Applying Anthropology to Gender-based Violence Jennifer R. Wies, Hillary J. Haldane, 2015 Applying Anthropology to Gender Based Violence Global Responses Local Practices addresses the gaps in theory methods and practices that are currently used to engage the problem of gender based violence This book complements the work carried out in the legal human services and health fields by demonstrating how a focus on local issues and responses can better inform a collaborative global response to the problem of gender based violence With chapters covering Africa Asia Latin and North America and Oceania the volume illustrates the various ways scholars practitioners frontline workers and policy makers can work together to end violence in their local communities The chapters in this volume provide ample evidence that top down responses to violence have been inadequate and that solutions are available when the local historical political and social context is taken into consideration Applying Anthropology to Gender Based Violence contains useful insights that when combined with the efforts of other disciplines offer solutions to the problem of gender based violence

Intimate Partner Violence and Advocate Response , Melissa Beske, 2016-04-21 Intimate Partner Violence and Advocate Response Redefining Love in Western Belize offers new insight into the cross cultural analysis of gender based intimate partner violence by blending activist anthropology with in depth ethnographic research to evaluate and help ameliorate the crisis in Belize Drawing from twenty months of fieldwork in the Belizean Cayo District conducted between 2002 and 2013 Melissa A Beske investigates the prevalence and complexity of partner abuse the contributing cultural and structural factors and the advocate dynamics across local national and transnational frameworks in combating the problem Combining enlivened narratives comparative viewpoints and scholar activism this book not only illustrates the lived suffering of partner abuse in Cayo but it also engages with the passionate commitment of survivors and supporters as they endeavor to create a more equitable and peaceful community In doing so it demonstrates an effective strategy for the interdisciplinary assessment of gender based abuse which satisfies demands for theoretical impartiality while simultaneously enabling researchers to take an ethical stand in social causes The Prism of Human Rights Karin Friederic,2023-08-11 Gender violence has been at the forefront of women s human rights struggles for decades shaping political movements and NGO and government programs related to women s empowerment community development and public health Drawing on over twenty years of research and activism in rural Ecuador Karin Friederic provides a remarkably intimate view of what these rights based programs actually achieve over the long term The Prism of Human Rights brings us into the lives of women men and children who find themselves entangled in intimate partner violence structural violence political economic change and a global cultural project in which rights are associated with modernity development and democratic states She details the multiple forms of violence that rural women experience shows the diverse ways they make sense of endure and combat this violence and helps us understand how people are grappling with new ideas of gender rights and even of violence itself Ultimately Friederic demonstrates that rights based interventions provide important openings for women seeking a life free of violence but they also unwittingly expose liberated women to more extreme dynamics of structural violence Thus these interventions often reduce women s room to maneuver and encourage communities to hide violence in order to appear modern and developed This analysis of human rights in practice is essential for anyone seeking to promote justice in a culturally responsible manner and for anyone who hopes to understand how the globalization of rights legal institutions and moral visions is transforming distant locales and often perpetuating violence in the process White Supremacy, Racism and the Coloniality of Anti-Trafficking Kamala Kempadoo,Elena Shih,2022-09-15 Global efforts to combat human trafficking are ubiquitous and reference particular ideas about unfreedoms suffering and rescue The discourse has however a distinct racialized legacy that is lodged specifically in fears about white slavery women in prostitution and migration and the defilement of white womanhood by the criminal and racialized Other White Supremacy Racism and the Coloniality of Anti Trafficking centers the legacies of race and racism in contemporary anti trafficking work and examines them in greater detail A number of recent arguments have suggested that race and racism are not only visible but vital to the success of contemporary anti trafficking discourses and movements The contributors offer recent scholarship grounded in critical anti racist perspectives that reveal the historical and contemporary racial working of anti trafficking discourses and practices globally and how these intersect with gender citizenship sexuality caste and class formations and the global political economy Digesting the Public Sphere Sarah Marusek,2018-12-07 In the routine spectrum of our lives we inhabit the public sphere Whether in the street the shopping center or on the bus we engage with the empowered the disempowered the omitted and the powerful Within the public sphere the notion of public involves a complexity of approaches to aspects of everyday practices of power performance and place Through these approaches that which is public can be visualized experienced and contested in the construction ceremony and design of buildings institutions and daily activities In a variety of ways the conceptualization and contextualization of the public contributes to identity formations narratives of community and manifestations of the political that materially and discursively transpire within the public sphere in the perceptions of inequality metaphors for knowledge and critiques of consciousness For this volume focused on interpretive methods and methodologies that address the concept of public we present a lively engagement with methodological insight into the political digestion of the public sphere We delve into models of and approaches to conducting research the analysis of findings and the reaffirmation of enhanced techniques of related inquiry in public spaces We seek to explore the following questions What is the public How do we visualize understand experience the public What are the ways in which these insights connect to articulations of citizenship and democracy How is the public implicated in the political The chapters originally published as a special issue in Space and Polity Reproductive Injustice Dána-Ain Davis, 2019-06-25 Winner 2020 Senior Book Prize given by the Association of Feminist Anthropology Winner 2020 Eileen Basker Memorial Prize given by the Society for Medical Anthropology Honorable Mention 2020 Victor Turner Prize in Ethnographic Writing given by the Society for Humanistic Anthropology Finalist 2020 PROSE Award in the Sociology Anthropology and Criminology category given by the Association of American Publishers A troubling study of the role that medical racism plays in the lives of Black women who have given birth to premature and low birth weight infants Black women have higher rates of premature birth than other women in America This cannot be simply explained by economic factors with poorer women lacking resources or access to care Even professional middle class Black women are at a much higher risk of premature birth than low income white women in the United States Dána-Ain Davis looks into this phenomenon placing racial differences in birth outcomes into a historical context revealing that ideas about reproduction and race today have been influenced by the legacy of ideas which developed during the era of slavery While poor and low income Black women are often the mascots of premature birth outcomes this book focuses on professional Black women who are just as likely to give birth prematurely Drawing on an impressive array of interviews with nearly fifty mothers fathers neonatologists nurses midwives and reproductive justice advocates Dána-Ain Davis argues that events leading up to an infant's arrival in a neonatal intensive care unit NICU and the parents' experiences while they are in the NICU reveal subtle but pernicious forms of racism that confound the perceived class dynamics that are frequently understood to be a central factor of premature birth The book argues not only that medical racism persists and must be considered when examining adverse outcomes as well as upsetting experiences for parents but also that NICUs and life saving technologies should not be the only strategies for improving the outcomes for Black pregnant women and their babies Davis makes the case for other avenues such as community based birthing projects doulas and midwives that support women during pregnancy and labor are just as important and effective in avoiding premature births and mortality

