ADR, Arbitration, and Mediation CI Arb, 2014. The various developments and changes in the field of arbitration coupled with the large sums and important issues which are so often at stake in them mean that a new book providing a comprehensive overview on the topic from an authoritative source is not merely very welcome; it is positively needed by professionals involved in arbitration and their clients. It is hard to think of an organisation better qualified to sponsor such a book than the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators with its enormous experience and authority in the field. It is also hard to conceive of a more impressive and well-qualified group of contributors to such a book than the list of people who Julio Cesar Betancourt and Jason A Crook have included in this volume. Lord Neuberger of Abbotsbury, President of the Supreme Court of the United Kingdom. The Chartered Institute of Arbitrators is a learned society that works in the public interest to promote and facilitate the use of alternative dispute resolution (ADR) mechanisms. Founded in 1915 and with a Royal Charter granted in 1979, it is a UK-based institution that has gained international presence in more than 100 countries and has more than 13,000 professionally qualified members around the world. Chartered Institute of Arbitrators, 12 Bloomsbury Square, London, United Kingdom, WC1A 2LP. T: 44 (0) 20 7421 7444, www.ciarb.org. Registered Charity 803725. International Commercial Arbitration is the fastest growing dispute settlement discipline. The complexities surrounding its regulatory framework combined with an ever-increasing and constantly evolving set of acts, rules, guidelines, protocols, regulations, national legislation, international treaties, and so on, may appear daunting at first glance. This collection of documents or supplementary material is designed to provide the essential reading for all those who are eager to pursue a career in international arbitration. A Practical Guide to Construction Adjudication James Pickavance, 2015-12-21. In the United Kingdom, adjudication is available as a right for parties to a construction contract following the enactment of the Housing Grants, Construction and Regeneration Act 1996. In general, within a comparatively short period of time, parties in dispute will have a decision from an adjudicator, which, except in limited circumstances, the courts will enforce. Adjudication has become the number one method of dispute resolution in the construction industry. The short timescale means that a party needs to know what to do, when to do it, and be able to check that the other party and the adjudicator are following the right steps. A Practical Guide to Construction Adjudication gives parties the necessary information to achieve this. It provides a straightforward overview of the process and procedure of adjudication by reference to legislation and case law, augmented with practical guidance including suggestions on what to do or not to do drafting tips and checklists Separate chapters for Scotland and Northern Ireland identify and explain the differences in procedure and judicial interpretation between those jurisdictions and England and Wales and further detailed explanations of the adjudication regimes in Australia Ireland Malaysia New Zealand and Singapore are included Each of the chapters on jurisdictions outside England and Wales has been written by senior experts in those jurisdictions to ensure the content is accurate and insightful There are a range of helpful appendices including a bank of model form adjudication documents and tabulated detailed comparisons of the Scheme for Construction Contracts the other major adjudication rules the major adjudicator nominating bodies and the UK and international regimes Readers will particularly appreciate the most comprehensive index of adjudication cases available sorted into 260 subject headings providing immediate access to all the reported cases on any adjudication topic
