Moore,1826      Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress. Copyright Office,1974      The Poetical Works of Thomas Moore Thomas Moore,1856      Archaeology below the Cliff Matthew C. Reilly,2019-09-03 First book length archaeological study of a nonelite white population on a Caribbean plantation Archaeology below the Cliff Race Class and Redlegs in Barbadian Sugar Society is the first archaeological study of the poor whites of Barbados the descendants of seventeenth century European indentured servants and small farmers Redlegs is a pejorative to describe the marginalized group who remained after the island transitioned to a sugar monoculture economy dependent on the labor of enslaved Africans A sizable portion of the white minority the Redlegs largely existed on the peripheries of the plantation landscape in an area called Below Cliff which was deemed unsuitable for profitable agricultural production Just as the land on which they resided was cast as marginal so too have the poor whites historically and contemporarily been derided as peripheral and isolated as well as idle alcoholic degenerate inbred and irrelevant to a functional island society and economy Using archaeological historical and oral sources Matthew C Reilly shows how the precarious existence of the Barbadian Redlegs challenged elite hypercapitalistic notions of economics race and class as they were developing in colonial society Experiencing pronounced economic hardship similar to that of the enslaved albeit under very different circumstances Barbadian Redlegs developed strategies to live in a harsh environment Reilly s investigations reveal that what developed in Below Cliff was a moral economy based on community needs rather than free market prices Reilly extensively excavated households from the tenantry area on the boundaries of the Clifton Hall Plantation which was abandoned in the 1960s to explore the daily lives of poor white tenants and investigate their relationships with island economic processes and networks Despite misconceptions of strict racial isolation evidence also highlights the importance of poor white encounters and relationships with Afro Barbadians Historical data are also incorporated to address how an underrepresented demographic experienced the plantation landscape Ultimately Reilly s narrative situates the Redlegs within island history privileging inclusion and embeddedness over exclusion and isolation      The Poetical Works of Thomas Moore Thomas Moore (the Poet.),1872      The Coursing calendar, ed. by 'Stonehenge'. John Henry Walsh,1867      The Pioneer Heritage of the Miller/Lewis Family James Rodney Lundwall,2012-07-28 This book explores the roots of the Miller Lewis family From colonial America the formation of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter day Saints the expulsions and forced migrations of the early Mormon saints to the settlement and development of the state of Utah we learn who we are by seeing who we were We also learn what great potential we have for we have been blessed with a heritage rich in sacrifice hard work and vision

Politics of Reproduction Katherine Paugh,2017 Many British politicians planters and doctors attempted to exploit the fertility of Afro Caribbean women s bodies in order to ensure the economic success of the British Empire during the age of abolition Abolitionist reformers hoped that a homegrown labor force would end the need for the Atlantic slave trade By establishing the ubiquity of visions of fertility and subsequent economic growth during this time The Politics of Reproduction sheds fresh light on the oft debated question of whether abolitionism was understood by contemporaries as economically beneficial to the plantation colonies At the same time Katherine Paugh makes novel assertions about the importance of Britain's Caribbean colonies in the emergence of population as a political problem The need to manipulate the labor market on Caribbean plantations led to the creation of new governmental strategies for managing sex and childbearing such as centralized nurseries discouragement of extended breastfeeding and financial incentives for childbearing that have become commonplace in our modern world While assessing the politics of reproduction in the British Empire and its Caribbean colonies in relationship to major political events such as the Haitian Revolution the study also focuses in on the island of Barbados The remarkable story of an enslaved midwife and her family illustrates how plantation management policies designed to promote fertility affected Afro Caribbean women during the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries The Politics of Reproduction draws on a wide variety of sources including debates in the British Parliament and the Barbados House of Assembly the records of Barbadian plantations tracts about plantation management published by doctors and plantation owners and missionary records related to the island of Barbados

Mrs Hudson Goes to Ireland Susan Knight, 2020-09-08 Sherlock Holmes has been missing and presumed dead for some time and his grief stricken landlady Mrs Hudson is anxious for a distraction However she is in for a culture shock when she travels to Ireland with her friend Kitty Melrose to try and stop a forced marriage What she finds is a countryside steeped in superstition and beliefs in the old ways a place of fairy forts and holy wells of changelings and banshees A place moreover where an impoverished peasantry remains under the heel of oppressive English landlords but not for much longer Times at last are changing A brutal murder followed by the arrest of someone Mrs Hudson is determined to prove innocent leads her into mortal danger At the same time she is amused to find herself courted by an elderly widower with a roving eye blind Readers will learn about Keller s challenges and choices as well as how her public image often eclipsed her personal desires to live independently Keller s deaf blindness and hard earned but limited speech did not define her as a human being as she explored the world of ideas and wove those ideas into her writing lobbying for funds for the American Federation for the Blind and working with disabled activists and supporters to bring about practical help during times of tremendous societal change     The poetical works of Thomas Moore, ed. with a memoir by W.M.
