The Piano By Jane Campion:

Jane Campion's The Piano Harriet Elaine Margolis,2000 An examination of Jane Campion's The Piano from a variety of critical perspectives The Piano Jane Campion,1994 The piano Michael Nyman,1993 Jane Campion Kathleen McHugh,2007-05 Publisher description Jane Campion Talks about 'The Piano' ,1993 The Hero and the Perennial Journey Home in American Film Susan Mackey-Kallis,2001 In contemporary America myths find expression primarily in film What's more many of the highest grossing American movies of the past several decades have been rooted in one of the most fundamental mythic narratives the hero quest Why is the hero quest so persistently renewed and retold In what ways does this universal myth manifest itself in American cinema And what is the significance of the popularity of these modern myths The Hero and the Perennial Journey Home in American Film by Susan Mackey Kallis is an exploration of the appeal of films that recreate and reinterpret this mythic structure She closely analyzes such films as E.T. the Star Wars trilogy It's a Wonderful Life The Wizard of Oz The Lion King Field of Dreams The Piano Thelma and Louise and 2001 A Space Odyssey Elements of the quest mythology made popular by Joseph Campbell Homer's Odyssey the perennial philosophy of Aldous Huxley and Jungian psychology all contribute to the compelling interpretive framework in which Mackey Kallis crafts her study She argues that the purpose of the hero quest is not limited to the discovery of some boon or Holy Grail but also involves finding oneself and finding a home in the universe The home that is sought is simultaneously the literal home from which the hero sets out and the terminus of the personal growth he or she undergoes during the journey back Thus the quest Mackey Kallis asserts is an outward journey into the world of action and events which eventually requires a journey inward if the hero is to grow and ultimately necessitates a journey homeward if the hero is to understand the grail and share it with the culture at large Finally she examines the value of mythic criticism and addresses questions about myth currently being debated in the field of communication studies Spreading Misandry Paul Nathanson,Katherine K. Young,2001 Paul Nathanson and Katherine Young argue that men have routinely been portrayed as evil inadequate or as honorary women in popular culture since the 1990s These stereotypes are profoundly disturbing the authors argue for they both reflect and create a hatred and thus further fracture an already fractured society In Spreading Misandry they show that creating a workable society in the twenty first century requires us to rethink feminist and other assumptions about men The first in an eventual three part series Spreading Misandry offers an impressive array of evidence from everyday life case studies from movies television programs novels comic strips and even greeting cards to identify a phenomenon that is just now being recognised as a serious cultural problem Discussing misandry the sexist counterpart of misogyny the authors make clear that this form of hatred must not be confused with reverse sexism or anger and should neither be trivialised nor excused They break new ground by discussing misandry in moral terms rather than purely psychological or sociological ones and refer critically not only to feminism but to political ideologies on both the left and the right They also illuminate the larger context of this problem showing that it reflects the enduring conflict between the Enlightenment and romanticism inherent flaws in postmodernism and the dualistic us versus them mentality that has influenced Western thought since ancient times A groundbreaking study Spreading Misandry raises serious questions about justice and identity in an increasingly polarised society It is important for anyone interested in ethics gender popular culture or are just concerned about the society we are creating Spreading Misandry does make a convincing argument that since the 1990s Men have become society's official scapegoats and held responsible for all evil Women are society's official victims and held responsible for all good

Independent on Sunday 4 August 2002 The Cinema of Australia and New Zealand Geoff Mayer, Keith Beattie, 2007 From The Story of the Kelly Gang in 1906 to the Lord of the Rings trilogy Australia and New Zealand have made a unique impact on international cinema This book celebrates the commercially successful narrative feature films produced by these cultures as well as key documentaries shorts and independent films It also invokes issues involving national identity race history and the ability of two small film cultures to survive the economic and cultural threat of Hollywood Chapters on well known films and directors such as The Year of Living Dangerously Peter Weir 1982 The Piano Jane Campion 1993 Fellowship of the Ring Peter Jackson 2001 and Rabbit Proof Fence Philip Noyce 2002 are included with less popular but equally important films and filmmakers such as Jedda Charles Chauvel 1955 They're a Weird Mob Michael Powell 1966 Vigil Vincent Ward 1984 and The Goddess of 1967 Clara Law 2000 Fallenness in Victorian Women's Writing Deborah Anna

