African Agricultural Reforms M. Ataman Aksoy, 2012-07-10 This volume analyzes the political economy of the successes and failures of the agricultural reform programs in Sub Saharan Africa It shows that in almost all cases reforms lead to a supply response but their sustainability in face of shocks depend on the consensus about the reform and the subsequent rent distribution African Agricultural Reforms, 2012 During the 1990s SSA countries initiated agricultural policy reforms to increase producer incentives and increase growth Yet agricultural growth rates after the reforms have been uneven This has been attributed to lack of supporting infrastructure or the inability to respond to incentives by the smallholders Based on ten studies this volume provides a different framework to interpret the outcomes First it attributes the success of the reforms to the degree of consensus around the reform programs which in turn creates the institutions that can accommodate unexpected shocks It differs The Politics of Trade and Industrial Policy in Africa Charles Chukwuma Soludo, Michael Osita Ogbu, Ha-Joon Chang, 2004 This book maps the process and political economy of policy making in Africa Its focus on trade and industrial policy makes it unique and it will appeal to students and academics in economics political economy political science and African studies Detailed case studies help the reader to understand how the process and motivation behind policy decisions can vary from country to country depending on the form of government ethnicity and nationality and other social factors The Politics of Land Reform in Africa Doctor Ambreena Manji, 2013-07-04 Across Africa land is being commodified private ownership is replacing communal and customary tenure Farms are turned into collateral for rural credit markets Law reform is at the heart of this revolution The Politics of Land Reform in Africa casts a critical spotlight on this profound change in African land economy The book illuminates the key role of legislators legal consultants and academics in tenure reform These players exert their influence by translating the economic and regulatory interests of the World Bank civil society groups and commercial lenders in to questions of law Drawing on political economy and actor network theory The Politics of Land Reform in Africa is an indispensable contribution to the study of agrarian change in developing countries Economic Reforms in Ghana Ernest Aryeetey, Jane Harrigan, Machiko Nissanke, 2000 Reviews the performance of the Ghanaian economy for the period 1983 to 1991 aimed at assessing the impact of structural adjustment policies in different areas of the economy African Coalitions and Global Economic Governance Michael Byron Nelson, 2016-09 This book examines the strategic implications of fragmented global governance by institutions for African states and their coalitions African Enclosures? Philip Woodhouse, David Hulme, Henry Bernstein, Pippa Trench, 2000 This book reveals a dynamic picture of African rural society in which production patterns change rapidly in response to market opportunities These changes are driven largely by local farmers initiatives and are often associated with an increase in market based access to land that is evident under both customary and private land tenure North America Africa World Press New Directions in International Health Cooperation, 1978 Agricultural Policy Reform in South Africa Johan Van

Rooyen,1998 Agricultural Policy Reform in South Africa which is part of AIPA s ongoing research series on the generation of sustainable effective rates of growth employment expansion and equity should be read in this context It brings together analytical discussion papers written by some of South Africa s foremost specialists in the field of agriculture African Political Economy ,2001 Examines FDR and the New Deal era from the perspectives of social and cultural history political science popular culture and political history Africa's Economic Partnership with China Mussie Delelegn Arega,2022-11-30 This book examines how increasing Africa China relations in the fields of trade development finance and investment have impacted productive capacities and structural economic transformation in sub Saharan Africa SSA The book argues that statistical and empirical evidence shows that China s influence has not substantially altered the fundamentals in Africa and instead outlines a framework of policy conclusions and recommendations to help achieve transformational growth and development Despite increased Chinese investments in transport energy communications and manufacturing sub Saharan Africa is yet to see tangible economic and development benefits according to the multidimensional Productive Capacities Index PCI External trade is dogged by the same problems as during the colonial era with primary commodities dominating exports to China and industrial or manufacturing products dominating imports thereby leaving the region exposed to external economic shocks The book considers whether there are lessons to be learned from the experience of Asian countries such as Vietnam proposing pragmatic coordinated non ideological and non confrontational policy approaches to development This book will be of interest to researchers policymakers advisors academics and practitioners with an interest in development in Africa and China s increasing role in the continent World Bank Assistance to Agriculture in Sub-Saharan Africa ,2007-01-01 Sub Saharan Africa is a critical development priority it has some of the world s poorest countries and during the past two decades the number of poor in the Region has doubled to 300 million more than 40 percent of the Region s population Africa remains behind on most of the Millennium Development Goals MDGs and is unlikely to reach them by 2015 With some of the world s poorest countries Africa is a development priority for the donor community A major drag on Africa s development is the underperformance of the critical agriculture sector which has been neglected both by donors and governments over the past two decades The sector faces a variety of constraints that are particular to agriculture in Africa and make its development a complex challenge Poor governance and conflict in several countries further complicate matters IEG has assessed the development effectiveness of World Bank