Kuta Angle Relationships:

Archinesia 09 Imelda Akmal, 2015-01-01 FUTURE OF THE PAST The historical events in the early centuries of the Srivijaya kingdom that ruled over Malay Archipelago and the arrival of colonising nations afterwards are examples of the region's interlinked past. It forged a historic root for cooperation within the countries in the region now under ASEAN. Consideration about the region's past record is what strongly tugged our editorial team's thoughts. History or we could say the past inevitably constructs the present and consequently our future. As we asked some of the people in the architectural practice regarding the role of the past, many hold that the past is an important aspect that we could learn from to live our present life. ARCHINESIA Bookgazine features built projects curated by our team. Among the projects we look at the use of traditional building materials in Katamama Hotel by andramatin and the House in Cornwall Garden by CHANG Architects which belongs to a family of many generations. Can we take the past as something that bounds us or builds us? We leave it for the reader to decide. Hanging without a Rope Mary Margaret Steedly, 2019-01-15 When Mary Steedly went to North Sumatra Indonesia, she intended to study the curing practices of Karo Batak spirit mediums, the gurus who keep a community in touch with its ancestors. She became fascinated by the stories these women and men told of their encounters with spirits in the ritual arena and on the borders of the everyday social world. In these stories, Karo mediums conveyed their sense of historical out-of-placeness which they described as hanging without a rope. In Indonesia's state-proclaimed Age of Development, based on the author's three years of fieldwork in urban and rural Karoland, this engaging and sympathetic account focuses on issues of experience, memory, and narrative plausibility. Steedly approaches mediums' stories not simply as reservoirs of information about what happened at a particular moment but as interested efforts to map a pathway across the shifting landscape of historical memory. Over the past century, Karoland has been the scene of colonial conquest, Christian conversion, commercial agricultural development, military occupation, revolution, migration, and modernization. Stories of spirit encounters, Steedly argues, provide an alternative unofficial perspective on the historical transformation of the Karo social world. In addition to her rich ethnographic material, she draws on feminist theories of subjectivity, William Faulkner's reconstructions of personal and collective memory, and current anthropological explorations of the politics of representation to open the ethnographic imagination to historical eventfulness. Mary Margaret Steedly is Assistant Professor of Anthropology at Harvard University. Tropical Rainforests and Agroforests Under Global Change Melanie Grosse, 2008 Human induced land use intensification and climate change are major global change drivers likely to continue for a long time This international symposium provides an open platform for all scientists from socio economic and natural sciences interested in the effects of global change on rainforests and agroforests Balancing the ecological and socio economic benefits of different agroforestry systems comparing patterns and processes in managed agroforest and natural forest and modeling the dynamics of land use change and related resource degradation under various policy scenarios are major topics of this symposium

Embodying American Slavery in Contemporary Culture Lisa Woolfork, 2010-10-01 This study explores contemporary novels films performances and reenactments that depict American slavery and its traumatic effects by invoking a time travel paradigm to produce a representational strategy of bodily epistemology Disrupting the prevailing view of traumatic knowledge that claims that traumatic events are irretrievable and accessible only through oblique reference these novels and films circumvent the notion of indirect reference by depicting a replaying of the past forcing present day protagonists to witness and participate in traumatic histories that for them are neither dead nor past Lisa Woolfork cogently analyzes how these works deploy a representational strategy that challenges the divide between past and present imparting to their recreations of American slavery a physical and emotional energy to counter America s apathetic or amnesiac attitude about the trauma of the slave past
