

Board Policies Manual (BPM)

For ABC Nonprofit, Inc.

READER NOTE: This template of a Board Policies Manual (BPM) is a slightly modified version of the one developed by Dr. Fred Laughlin and me for our book, Good Governance for Nonprofits, published in 2007 by the American Management Association. The book refers readers to a downloadable BPM template on the AMA's website that tracks with the book. This template is essentially the same, with modest "tweaks" that I felt were improvements. Anyone using the book will have no problem tracking its discussion with this updated template that I now provide to those who ask for a head start in writing their own BPM. New learnings may prompt me to make additional modifications as I observe boards in action. Much of our writing on the "BPM" was influenced by and even adapted from materials by © John Carver and Miriam Carver (and used with permission.) Naturally, you will pick and choose which items to include and will need to add all that which is specific to your organization as you draft what is to be the "one voice" of governance in your organization. One of the first things you might do is change our names/descriptions of committees to your committee structure in 1.6 and 3.7. Then you might change the Sections in Part V to fit the way your organization is structured (some create a Section for each committee). We have no pride of authorship and this has no copyright. Make good use! Robert C. Andringa, Ph.D., April 15, 2011.

Part 1: Introduction and Administration

This Board Policies Manual (BPM) contains all of the current standing (on-going) policies adopted by the board of [name of nonprofit] since the initial approval on [insert date of the board meeting when parts or the whole BPM were first approved].

1.1 Reasons for Adoption. Our reasons for adopting this BPM include:

- * Efficiency of having all on-going board policies in one place
- * Ability to quickly orient new board members to current policies
- * Elimination of redundant, or conflicting, policies over time
- * Ease of reviewing current policy when considering new issues
- * Clear, pro-active policies to guide the chief executive officer (CEO) and staff
- * Models an approach to governance that other organizations might use

1.2 Consistency. Each policy in this document is expected to be consistent with the law, the Articles of Incorporation, and Bylaws, all of which have precedence over these board policies. Except for time-limited or procedural-only board decisions (approve minutes, elect an officer, etc.), which are recorded in regular board minutes, all standing policies shall be included or referred to in this document. The CEO is responsible for developing
