American During Summer Picture Parisian:

The American in Paris During the Summer Jules Janin, 1844 Summer Pictures Henry Martyn Field, 1859 An American Art Student in Paris Kenyon Cox, 1886 Kenyon Cox 1856 1919 studied painting in Paris from the fall of 1877 to the fall of 1882 These edited letters written to his parents in Ohio describe Cox's daily routine and explicate French art teaching both in the academic setting of the Ecole des Beaux Arts and in private ateliers such as those of Emile Carolus Duran and Rodolphe Julian The letters are important for insight into this system and into Paris art student life in general Cox was an academic committed to learning traditional drawing and composition before establishing his own artistic identity Most of the students who crowded the ateliers and academics of Paris shared this view and Cox's experiences and opinions often pungently expressed were thus more typical of this great majority than were those of experimenters such as the impressionists who were gaining notice while Cox was in Paris He commented frequently on current fads fancies and serious developments in the art world during this transitional period Cox also described his life and travels outside the academy These letters are a valuable commentary on the culture of late nineteenth century Europe He reported on concerts operas plays paintings and literature and the varied kinds of life the look of the land towns buildings and people he encountered during his summer travels to the Seine valley northern Italy and the artist colony in Grez south of Paris Art critics historians and collectors of traditional and academic art of this period will find this book the beginnings of the traditionalist view for which Cox later became famous In addition the letters are an often moving chapter in the development of an intellectually precocious young man from the American Midwest who was determined to become a painter with ideas as well as skill

Paris and the Cliché of History Catherine Eleanor Clark, 2018 Paris and the Cliché of History traces the changing historical meanings of photographs of this city during a century marked by urban renovation war occupation liberation and visual documentation Challenging the idea that photographs merely document the past it calls for new methods of reading photos as material objects with histories of their own and sheds insight on the capital's reduction to an image in the twentieth century Catalogue of Books in the Mercantile Library, of the City of New York New York Mercantile Library

Migraine-George,2025-03-03 This book focuses on the re invention of French food in the US probing the intricate transatlantic dynamics underlying notions of cooking and eating French By looking at French gastronomy as both a symbolic formation and an exclusionary practice closely tied to power class and race this book re centers histories that have been marginalized in traditional narratives of French gastronomy Rather than focusing on food itself this book explores transatlantic foodways and the complex and changing nexus of historical socioeconomic cultural political and ideological routes and trajectories both real and imaginary that have connected France and the US around a range of gastronomical practices and representations Foregrounding the gastronationalism that subtends the idea of eating French in the US this book also looks at how a diverse group of contemporary chefs is working to deconstruct stereotypical and constrictive representations of French food and to create new cuisines that are in turn more inviting inclusive hospitable and convivial as well as more globally sustainable Exploring the transatlantic relation between France and the US through the lens of food offers a significant point of entry into the ways in which imagined gastronomies reflect imagined communities past present and future in an ever globalizing world This book will be of great interest to students and scholars from a wide range of interdisciplinary fields of study including food studies global French and Francophone studies cultural studies media studies Black African American studies history and ethnography International Reference Service United States.
