Travels In The Scriptorium By Paul Auster:

Travels in the Scriptorium Paul Auster, 2010-11-25 An old man sits in a room with a single door and window a bed a desk and a chair Each day he awakes with no memory unsure of whether or not he is locked into the room Attached to the few objects around him are one word hand written labels and on the desk is a series of vaguely familiar black and white photographs and four piles of paper Then a middle aged woman called Anna enters and talks of pills and treatment but also of love and promises Who is this Mr Blank and what is his fate What does Anna represent from his past and will he have enough time to ever make sense of the clues that arise After the huge success of The Brooklyn Follies Travels in the Scriptorium sees Auster return to more metaphysical territory A dark puzzle and a game that implicates both reader and writer alike it is an ingenious exploration of language responsibility and the passage of time

Day/Night Paul Auster, 2013-11-05 For the first time in one volume two existential classics by internationally bestselling novelist Paul Auster Day Night brings together two metaphysical novels that mirror each other and are meant to be read in tandem two men each confined to a room one suddenly alert to his existence the other desperate to escape into sleep In Travels in the Scriptorium elderly Mr Blank wakes in an unfamiliar cell with no memory of who he is or how he got there He must use the few objects he finds and the information imparted by the day s string of visitors to cobble together an idea of his identity In Man in the Dark another old man August Brill suffering from insomnia struggles to push away thoughts of painful personal losses by imagining what might have been Who are we What is real and not real How does the political intersect with the personal After great loss why are some of us unable to go on One of America s greats Time Out Chicago and a descendant of Kafka and Borges Booklist Auster explores in these two small masterpieces some of our most pressing philosophical concerns

The Sublime Today Gillian B. Pierce, 2013-01-04 The Sublime Today considers contemporary applications of aesthetic philosophy and earlier theories of the sublime from Longinus Boileau Burke Kant and Hegel to current literary and cultural contexts Today aesthetic experience itself seems to be changing given the rise of new media and new conditions for the viewing and the reception of works of art How might the rhetoric of the sublime be used to both describe our current situation and help formulate constructive responses to it The Sublime Today collects the work of scholars in literature film art and media studies and provides a forum for investigating the contemporary relevance of the sublime both as it has been understood historically and as it has been formulated by more recent theorists such as Jameson Lyotard Kristeva and others The volume includes essays on literary readings of the sublime in Coetzee Eggers Lahiri and Auster essays on film and the visual arts in the work of François Ozon and in recent participatory art and essays on how new technologies and media as in media representations of 9 11 re frame our relationship to the aesthetics of the sublime especially as they intersect with questions of gender the postcolonial and the uneasy politics of terror

Paul Auster and the Influence of Maurice Blanchot María Laura Arce, 2016-04-05 Poet writer and filmmaker Paul Auster is one of the great contributors to American postmodern literature

Influenced by authors like Poe and the hardboiled detective stories of the 1950s Auster's novels represented a new genre of anti detective fiction in which the case itself loses direction and is overshadowed by existential questions Analyzing three of his novels Ghosts 1986 The Music of Chance 1990 and Mr Vertigo 1994 this critical study explores the intertextual relationship between Auster's work and the oeuvre of French writer and critic Maurice Blanchot The author explores Auster's work as a fictionalization of Blanchot's concept of inspiration and the construction of imaginary space

Relational Designs in Literature and the Arts, 2012-01-01 This collection focuses on texts that address the other arts from painting to photography from the stage to the screen and from avant garde experiments to mass culture Despite their diversity of object and approach the essays in Relational Designs coalesce around the argument that representations are defined by relations and dynamics rather than intrinsic features This rationale is supported by the discourses and methodologies favoured by the book's contributors their approaches offer a cross section of the intellectual and critical environment of our time The book illustrates the critical possibilities that derive from the broad range of modes of inquiry poststructuralist criticism gender studies postcolonial studies new historicism that the book's four sections bring to bear on a wealth of intermedial practices But Relational Designs compounds such critical emphases with the voice of the practitioner the book is rounded off by an interview in which a contemporary novelist discusses her attraction to the other arts in terms that extend the book's insights and bridge the gap between academic discourse and artistic practice

Narrative Care: Biopolitics and the Novel Arne De Boever, 2013-03-28 If the September 11 terror attacks opened up an era of crises and exceptions of which we are yet to see the end it is perhaps not surprising that care has emerged in the early twenty first century as a key political issue This book approaches contemporary narratives of care through the lens of a growing body of theoretical writings on biopolitics Through close readings of J M Coetzee's Slow Man Kazuo Ishiguro's Never Let Me Go Paul Auster's The Book of Illusions and Tom McCarthy's Remainder it seeks to reframe debates about realism in the novel ranging from Ian Watt to Zadie Smith as engagements with the novel's biopolitical origins its relation to pastoral care the camps and the welfare state Within such an understanding of the novel what possibilities for a critical aesthetics of existence does the contemporary novel include

