And Downsizing Family Home What Save:

Downsizing The Family Home Marni Jameson, 2016-01-05 It's a rite of passage almost no one will escape the difficult emotional journey of downsizing your or your aging parents' home. Here nationally syndicated home columnist Marni Jameson sensitively guides readers through the process from opening that first closet to sorting through a lifetime's worth of possessions to selling the homestead itself. Using her own personal journey as a basis, she helps you figure out a strategy and create a mindset to accomplish the task quickly, respectfully, rewardingly, and in the best of situations, even memorably. Throughout, she combines her own experience with insights from national experts, antiques appraisers, garage sale gurus, professional organizers, and psychologists to offer practical wisdom and heartwarming advice so you know with certainty what to keep, toss, or sell.

Clutter Jennifer Howard, 2020-09-01 A brilliant and beautiful meditation on the nature of our attachment to things. Reading Clutter made me long for a life without clutter. Malcolm Gladwell, New York Times bestselling author and host of the Revisionist History podcast. I'm sitting on the floor in my mother's house surrounded by stuff. So begins Jennifer Howard's Clutter, an expansive assessment of our relationship to the things that share and shape our lives. Sparked by the painful two-year process of cleaning out her mother's house in the wake of a devastating physical and emotional collapse, Howard sets her own personal struggle with clutter against a meticulously researched history of just how the developed world came to drown in material goods. With sharp prose and an eye for telling detail, she connects the dots between the Industrial Revolution, the Sears Roebuck catalog, and the Container Store, and shines unsparing light on clutter's darker connections to environmental devastation and hoarding disorder. In a confounding age when Amazon can deliver anything at the click of a mouse and decluttering guru Marie Kondo can become a reality TV star, Howard's bracing analysis has never been timelier. In her stern and wide-ranging new manifesto Clutter: An Untidy History, journalist Jennifer Howard takes the anti-clutter message a step further. Howard argues that decluttering is not just a personally liberating ritual but a moral imperative, a duty we owe both to our children and to the planet. Jennifer Reese, The Washington Post. Blending her personal experience and her research Howard creates an engaging narrative that is colored by her investment in understanding hoarding in all of its complexities Linda Levitt PopMatters is little acknowledgement that retirement is not an event but an extended period of life that unfolds over several decades. Experiences vary considerably across the globe from areas where most people cannot afford to retire to places where a multitude of new possibilities are being developed for retirees. This book is an anthropological approach to consider life beyond retirement in a wide range of contexts and consequences.

Deciding Where to Live Melissa G. Ocepek, William Aspray, 2020-10-16

Deciding Where to Live Information Studies on Where to Live in America explores major themes related to where to live in America not only about the acquisition of a home but also the ways in which where one lives relates to one's cultural identity. It shows how changes in media and information technology are shaping both our housing choices and our understanding of the meaning of personal place. The work is written using widely accessible language but supported by a strong academic foundation from information studies and other humanities and social science disciplines. Chapters analyze everyday information behavior related to questions about where to live. The eleven major chapters are:

- Chapter 1 Where to live as an information problem: three contemporary examples
- Chapter 2 Turning in place: Real estate agents and the move from information custodians to information brokers
- Chapter 3 The Evolving Residential Real Estate Information Ecosystem: The Rise of Zillow
- Chapter 4 Privacy, Surveillance and the Smart Home
- Chapter 5 This Old House: Fixer Upper and Better Homes Gardens
- Chapter 6 The Housing Crisis and Media Sources
- Chapter 7 A Community Responds to Growth: An Information Story About What Makes for a Good Place to Live
- Chapter 8 The Valley Between Us: The meta-hodology of racial segregation in Milwaukee, Wisconsin
- Chapter 9 Modeling Hope: Boundary Objects and Design Patterns in a Heartland Heterotopia
- Chapter 10 Home buying in Everyday Life: How Emotion and Time Pressure Shape High Stakes Decisions, Information Behavior
- Chapter 11 In Search of Home: Examining Information Seeking and Sources That Help African Americans Determine Where to Live
- Chapter 12 Where to Live in Retirement: A Complex Information Problem

While the book is partly about the goal-directed activity of individuals who want to buy a house and the infrastructure that supports that activity, it is also about personal activities that are either not goal-directed or are directed at other goals such as deciding in which geographic location to live, personal entertainment, cultural understanding or identity formation.