Logan, 1998 Logan's study is distinguished by its exclusive focus on women writers including Charlotte Bronte George Eliot Elizabeth Gaskell Harriet Martineau Elizabeth Barrett Browning Florence Nightingale Sarah Grand and Mary Prince Logan utilizes primary texts from these Victorian writers as well as contemporary critics such as Catherine Gallagher and Elaine Showalter to provide the background on social factors that contributed to the construction of fallen woman discourse

Jane Campion Deb Verhoeven, 2009-01-08 Jane Campion is one of the most celebrated auteurs of modern cinema and was the first female director to be awarded the prestigious Palme d'Or Throughout her relatively short career Campion has received extraordinary attention from the media and scholars alike and has provoked fierce debates on issues such as feminism colonialism and nationalism In this detailed account of Jane Campion's career as a filmmaker Deb Verhoeven examines specifically how contemporary film directors fashion themselves as auteurs through their personal interactions with the media in their choice of projects in their emphasis on particular filmmaking techniques and finally in the promotion of their films Through analysis of key approaches to Campion's films such as The Piano In the Cut Sweetie An Angel at My Table and Holy Smoke Deb Verhoeven introduces students to the passionate debates surrounding this controversial and often experimental director Featuring a career overview a filmography scene by scene analysis and an extended interview with Campion on her approach to creativity this is a great introduction to one of the most important directors of contemporary cinema The Music of Michael Nyman Pwyll ap Siôn, 2007 Nyman's rise to international prominence during the last three decades has made him one of the world's most successful living composers. His music has nevertheless been criticized for its parasitic borrowing of other composers' ideas and for its relentless self-borrowing. In this first book-length study in English, Pwyll ap Si'n places Nyman's writings within the general context of Anglo-American experimentalism, minimalism and post-minimalism and provides a series of useful contexts from which controversial aspects of Nyman's musical language can be more clearly understood and appreciated.

Jane Campion Hilary Radner, Alistair Fox, Irène Bessière, 2009. An innovative collection of original essays on Jane Campion, renowned female auteur filmmaker. In Jane Campion: Cinema Nation Identity, a diverse group of contributors challenge the view that Campion's body of work lacks coherence or unity, to instead examine the important characteristics and themes that underlie it. Editors Hilary Radner, Alistair Fox and Irène Bessière have compiled rich original scholarship on Campion's oeuvre to probe issues previously neglected by scholars: like her debt to New Zealand sources and her personal views of family dynamics and those that benefit from additional insight, such as her place in the feminist filmmaking tradition. This volume also investigates Campion's distinct cinematic style in light of these issues to examine the source of her enduring cross-cultural and international appeal. Contributors in the first section explore the creation of subjectivity and identity in Campion's films, which include well-known works like The Piano and Holy Smoke, to trace the unique perspectives of Campion's characters and Campion herself as director. In the second section, essays analyze Campion's close relationship with literature and argue that the singular vision in her literary adaptations stems from her New Zealand background and her personal mythology. Contributors in the third section argue that while Campion devotes considerable attention to the evocation of feminine internal space, she also uses the symbolic potential of her external physical locations to register what is taking place in the inner life of her characters and reflect their search for personal fulfillment. A final group of essays presents a variety of responses to Campion's films, demonstrating that Campion is a highly personal and idiosyncratic director who nonetheless manages to fascinate viewers across a broad cultural spectrum. Taken together, contributors in Jane Campion: Cinema Nation Identity present a compelling analysis of Campion's status as a leading female filmmaker with close attention to her distinctive cinematic style and particular mise en scène. The collective nature of this volume will appeal to students and teachers of film literature and gender studies as well as fans of Campion's work.

Jane Campion Alistair Fox, 2011-03-28. Introduction: authorship, creativity and personal cinema. Origins of a problematic: the Campion family. The tragic underbelly of the family: fantasies of transgression in the early films. Living in the shadow of the family tree. Sweetie. How painful it is to have a family member with a problem like that: authorship as creative adaptation. In An angel at my table. Traumas of separation and the encounter with the phallic other. The piano. The misfortunes of an heiress. The portrait of a lady. Exacting revenge on cunt men. Holy smoke as sexual fantasy. That which terrifies and attracts simultaneously. Killing daddy in the cut. Lighting a lamp: loss, art and transcendence in The water diary and Bright star.
