Additional Language Learning in Instructional Settings Yuko Goto Butler, 2025-05-08 This book provides the first comprehensive overview of young children's language learning in pre primary and primary education. It collates research to date on language development and pedagogy among children learning a language in addition to their home language(s) in instructional settings, providing readers with a thorough understanding of the topic and directions for further study. The book promotes a learner-centered approach to research and teaching and encourages critical reflection on how best to conduct research among children. It recognizes the substantial diversity of young language learning experiences and pays attention to individual differences and variability in children's language development, embracing an ecological perspective sensitive to contextual factors. Closing the gap between research and practice, each chapter opens with pedagogical or policy-related questions, explores relevant theories and research findings from instructed second language acquisition, and offers discussion questions and recommended reading for further reflection and study. This will be invaluable reading for all those who are undertaking research and working with young language learners.

Facing Diversity in Child Foreign Language Education Joanna Rokita-Jaśkow, Agata Wolanin, 2021-04-29 This edited book uses the concept of diversity in child foreign language education as a major organizing principle. Since a foreign language, most typically English, is taught globally to an increasing number of children, the variability in the process and varied learning outcomes are inescapable phenomena. This book has been constructed on the premise that heterogeneity first concerns young language learners who, due to the disparity in the pace of development, need appropriately tailored educational solutions, and second, it refers to a diversity of contexts in which learning takes place. The contexts can be defined on a macroscale (e.g., different countries), mesoscale (e.g., different institutions), and microscale (e.g., specific learner groups). The book consists of four thematic strands. In Part One, the learner internal causes of heterogeneity of young language learners are clarified. Part Two presents a sample of classroom studies in which learner variables such as gender, learner preferences, and special needs are taken into account. Part Three looks at teaching materials and how they meet learners' needs. Finally, Part Four highlights diversity issues that teachers should be prepared to face.

Preschool Bilingual Education Mila Schwartz, 2018-05-23 This volume provides an up-to-date collection of key aspects related to current preschool bilingual education research from a socio-linguistic perspective. The focus is on preschool bilingual education in multilingual Europe, which is characterized by diverse language models and children's linguistic backgrounds. The book explores the contemporary perspectives on early bilingual education in light of the threefold theoretical framework of child's teachers and parents' agencies in interaction in preschool bilingual education. Five significant theoretical concepts are promoted in this volume: the ecology of language learning, an educational partnership for bilingualism, a notion of agency in early language development and education, language conducive contexts, and language conducive strategies. The volume examines preschool bilingual education as embedded in specific socio-cultural contexts, on the one hand, and highlights its universal features, on the other. The book is a fundamental read for scholars and students of