Paul Auster's Writing Machine Evija Trofimova, 2014-08-28 Paul Auster is one of the most acclaimed figures in American literature Known primarily as a novelist Auster's films and various collaborations are now gaining more recognition Evija Trofimova offers a radically different approach to the author's wider body of work unpacking the fascinating web of relationships between his texts and presenting Auster's canon as a rhizomatic factio fictional network produced by a set of writing tools Exploring Auster's literal and figurative use of these tools the typewriter the cigarette the doppelgänger figure the city Evija Trofimova discovers Auster's writing machine a device that works both as a means to write and as a construct that manifests the emblematic writer figure This is a book about assembling texts and textual networks the writing machines that produce them and the ways such machines invest them with meaning Embarking on a scholarly quest that takes her from between the lines of Auster's work to between the streets of his beloved New York and finally to the man himself Paul Auster's Writing Machine becomes not just a critical investigation but a critical collaboration raising important questions about the ultimate meaning of Auster's work and about the relationship between texts their authors their readers and their critics

The Fictions of American Capitalism Jacques-Henri Coste, Vincent Dussol, 2020-02-26 The Fictions of American Capitalism Working Fictions and the Economic Novel introduces a new way of thinking about fiction in connection with capitalism especially American capitalism These essays demonstrate how fiction fulfills a major function of the American capitalist engine presenting various formulations of American capitalism from the perspective of economists social scientists and literary critics Focusing on three narratives fictitious capital working fictions and the economic novel the volume questions whether these three types of fiction can be linked under the sign of capitalism This collection seeks to illustrate the American economy's dependence on fictitiousness America's ideological fictions and the nation's creative literary fiction In relation to what the credit and banking crisis of 2007-2008 exposed about the unreal base of the economy the volume concludes with a call to recognize the economic humanities arguing that American fiction and American literary studies can provide a useful mirror for economists

Literature and Geography Emmanuelle Peraldo, 2016-01-14 In a period marked by the Spatial Turn time is not the main category of analysis any longer Space is It is now considered as a central metaphor and topos in literature and literary criticism has seized space as a new tool Similarly literature turns out to be an ideal field for geography This book examines the cross fertilization of geography and literature as disciplines languages and methodologies In the past two decades several methods of analysis focusing on the relationship and interconnectedness between literature and geography have flourished Literary cartography literary geography and geocriticism Westphal 2007 and Tally 2011 have their specificities but they all agree upon the omnipresence of space place and mapping at the core of analysis Other approaches like ecocriticism Buell 2001 and Garrard 2004 geopoetics White 1994 geography of literature Moretti 2000 studies of the inserted map Ljunberg 2012 and Pristnall and Cooper 2011 and narrative cartography have likewise drawn attention to space Literature and Geography The Writing of Space Throughout History following an international conference in Lyon bringing together literary academics geographers cartographers and architects in order to discuss literature and geography as two practices of space shows that literature along with geography is perfectly valid to account for space Suggestions are offered here from all disciplines on how to take into account representations and discourses since texts including literary ones have become increasingly present in the analysis of geographers

Affect and American Literature in the Age of Neoliberalism

Rachel Greenwald Smith, 2015-04-20 Rachel Greenwald Smith's Affect and American Literature in the Age of Neoliberalism examines the relationship between contemporary American literature and politics Through readings of works by Paul Auster Karen Tei Yamashita and others Smith challenges the neoliberal notion that emotions are the property of the self

Analog Fictions for the Digital Age Julia Breitbach, 2012 Shows how current photographic discourse can illuminate the analysis of recent literary realism and proposes a truly original photographic hermeneutics for literary study Both realist post postmodernist aesthetics in the twenty first century and the legacy of analog photography in its recent digital incarnation depend on an aesthetics of trust and a sense of contingent referentiality Julia Breitbach's innovative study demonstrates how current photographic discourse may be used as an illuminating critical idiom for the analysis of recent forms of literary realism thus proposing a photographic hermeneutics for the study of literature Along with a thorough critical investigation of both fields Breitbach offers a pioneering theoretical exploration of analog and digital photography based on recent thing theory which she then applies to in depth analyses of realist aesthetics in selected post millennial novels by Don DeLillo Michael Ondaatje and Ali Smith yielding fresh perspectives on the remediation between photography and literature in the twenty first century An original contribution to the study of contemporary Anglophone literatures with an interdisciplinary appeal this study will be of interest especially to scholars and students in Anglophone literary studies comparative literature cultural studies and media studies Julia Breitbach is Assistant Professor in the Department of American Studies at the University of Konstanz Germany

Samuel Beckett's Legacies in American Fiction James Baxter, 2021-11-30 Samuel Beckett's Legacies in American Fiction provides an overdue investigation into Beckett's rich influences over American writing Through in depth readings of postmodern authors such as Robert Coover Donald Barthelme Thomas Pynchon Don DeLillo Paul Auster and Lydia Davis this book situates Beckett's post war writing of exhaustion and generation in relation to the emergence of an explosive American avant garde In turn this study provides a valuable insight into the practical realities of

