in cultural and critical theory citizenship and national identity race and ethnicity the body gender studies and transnational literature

Women's Narratives of the Early Americas and the Formation of Empire Mary McAleer Balkun, Susan C. Imbarrato, 2016-04-08 The essays in this collection examine the connections between the forces of empire and women's lives in the early Americas in particular the ways their narratives contributed to empire formation Focusing on the female body as a site of contestation the essays describe acts of bravery subversion and survival expressed in a variety of genres including the saga letter diary captivity narrative travel narrative verse sentimental novel and autobiography The volume also speaks to a range of female experience across the Americas and across time from the Viking exploration to early nineteenth century United States challenging scholars to reflect on the implications of early American literature even to the present day

National Imaginaries, American Identities Larry J. Reynolds, Gordon Hutner, 2000-11-26 From the American Revolution to the present the United States has enjoyed a rich and persuasive visual culture These images have constructed sustained and disseminated social values and identities but this unwieldy sometimes untidy form of cultural expression has received less systematic attention than other modes of depicting American life Recently scholars in the humanities have developed a new critical approach to reading images and the cultural work they perform This practice American cultural iconography is generating sophisticated analyses of how images organize our public life The contributions to this volume exhibit the extraordinary scope and interpretive power of this interdisciplinary study while illuminating the dark corners of the nation's psyche Drawing on such varied texts and visual media as daguerreotypes political cartoons tourist posters and religious artifacts these essays explore how pictures and words combine to teach us who we are and who we are not They examine mimesis in elegant portraits of black

Freemasons industrial age representations of national parks and postwar photographs of atomic destruction They consider how visual culture has described and disclosed the politics of racialized sexuality whether subconsciously affirming it in the shadows of film noir or deliberately contesting it through the interethnic incest of John Sayles's Lone Star Students of literature film and history will find that these essays extend the frontier of American studies The contributors are Maurice Wallace Dennis Berthold Alan Trachtenberg Shirley Samuels Jenny Franchot Cecelia Tichi Eric Lott Bryan C Taylor and Jos E Lim n

The Fiction of America Susanne Hamscha, 2013-05 The Fiction of America juxtaposes classic literature of the American Renaissance with twentieth century popular culture pairing for instance Ralph Waldo Emerson with Finding Nemo Walt Whitman with Spiderman and Hester Prynne with Madonna to investigate how the Americanness of American culture constitutes itself in the interplay of the cultural imaginary and performance Conceptualizing America as a transhistorical practice Susanne Hamscha reveals disruptive spectral moments in the narrative of America which confront American culture with its inherent inconsistencies

An American Body-politic Bernd Herzogenrath, 2010 A reflection on the metaphor of the body politic throughout American history Antebellum American Women Writers and the Road Susan L. Roberson, 2012-07-26 A study of American women's narratives of mobility and travel this book examines how geographic movement opened up other movements or mobilities for antebellum women at a time of great national expansion Concerned with issues of personal and national identity the study demonstrates how women not only went out on the open road but participated in public discussions of nationhood in the texts they wrote Roberson examines a variety of narratives and subjects including not only traditional travel narratives of voyages to the West or to foreign locales but also the ways travel and movement figured in autobiography spiritual and political narratives and domestic novels by women as they constructed their own politics of mobility These narratives by such women as Margaret Fuller Susan Warner and Harriet Beecher Stowe destabilize the male dominated stories of American travel and nation building as women claimed the public road as a domain in which they belonged bringing with them their own ideas about mobility self and nation The many women's stories of mobility also destabilize a singular view of women's history and broaden our outlook on geographic movement and its repercussions for other movements Looking at texts not usually labeled travel writing like the domestic novel brings to light social relations enacted on the road and the relation between story location and mobility

The New Cambridge Companion to William Faulkner John T. Matthews, 2015-04-13 This new Companion offers a sample of innovative approaches to interpreting and appreciating William Faulkner in the twenty first century Feeling Strangely in Mid-Century Spanish and Latin American Women's Fiction Tess C. Rankin, 2023-12-15 An Open Access edition of this book is available on the Liverpool University Press website and the OAPEN library as part of the Opening the Future project with COPIM The early twentieth century was awash in revolutionary scientific discourse and its uptake in the public imaginary through popular scientific writings touched every area of human experience from politics and governance to social mores and culture Feeling Strangely argues that these shifting scientific understandings and their integration into Hispanic and Lusophone society reshaped the experience of gender The book analyzes gender as a felt experience and explores how that experience is shaped by popular scientific discourse by examining the strange femininity of young protagonists in four novels written by women in Spanish and Portuguese Rosa Chacel's Memorias de Leticia Valle published in Argentina in 1945 Norah Lange's Personas en la sala Argentina 1950 Carmen Laforet's Nada Spain 1945 and Clarice Lispector's Perto do cora o selvagem Brazil 1943 It pairs each novel with a broad scientific theme selected from those that captured the contemporary popular imagination to argue that the young female protagonists in these novels all put forth visions of young womanhood as an experience of strangeness Building on Carmen Martín Gaité's term chicas raras Rankin proposes this strangeness as constitutive of a gendered experience inextricable from affective and material engagements with the world

