Migration and Making an Income in the Context of 'Human Trafficking' Anna S. Hüncke, 2023-06-09 The book focuses on volatile processes at the South African Zimbabwean border that arise from practices of migration and income generating activities The processes are influenced by neoliberal developments and controversial discourses on migration commercial sexual services and human trafficking In this unstable environment different actors continuously negotiate trying to achieve stable positions By addressing issues related to migration and income generating activities they maneuver between legal rules and their own moral values and interests In their attempt to classify incidents in the border context that are unclear to them actors explanations are partly based on the concept of transnational human trafficking Thereby they transfer the impenetrability discursively associated with this concept to what they see as obscure cross border migration disconcerting sexual services and other alienating economic activities Alternatively actors understand undocumented cross border migration commercial sexual services and other illegalised income generating activities as common everyday practices at the border and also assume that human trafficking does not play an important role there Transcendent Development Andani Thakhathi, 2022-01-28 Transcendent Development contains morally courageous creative storytelling prose offering paradigm shifts empirical evidence and surprising antenarratives that explain how a harmonious Africa may be realised starting in the Mother Continent s Southern most tip Natural Chelsea Mary Elise Johnson, 2024-10-15 How Black women celebrate their natural hair and uproot racialized beauty standards Hair is not simply a biological feature it s a canvas for expression Hair can be cut colored dyed covered gelled waxed plucked lasered dreadlocked braided and relaxed Yet its significance extends beyond mere aesthetics Hair can carry profound moral spiritual and cultural connotations serving as a reflection of one s beliefs heritage and even political stance In Natural Chelsea Mary Elise Johnson delves into the complex world surrounding Black women's hair and offers a firsthand look into the kitchens, beauty shops, conventions and blogs that make up the twenty-first century natural hair movement. The latest evolution in Black beauty politics, Johnson shares her own hair story and amplifies the voices of women across the globe who, after years of chemically relaxing their hair, return to a natural style. Johnson describes how many women initially transition to natural hair out of curiosity or as a wellness practice but come to view their choice as political upon confronting personal insecurities and social stigma both within and outside of the Black community. She also investigates natural hair entrepreneurs who use their knowledge to create lucrative and socially transformative haircare ventures. Distinct from a politics of respectability or Afrocentricity, Johnson's argument is that today's natural hair movement advances a politics of authenticity. She offers going natural as a practice of self-love and acceptance, a critique of exclusionary economic arrangements and an exploitative beauty industry, and an act of anti-racist political resistance. Natural powerfully illustrates how the natural hair movement is part of a larger social change among Black women to assert their own purchasing power, standards of beauty, and bodily autonomy.

The Aesthetics of Global Protest Aidan McGarry, Itir Erhart, Hande Eslen-Ziya, Olu Jenzen, Umut Korkut, 2025-10-01 Protestors across the world use aesthetics in order to communicate their ideas and ensure their voices are heard. This book looks at protest aesthetics, which we consider to be the visual and performative elements of protest, such as images, symbols, graffiti, art, as well as the choreography of protest actions in public spaces. Through the use of social media, protestors have been able to create an alternative space for people to engage with politics that is more inclusive and participatory than traditional politics. This volume focuses on the role of visual culture in a highly mediated environment and draws on case studies from Europe, Thailand, South Africa, USA, Argentina, and the Middle East in order to demonstrate how protestors use aesthetics to communicate their demands and ideas. It examines how digital media is harnessed by protestors and argues that all protest aesthetics are performative and communicative.

