Book And Future Internet Policy Peter Decherney:

The Future of Internet Policy Peter Decherney, Victor Pickard, 2017-10-02 All of the short essays in this volume look past the rhetoric of technological determinism and reliance on the natural logic of the market to consider the power of law and policy to steer new media in one direction or another Many of the essays look backwards through history or outwards across national borders They all look forward to how today's policies will shape the future of the internet and society A particular focus of interest for some of the contributors is the revelations that followed Edward Snowden's mass disclosure of classified documents in 2013 which revealed the U S National Security Agency's systematic and longstanding program of monitoring global communications Some chapters consider different countries varying approaches to regulating the proliferation of online communication while others assess the current state of digital technology They all call for policy interventions to solve market failures This book was originally published as a special issue of Critical Studies in Media Communication

ISIS Beyond the Spectacle Mehdi Semati, Piotr M. Szpunar, Robert Alan Brookey, 2020-04-02 What is ISIS A quasi state A terrorist group A movement An ideology As ISIS has transformed and mutated gained and lost territory horrified the world and been its punch line media have been central to understanding it The changing yet constant relationship between ISIS and the media as well as its adversaries dependency on media to make sense of ISIS is central to this book More than just the images of mutilated bodies that garnered ISIS its initial infamy the book considers an ISIS media world that includes infographics administrative reports and various depictions of a post racial utopia in which justice is swift and candy is bought and sold with its own currency The book reveals that the efforts of ISIS and its adversaries to communicate and make sense of this world share modes of visual aesthetic and journalistic practice and expression The short tumultuous history of ISIS does not allow for a single approach to understanding its relation to media Thus the book s contributions are to be read as contrapuntal analyses that productively connect and disconnect providing a much needed complex account of the ISIS media relationship This book was originally published as a special issue of Critical Studies in Media Communication Broadcasting Hollywood Jennifer Porst, 2021-09-17 Broadcasting Hollywood The Struggle Over Feature Films on Early Television uses extensive archival research into the files of studios networks advertising agencies unions and guilds theatre associations the FCC and key legal cases to analyze the tensions and synergies between the film and television industries in the early years of television This analysis of the case study of the struggle over Hollywood s feature films appearing on television in the 1940s and 1950s illustrates that the notion of an industry misunderstands the complex array of stakeholders who work in and profit from a media sector and models a variegated examination of the history of media industries Ultimately it draws a parallel to the contemporary period and the introduction of digital media to highlight the fact that history repeats itself and can therefore play a key role in helping media industry scholars and practitioners to understand and navigate contemporary industrial phenomena

How Film Histories Were Made Malte Hagener, Yvonne Zimmermann, 2025-10-01 This book is specifically dedicated to film history's own history. It provides insights into the fabrication of film histories and the discourses on their materials and methods in the past in order to better understand and reconsider film history today. The interventions unpack unspoken assumptions and hidden agendas that determine film historiography until today, also with the aim to act as a critical reflection on the potential future orientation of the field. The edited volume proposes a transnational, entangled and culturally diverse approach towards an archaeology of film history while paying specific attention to persons, objects, infrastructures, regions, institutional fields and events hitherto overlooked. It explores past and ongoing processes of doing, undoing and redoing film history. Thereby, in a self-reflective gesture, it also draws attention to our own work as film historians.

International Child Law Rajnaara Akhtar, Conrad Nyamutata, Elizabeth Faulkner, 2020-04-08 This book examines the rights of the child using the global framework of the United Nations International Convention on the Rights of the Child 1989. Analysing both public and private international legal aspects, this cross-disciplinary text promotes a holistic understanding of the ongoing development of child law, children's rights and the protection of the child. In-depth analyses of the following topic areas are included: Childhood in the digital age, Child labour, International parental child abduction, Inter-country adoption, Sexual exploitation, Children and armed conflict and Indigenous children. These topics are contextualised with further chapters on the concept of childhood and children's rights, the international legal framework in which the Convention operates and a substantive chapter on the Convention itself. This fourth edition has been updated and revised, including a new chapter dealing with issues arising from childhood in the age of unprecedented digital technological advancements, a crucial issue for childhood experiences in modern times. This edition also includes new case studies, recent legal developments in the field of international child law and inclusion of broader scholarship to capture diverse views on international law and child law. The aim of this book is to provide the reader with an accessible, informed, critical and scholarly account of the international law framework relating to children. Drawing on a range of legal and other disciplines, this book remains a valuable resource for those in the course of study and research in this area.

The New Enlightenment and the Fight to Free Knowledge Peter B. Kaufman, 2021-02-23 How do we create a universe of truthful and verifiable information available to everyone? In The New Enlightenment and the Fight to Free Knowledge, MIT Open Learning's Peter B. Kaufman describes the powerful forces that have purposely crippled our efforts to share knowledge widely and freely. Popes and their inquisitors, emperors and their hangmen, commissars and their secret police throughout history all have sought to stanch the free flow of information. Kaufman writes of times when the Bible could not be translated, you'd be burned for trying, when dictionaries and encyclopedias were forbidden, when literature and science and history books were trashed and pulped, sometimes along with their authors, and when efforts to develop public television and radio networks were quashed by private industry In the 21st century the enemies of free thought have taken on new and different guises giant corporate behemoths sprawling national security agencies gutted regulatory commissions Bereft of any real moral compass or sense of social responsibility their work to surveil and control us are no less nefarious than their 16th and 18th and 20th century predecessors They are all part of what Kaufman calls the Monsterverse The New Enlightenment and the Fight to Free Knowledge maps out the opportunities to mobilize for the fight ahead of us With the Internet and other means of media production and distribution video especially at hand knowledge institutions like universities libraries museums and archives have a special responsibility now to counter misinformation disinformation and fake news and especially efforts to control the free flow of information A film and video producer and former book publisher Kaufman begins to draft a new social contract for our networked video age He draws his inspiration from those who fought tooth and nail against earlier incarnations of the Monsterverse including William Tyndale in the 16th century Denis Diderot in the 18th untold numbers of Soviet and Central and East European dissidents in the 20th many of whom paid the ultimate price Their successors Advocates of free knowledge like Aaron Swartz of free software like Richard Stallman of an enlightened public television and radio network like James Killian of a freer Internet like Tim Berners Lee of fuller rights and freedoms like Edward Snowden All have been striving to secure for us a better world marked by the right balance between state society and private gain The concluding section of the book its largest piece builds on their work drawing up a progressive agenda for how today s free thinkers can band together now to fight and win With everything shut and everyone going online The New Enlightenment and the Fight to Free Knowledge is a rousing call to action that expands the definition of what it means to be a citizen in the 21st century
