

A romantic close-up of a man and a woman in the rain. The man is on the left, looking down at the woman on the right. They are both wet from the rain, and their faces are close together. The woman has her mouth slightly open, and the man's hand is near her face. The background is a soft, out-of-focus view of the rain falling.

Fatal Army Air Forces Aviation Accidents in the United States, 1941-1945 Anthony J. Mireles,2006-05-09 During World War II the air over the continental United States was a virtual third front The little known statistics are alarming the Army Air Forces lost more than 4 500 aircraft in combat against Japanese army and naval air forces in the war During the same time the AAF lost more than 7 100 aircraft in the United States to accidents in training and transportation Such accidents claimed the lives of more than 15 530 pilots crewmembers and ground personnel and the stories of their deaths are largely forgotten This work chronicles the 6 350 known fatal AAF aircraft accidents that occurred in the continental United States from January 1941 through December 1945 Each crash summary based on official records provides details such as crash location and cause the people involved and the type and number of aircraft An aircraft serial number index a record of AAF aircraft still listed as missing crash statistics and a directory of AAF stations in the United States are included The Heroes We Needed Trevor B McIntyre,2024-10-31 McIntyre recounts the stories of many airmen who did not return which are undeniably touching as are the photographs he includes Because of their size the B 29s were able to drop the atomic bombs that ended the war But it is the human stories that resonate the most A heartfelt account of the men who flew the combat airplane known as the Superfortress Kirkus

Reviews During World War II there were many ways that a B 29er could be killed a ruthless enemy an unforgiving ocean that stretched for thousands of miles or the faulty engines of their own airplanes But they all volunteered for it and they continued flying and dying until they brought the war to an early end and saved hundreds of thousands of American lives They were The Heroes We Needed In this riveting saga of sacrifice and salvation Trevor McIntyre brings to life the courageous American airmen who brought the Japanese Empire to its knees and ended World War II with the greatest bombers the world had ever seen the Boeing B 29 Superfortress and his fight 70 years later to save their stories from being forgotten