Land-Use Management to Support Sustainable Settlements in South Africa Verna Nel, Stuart Paul

Denoon-Stevens, 2023-10-24 This book provides a theoretical and practical foundation needed to change the practice of land use management in Southern Africa. It presents an overview of an alternative land use management system for South African municipalities that is economically, socially, and environmentally more sustainable than many of the land use schemes in effect at present. Land use management is a component of spatial governance that controls the nature and extent of development to prevent harmful impacts on people and the environment. As the current system with its colonial modernist planning and regulatory mechanisms were never designed to deal with rapid change, urbanisation, and informality, a different form of land development and land use management is necessary. This timely book reflects the culmination of many years of practical experience and research into various aspects of land use management by the authors and studies undertaken by their master's and doctoral students. The book goes beyond an analysis of the problems and suggests concrete proposals that can be applied throughout Southern Africa based on a rural to urban transect. This book is directed to a broad range of readers interested in spatial planning and land use management. It will be of interest to those in the fields of geography, urban studies, urban design, planning, and architecture.

Social Justice and Education in the 21st Century Willie

Pearson Jr., Vijay Reddy, 2021-04-10 The world is not an equal place. There are high and low income countries and high and low income households. For each group, there are differential educational opportunities leading to differential educational outcomes and differential labor market opportunities. This pattern often reproduces the privileges and inequalities of groups in a society. This book explores this differentiation in education from a social justice lens. Comparing the United States and South Africa, this book analyzes each country's developmental thinking on education from human capital and human rights approaches in both primary and higher education. The enclosed contributions draw from different disciplines including legal studies, sociology, psychology, computer science, and public policy.

Humanizing LIS Education and Practice Keren Dali, Nadia Caidi, 2020-10-29

Humanizing LIS Education and Practice: Diversity by Design demonstrates that diversity concerns are relevant to all and need to be approached in a systematic way. Developing the Diversity by Design concept articulated by Dali and Caidi in 2017, the book promotes the notion of the diversity mindset. Grouped into three parts, the chapters within this volume have been written by an international team of seasoned academics and practitioners who make diversity integral to their professional and scholarly activities. Building on the Diversity by Design approach, the book presents case studies with practice models for two primary audiences: LIS educators and LIS practitioners. Chapters cover a range of issues, including but not limited to academic promotion and tenure, the decolonization of LIS education, engaging Indigenous and multicultural communities, librarians' professional development in diversity and social justice, and the decolonization of library access practices and policies. As a collection, the book illustrates a systems thinking approach to fostering diversity and inclusion in LIS, integrating

it by design into the LIS curriculum and professional practice Calling on individuals organizations policymakers and LIS educators to make diversity integral to their daily activities and curriculum Humanizing LIS Education and Practice Diversity by Design will be of interest to anyone engaged in research and professional practice in Library and Information Science

Architecture, State Modernism and Cultural Nationalism in the Apartheid Capital Hilton Judin, 2021-04-08 This book is the first comprehensive investigation of the architecture of the apartheid state in the period of rapid economic growth and political repression from 1957 to 1966 when buildings took on an ideological role that was never remote from the increasingly dominant administrative legislative and policing mechanisms of the regime It considers how this process reflected the usurpation of a regional modernism and looks to contribute to wider discourses on international postwar modernism in architecture Buildings in Pretoria that came to embody ambitions of the apartheid state for industrialisation and progress serve as case studies These were widely acclaimed projects that embodied for apartheid officials the pursuit of modernisation but carried latent apprehensions of Afrikaners about their growing economic prospects and cultural estrangement in Africa It is a less known and marginal story due to the dearth of material and documents buried in archives and untranslated documents Many of the documents drawings and photographs in the book are unpublished and include classified material and photographs from the National Nuclear Research Centre negatives of 1960s from Pretoria News and documents and pamphlets from Afrikaner Broederbond archives State architecture became the most iconic public manifestation of an evolving expression of white cultural identity as a new generation of architects in Pretoria took up the challenge of finding form to their prospects and beliefs It was an opportunistic faith in Afrikaners who urgently needed to entrench their vulnerable and contested position on the African continent The shift from provincial town to apartheid capital was swift and relentless Little was left to stand in the way of the ambitions and aim of the state as people were uprooted and forcibly relocated structures torn down and block upon block of administration towers and slabs erected across Pretoria This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of architectural history as well as those with an interest in postcolonial studies political science and social anthropology
