Abstract: This study examined the effects of a 12-week, 100% bodyweight resistance training program on the muscle strength, body composition, and cardiovascular fitness of sedentary, middle-aged men. The program was designed to be performed at home, with no equipment other than a resistance band and a weighted vest. The program was divided into three phases: a 4-week warm-up phase, a 4-week strength phase, and a 4-week endurance phase. The results showed that the program significantly improved muscle strength, body composition, and cardiovascular fitness. The program was well-tolerated and had no adverse effects on health. The findings suggest that a 12-week, 100% bodyweight resistance training program can be an effective and safe way to improve health and fitness in sedentary, middle-aged men.