The inside stories of workers struggling to counter violence Violent Intimacy Tiantian Zheng, 2022-07-28 Based on ethnographic research with victims of intimate partner violence since 2014 this book brings to the forefront women's experiences of negotiations about and contestations against violence and men's narratives about the reasons for their violence Using an innovative methodology online chat groups it foregrounds the role of history structural inequalities and the cultural system of power hierarchy in situating and constructing intimate partner violence Centering on men and women's narratives about violence this book connects intimate partner violence with invisible structural violence the historical cultural political economic and legal context that gives rise to and perpetuates violence against women Through examining the ways in which women's lives are constrained by various forms of violence hierarchy and inequality this book shows that violence against women is a structural issue that is historically produced and politically and culturally engaged

Underbelly Rachel Hall-Clifford, 2024-05-14 An unsettling exploration of the hidden power dynamics of global health seen through the lens of childhood diarrhea and its treatment within the Guatemalan context Deaths from childhood diarrhea seem preposterous in high income countries Yet for children under five years old in the rest of the world diarrhea is the third highest cause of mortality Despite a glut of prevention and treatment programming spanning more than forty years this least glamorous of global health ills remains a critical problem In Underbelly Rachel Hall Clifford takes a hard look at the pathways of global health funding and development policies and the outcomes they deliver for recipient individuals and communities Drawing on fifteen years of ethnographic research in highland Guatemala Hall Clifford focuses on the provision of primary health care services as a critical exemplar of how global health and development programs fall short Guatemala has a fragmented health system the author explains that guarantees health as a human right but also suffers from systemic racism inadequate health services and access to those services community distrust from a legacy of harm and violence and a demeaning paternalism Bringing together the discourses of global health and medical anthropology Underbelly explores the ways in which global health its actors structures and systems perpetuates the challenges it purports to fix this is the underbelly Hall Clifford argues that global health programs conceived in offices distant from the places in which they are delivered often have unintended consequences and contribute to pluralistic and exclusionary health systems that mirror neoliberal economies She argues that if we are to fix this entrenched crisis of health inequity we must use the immense resources of global health to center local communities as drivers of change With a foreword written by Waleska Lopez Canu an Indigenous Maya medical director and an afterword by Arthur Kleinman renowned expert in global health this book underscores the importance of looking deeper into what seems on its surface incontrovertibly good to understand the more complex realities on the ground and in people's lives Cryptopolitics Victoria Bernal, Katrien Pype, Daivi

Rodima-Taylor, 2023-07-14 Hidden information double meanings double crossing and the constant processes of encoding and decoding messages have always been important techniques in negotiating social and political power dynamics Yet these tools cryptopolitics are transformed when used within digital media Focusing on African societies Cryptopolitics brings together empirically grounded studies of digital media to consider public culture sociality and power in all its forms illustrating the analytical potential of cryptopolitics to elucidate intimate relationships political protest and economic strategies in the digital age