assistance in addressing constraints to agricultural development in Africa over the period of fiscal 1991 2006 The Evolution of Economic Development in Africa Francis K. Mbroh,2021-07-11 Within the theoretical framework of the trade growth and structural transformation growth nexuses the book examines the evolution of African goods and service trade in terms of value and share of global commerce relative to other regions during the period 1948 2017 It also identifies and discusses discernible changes in the composition and structure of African exports and imports between 1995 and 2015 and their implications for economic development in Africa The study attributes Africa's lagged trade performance during the period primarily to sub optimal macroeconomic policies and lack of bold export development policies and initiatives among other factors It also offers an incisive discussion of several inhibitions to the structural transformation of African exports and imports including lack of finance globalization tariff and non tariff measures in global markets The discussion of the evolution of African trade during the period 1948 2017 based on statistics and publications of international organizations including the UNCTAD the World Bank and the African Development Bank among others is the first of its kind in terms of scope and depth of review of African trade The analyses of cross border trade during 1948 2017 and their implications for Africa's economic development prospects constitute a useful reference material for academics and students of African and development studies and African and international policymakers Continuing the Commitment: Agricultural Development in the Sahel August 1986 , The Political Economy of Development Kate Bayliss, Ben Fine, Elisa Van Waeyenberge, 2011-05-06 Any student academic or practitioner wanting to succeed in development studies radical or mainstream must understand the World Bank's role and the evolution of its thinking and activities The Political Economy of Development provides tools for gaining this understanding and applies them across a range of topics The research practice and scholarship of development are always set against the backdrop of the World Bank whose formidable presence shapes both development practice and thinking This book brings together academics that specialise in different subject areas of development and reviews their findings in the context of the World Bank as knowledge bank policy maker and financial institution The volume offers a compelling contribution to our understanding of development studies and of development itself The Political Economy of Development is an invaluable critical resource for students policy makers and activists in development studies Reforming Land and Resource Use in South Africa Paul Hebinck, Charlie Shackleton, 2010-11-23 This book debates the emergent proprieties of rural and peri urban South Africa since land and agrarian reforms were initiated after the transition to democracy in 1994 It explores how these reforms have broadened options for the use of land and natural resources Reform minded policies in South Africa have assumed that if access to land and other natural resources is less problematic the use of these resources would be intensified which in turn would alter the structure and dynamic of rural and urban poverty Reforming Land and Resource Use in South Africa examines in detail and from several disciplinary perspectives whether and how this has occurred and if not why not A key argument that this collection pursues is whether land reform has resulted in transformed use of natural i.e land crops cattle rangeland wild products etc and other strategic resources labour knowledge institutions networks etc and the value communities and household place on them The contributions explore a combination of new or alternative meanings of land including a look beyond crops and cattle per se to include the collection and selling of wild products as well as a discussion of how land for agriculture has become redefined by land reform beneficiaries as urban land for settlement and urban employment opportunities in addition to urban based agricultural activities Unlike most analyses and commentaries on land reform this book pursues an analysis of land reform dynamics at various levels of aggregation National and regional level analyses of poverty and the ramifications of the property clause are combined with analyses at disaggregate levels such as the land reform project or village The book will be of interest to both researchers and policy makers with an interest in rural development and social change Agrekon, 1991 Trends in Forestry Law in Europe and Africa Maria Teresa Cirelli, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2001-01-01 Recent years have witnessed a significant acceleration in the revision of forest laws around the world Forest law increasingly recognizes the multiple interests involved in or affected by forest management with greater attention given to the environmental and social roles of forest resources and to their sustainable management and use In addition renewed emphasis is being placed on the involvement of a wider range of public and private actors Issues in which forest laws have been reoriented include local forest and private management the environmental functions of forests forest management planning and forest utilization contracts

Martin Webber, Patrick Labaste, 2009-12-16 Value chain based approaches offer tremendous scope for market based improvements in production productivity rural economy diversification and household incomes but are often covered by literature that is too conceptual or heavily focused on analysis This has created a gap in the information available to planners practitioners and value chain participants Furthermore few references are available on how these approaches can be applied specifically to developing agriculture in Africa Building Competitiveness in Africa's Agriculture A Guide to Value Chain Concepts and Applications describes practical implementation approaches and illustrates them with scores of real African agribusiness case studies Using these examples the Guide presents a range of concepts analytical tools and methodologies centered on the value chain that can be used to design implement and evaluate agricultural and agribusiness development initiatives It
