A Child From The Village Middle East Literature In Translation:

A Child From the Village Sayyid Qutb, 2015-02-01 Well known throughout the Islamic world as the foundational thinker for a significant portion of the contemporary Muslim intelligentsia Sayyid Qutb 1906-1966 was a member of the Muslim Brotherhood and was jailed by Gamal Abdul Nasser's government in 1954. He became one of the most uncompromising voices of the movement we now call Islamism and is perhaps best known for his book Ma lam fi al tariq. A Child from the Village was written just prior to Qutb's conversion to the Islamist cause and reflects his concerns for social justice. Interest in Qutb's writing has increased in the West since Islamism has emerged as a power on the world scene. In this memoir Qutb recalls his childhood in the village of Musha in Upper Egypt. He chronicles the period between 1912 and 1918, a time immensely influential in the creation of modern Egypt. Written with much tenderness toward childhood memories, it has become a classic in modern Arabic autobiography. Qutb offers a clear picture of Egyptian village life in the early twentieth century: its customs and lore, educational system, religious festivals, relations with the central government, and the struggle to modernize and retain its identity. Translators John Calvert and William Shepard capture the beauty and intensity of Qutb's prose.

The Journals of Sarab Affan Jabra Ibrahim Jabra, 2007-02-13 Jabra tells his love story through alternate journal entries and with a complex layering of voices showing how the affair of a famed fictional male novelist and the woman who desires him takes shape through twin perspectives. Initially he is seen through the text of her journals from her fascination with his writings until the instant when she arranges their first meeting. Thereafter Jabra presents the male novelist's point of view from the start of the relationship through demise due to departure and eventual momentary reunion in romantic Paris. Jabra's well-known concern with the inconstancy of identity and its articulation through multiple first-person narration is ever evident. However, this is the first time he places a strong female character at the center of his novel with all the enticing complexities that result from the interplay of the author's projected female and male sensibilities. Crafting a tale of love from two disparate yet linked points of view, Jabra encourages readers to question their assumptions about the nature of self, its role in shaping character, and the possibilities of salvation through action. The extreme value Jabra places on the import of the female narrative gives his book a timely relevance.

Islam, Christianity and Tradition Ian Richard Netton, 2006-12-22 Offers a unique comparative exploration of the role of tradition in Islam and Christianity. The idea of tradition has enjoyed a variety of senses and definitions in Islam and Christianity, but both have cleaved at certain times to a supposedly golden age of tradition from the past. The author suggests there has been a chain of thinkers from classical Islam to the twentieth century who share a common interest in ijtihad or independent thinking. Drawing on past and present evidence and using Christian tradition as a focus for contrast and comparison, the author highlights the seemingly paradoxical harmony between tradition and ijtihad in Islam. The author draws on a variety of primary and secondary sources, including contemporary newspaper and journal.

Hezbollah, Islamist Politics, and International Society Filippo Dionigi, 2014-12-16 How do the norms of the liberal international order affect the activity of Islamist movements This book analyzes and assesses the extent to which Islamist groups which have traditionally attempted to shield their communities from alien moral conceptions have been affected by the rules and principles that regulate international society Through an analysis of Lebanon s Hezbollah Filippo Dionigi concludes that international norms are among the most significant factors changing Islamist politics The result is a precarious but innovative equilibrium in which Islamists are forced to rethink idea of an allegedly authentic Islamic morality and the legitimacy of international norms A Child from the Village Sayyid Qutb,2005 Nightingales and Pleasure Gardens Talat S. Lebanon / Liban Nadia Tuéni, 2006-04-25 This bilingual anthology edited by Christophe Ippolito contains Samuel Hazo's complete translation of Lebanon Twenty Poems for One Love and Paul B Kelley's selections from the never before translated Sentimental Archives of a War in Lebanon The Francophone poet Nadia Tueni has devoted readers in Lebanon and elsewhere in the Middle East and has quickly achieved poetic distinction in France The fluency of her poetic language and motifs reflecting Tueni's love of her people and country is illuminated in Ippolito's introduction She chose to create a new poetic language that captured the fragile essence of her troubled country and exposed the many crises of identities present in the war By identifying with her country she placed herself beyond all parties and created a sacred river that irrigates her poems Drawn from two collections that were published during the civil war in Lebanon in 1979 and 1982 these poems are haunted by the Lebanese war some transcend famous Lebanese locales as the symbolic incarnations of the land's eternal essence others illuminated at first by nostalgic memories take on a prophetic tone Tueni's work merges the poetic with the political landscape of her country She writes I belong to a country that commits suicide every day while it is being assassinated The languages of Rimbaud Lautreamont and surrealist poetry have had a decisive influence on Tueni's poetry But she also owes a great debt on the Arabic side to the avant garde poets for example the celebrated Adonis Like many Lebanese writers Tueni was active in political circles particularly after the war in 1967 Her poems tell of suffering memories of an abandoned garden slip away of her own life slipping away and in the end the reader is invited to reflect on the mimesis of identity identity of a country identity of a woman each echoing the other

The Pistachio Seller Reem Bassiouney, 2013-11-29 It was Saturday I remember And while he was standing on a step ladder in the hall changing a light bulb in the faint light coming through the window I decided to love him So begins this wonderfully exuberant novel of quixotic adolescent longing and the enduring search for self Set in middle class urban Egypt the story chronicles young Wafaa s struggle to come to terms with her own sexuality and her romantic infatuation with her cousin Ashraf a spoiled and confident young Egyptian who was educated in England Ashraf s worldliness and carefree attitudes stand in sharp contrast to Wafaa s provincial Islamic piousness As both mature they find outside events encroaching upon their sheltered lives forcing each to confront challenges to their youthful ideologies Ashraf is chastened by an economic turnaround that takes him to the United States as an impoverished immigrant and Wafaa begins to question her rigid fundamentalist beliefs that seem increasingly inadequate to make sense of the complex world around her Reem Bassiouney effortlessly captures the voices of her characters bringing them to life and allowing the reader to be fully immersed in their lives as they unfold in moving often funny and eventually triumphant ways The Pistachio Seller introduces Bassiouney s work to an English audience for the first time