Beckett's dissemination in America following the author's long standing relationship with the countercultural magazine Evergreen Review and its dramatic role in redrawing the possibilities of American culture in the 1960s While Beckett would be largely removed from his American context this book follows his vigorous albeit sometimes awkward reception alongside the authors and institutions central to shaping his legacies in 20th and 21st century America Strange Voices in Narrative Fiction Per Krogh Hansen, Stefan Iversen, Henrik Skov Nielsen, Rolf Reitan, 2011-10-27 From its beginnings narratology has incorporated a communicative model of literary narratives considering these as simulations of natural oral acts of communication This approach however has had some problems with accounting for the strangeness and anomalies of modern and postmodern narratives As many skeptics have shown not even classical realism conforms to the standard set by oral or natural storytelling Thus an urge to confront narratology with the difficult task of reconsidering a most basic premise in its theoretical and analytical endeavors has for some time been undeniable During the 2000s Nordic narratologists have been among the most active and insistent critics of the communicative model They share a marked skepticism towards the idea of using natural narratives as a model for understanding and interpreting all kinds of narratives and for all of them the distinction of fiction is of vital importance This anthology presents a collection of new articles that deal with strange narratives narratives of the strange or more generally with the strangeness of fiction and even with some strange aspects of narratology

Melancholy and the Archive Jonathan Boulter, 2011-05-19 Melancholy and the Archive examines how trauma history and memory are represented in key works of major contemporary writers such as David Mitchell Paul Auster Haruki Murakami and Jose Saramago The book explores how these authors construct crucial relationships between sites of memory the archive becomes a central trope here and the self that has been subjected to various traumas various losses The archive be it a bureaucratic office Saramago an underground bunker Auster a geographical space or landscape Mitchell or even a hole Murakami becomes the means by which the self attempts to preserve and conserve his or her sense of history even as the economy of trauma threatens to erase the grounds of such preservation as the subject or self is threatened so the archive becomes a fetishized site wherein history is housed accommodated created even fabricated The archive in Freudian terms becomes a space of melancholy precisely as the subject preserves not only a personal history or a culture's history but also the history of the traumas that necessitates the creation of the archive as such The Seventh Age of Man Muriel Cassel-Piccot, Geneviève Lheureux, 2019-01-23 The Seventh Age of Man Issues Challenges and Paradoxes is a collection of academic essays on Old Age The contributors come from a wide range of fields of expertise which accounts for the originality of the book Depending on their respective disciplines the authors resort to various methodological approaches from sociological case studies to discourse analysis and from historical and political theories to media criticism but they often address similar questions when are people to be considered as old what does it mean to be old how do we deal with ageing and reach similar conclusions about the paradoxical representations of the elderly whether in Renaissance Europe or in contemporary China Although men and women are sometimes treated differently in most societies the older generation is alternately perceived as a threat and a burden or as financial and moral support If they are often criticized or ridiculed especially when they try to retain their youthful looks long after their prime the elderly also trigger a feeling of nostalgia as representatives of a past usually seen as more desirable than the present Their resilience and independence are regularly emphasized as well as their wisdom as a result of their long experience which helps them to contemplate their ends more serenely and which might turn them into models for their contemporaries

Realism's Others Eva Aldea, Geoffrey Baker, 2010-07-12 For at least a century scholarship on realist narrative and occasional polemics against realist narrative have assumed that realism promotes the values of sameness against those of otherness and that it does so by use of a narrative mode that excludes certain epistemologies ideologies and ways of thinking However the truth is more complex than that as the essays in this volume all demonstrate Realism's Others examines the various strategies by which realist narratives create the idea of difference whether that difference is registered in terms of class ethnicity epistemology nationality or gender The authors in this collection examine in detail not just the fact of otherness in some canonical realist and canonical magical realist and postmodern novels but the actual means by which that otherness is established by the text These essays suggest that neither realist narrative nor narratives positioned as anti realist take otherness for granted rather the texts discussed here actively create difference and this creation of difference often occasions severe difficulties for the novels representational schema How does one represent different types of knowledge other aesthetic modes or other spaces for example in texts whose epistemology has long been seen as secular and empirical whose aesthetic mode has always been approached as pure descriptive mimesis and whose settings are largely domestic These essays all begin with a certain collision of nationalities of classes of representational matrices of religions and go on to chart the challenges that this collision presents to our ideas or stereotypes of realism or to the possibilities of writing against and beyond realism This question motivates examination of key realist or social realist texts in some of these essays by Honor de Balzac George Eliot Franz Grillparzer Theodor Storm Gottfried Keller Theodor Fontane Wilhelm Raabe Mar a Amparo Ruiz de Burton Henry James William Dean Howells Charles Chesnutt Theodore Dreiser H T Tsiang Alan Sillitoe and Richard Yates However it is no less central a question in certain non realist texts which engage realist aims to a surprising degree often to debate them openly some of these essays discuss in this light fantastic magical realist and postmodern works by Abram Tertz Paul Auster Alejo Carpentier Toni Morrison Gabriel Garc a M rquez Salman Rushdie and A S Byatt Realism becomes more than an aesthetic aim or narrative mode It becomes rather a value evoked and discussed by all of the works analyzed here in order to reveal its impact on fiction's treatment of ethnicity nationality ideology space gender and social class