Body and Nation Emily S. Rosenberg, Shanon Fitzpatrick, 2014-07-31 Body and Nation interrogates the connections among the body the nation and the world in twentieth century U S history The idea that bodies and bodily characteristics are heavily freighted with values that are often linked to political and social spheres remains underdeveloped in the histories of America's relations with the rest of the world Attentive to diverse state and nonstate actors the contributors provide historically grounded insights into the transnational dimensions of biopolitics Their subjects range from the regulation of prostitution in the Philippines by the U S Army to Cold War ideals of American feminine beauty and from body counts as metrics of military success to cultural representations of Mexican migrants in the United States as public health threats By considering bodies as complex fluctuating and interrelated sites of meaning the contributors to this collection offer new insights into the workings of both soft and hard power Contributors Frank Costigliola Janet M Davis Shanon Fitzpatrick Paul A Kramer Shirley Jennifer Lim Mary Ting Yi Lui Natalia Molina Brenda Gayle Plummer Emily S Rosenberg Kristina Shull Annessa C Stagner Marilyn B Young

Castronovo,2001-09-27 Argues that the category of death was a central part of the concept of citizenship in the nineteenth century U S and that the particular form of that construction functioned to naturalize white males as ideal citizens

Making the Human Corinne Mitsuye Sugino,2024-11-15 From the debate over affirmative action to the increasingly visible racism amidst the COVID 19 pandemic Asian Americans have emerged as key figures in a number of contemporary social controversies In Making the Human Race Allegory and Asian Americans Corinne Mitsuye Sugino offers the lens of racial allegory to consider how media institutional and cultural narratives mobilize difference to normalize a white Western conception of the human Rather than focusing on a singular arena of society Sugino considers contemporary sources across media law and popular culture to understand how they interact as dynamic sites of meaning making Drawing on scholarship in Asian American studies Black studies cultural studies communication and gender and sexuality studies Sugino argues that Asian American racialization and gendering plays a key role in shoring up abstract concepts such as meritocracy family justice diversity and nation in ways that naturalize hierarchy In doing so Making the Human grapples with anti Asian racism s entanglements with colonialism antiblackness capitalism and gendered violence Weak Nationalisms Douglas

Dowland,2019-07-01 The question What is America has taken on new urgency Weak Nationalisms explores the emotional dynamics behind that question by examining how a range of authors have attempted to answer it through nonfiction since the Second World War revealing the complex and dynamic ways in which affects shape the literary construction of everyday experience in the United States Douglas Dowland studies these attempts to define the nation in an eclectic selection of texts from writers such as Simone de Beauvoir John Steinbeck Charles Kuralt Jane Smiley and Sarah Vowell Each of these texts makes use of synecdoche and Weak Nationalisms shows how this rhetorical technique is variously driven by affects including curiosity discontent hopefulness and incredulity In exploring the function of synecdoche in the creative construction of the United States Dowland draws attention to the evocative politics and literary richness of nationalism and connects critical literary practices to broader discussions involving affect theory and cultural representation Hemispheric American Studies Caroline F. Levander,Robert S. Levine,2007-10-04 This landmark collection brings together a range of exciting new comparative work in the burgeoning field of hemispheric studies Scholars working in the fields of Latin American studies Asian American studies American studies American literature African Diaspora studies and comparative literature address the urgent question of how scholars might reframe disciplinary boundaries within the broad area of what is generally called American studies The essays take as their starting points such questions as What happens to American literary political historical and cultural studies if we recognize the interdependency of nation state developments throughout all the Americas What happens if we recognize the nation as historically evolving and contingent rather than already formed Finally what happens if the fixed borders of a nation are recognized not only as historically produced political constructs but also as component parts of a deeper more multilayered series of national and indigenous histories With essays that examine stamps cartoons novels film art music travel documents and governmental publications Hemispheric American Studies seeks to excavate the complex cultural history of texts and discourses across the ever changing and stratified geopolitical and cultural fields that collectively comprise the American hemisphere This collection promises to chart new directions in American literary and cultural studies

American Literary Misfits D. Berton Emerson, 2024-04-02 The study of nineteenth century American literature has long been tied up with the study of American democracy Just as some regions in the United States are elevated to stand in for the whole nation New England is a good example D Berton Emerson argues the same is true for American literature of the nineteenth century a few canonical texts overrepresent the more motley history of American letters Emerson examines an eclectic group of literary texts that have rarely if ever been considered representative of the nation because of their unseemly characters or plots divergence from dominant literary trends of the era or local particularity These are his literary misfits authors and texts that show different forms of egalitarianism in action that existed outside and even against the dominant liberal narratives of American democracy Emerson s unique contribution is revealing these texts and the people they represent as rich with political knowledge This knowledge he argues finds its most potent expression in the local Such texts show us a different kind of democratic politics one that is egalitarian disorderly and radical rather than homogeneous

Sentimental Materialism Lori Merish, 2000 Examines the constructions of feminine consumption in the nineteenth century in relation to capitalism and domesticity
