Sacrificing Childhood Julie K. deGraffenried, 2014-11-18 During the Soviet Union s Great Patriotic War from 1941 to 1945 as many as 24 million of its citizens died 14 million were children ages fourteen or younger And for those who survived the suffering was far from over The prewar Stalinist vision of a happy childhood nurtured by a paternal loving state had given way out of necessity What replaced it the dictate that children be prepared to sacrifice everything including childhood itself created a generation all too familiar with deprivation violence and death The experience of these children and the role of the state in shaping their narrative are the subject of this book which fills in a critical but neglected chapter in the Soviet story and in the history of World War II In Sacrificing Childhood Julie deGraffenried chronicles the lives of the Soviet wartime children and the uses to which they were put not just as combatants or workers in factories and collective farms but also as fodder for propaganda their plight a proof of the enemy s depredations Not all Soviet children lived through the war in the same way but in the circumstances of a child in occupied Belarus or in the Leningrad blockade a young deportee in Siberia or evacuee in Uzbekistan deGraffenried finds common threads that distinguish the child s experience of war from the adult s The state s expectations however were the same for all children as we see here in children s mass media and literature and the communications of party organizations and institutions most notably the Young Pioneers whose relentless wartime activities made them ideal for the purposes of propaganda The first in depth study of where Soviet children fit into the history of the war Sacrificing Childhood also offers an unprecedented view of the state s changing expectations for its children and how this figured in the nature and direction of post war Soviet society

An Intersectional Approach to Counseling Children and Adolescents With Health Conditions Jennie Park-Taylor, Merle Keitel, 2024-05-01 The purpose of the present book An Intersectional Approach to Counseling Children and Adolescents with Health Conditions is to provide mental health professionals and students of counseling medicine psychology social work and other helping professions with useful information and helpful suggestions for their work with children and adolescents who experience significant health issues The chapter authors rely on an intersectional understanding of the human experience and specifically focus on how diverse youth experience understand and seek support for specific health conditions and illnesses Considering contemporary research that has shed light on some of the ways individuals multiple social identities interconnect and interact to compound experiences of illness health psychology researchers would benefit from applying an intersectional lens in their explorations of the micro and macro level variables that influence pathways towards health and illness for different groups For mental health practitioners an intersectional perspective on diverse children and adolescents experiences of specific health conditions will more likely lead to innovative and inclusive interventions that target change at multiple levels We are confident that our book will be of great use to mental health practitioners and students who plan to or are currently working with children and adolescents with significant health issues Readers of the book can focus on a specific health condition that is common among children adolescents and develop their knowledge skills and awareness of the cultural and systemic considerations in working with children adolescents and their families Particular attention can be paid to the ways in which the clients and the counselors intersectional social identities may influence counseling children and adolescents with significant health issues Reconfiguring Relations in the Empty Nest Magdalena Żadkowska, Marta Skowrońska, Christophe Giraud, Filip Schmidt, 2024-02-20 This edited volume traverses the spectrum of experiences that take place after children leave the family home and parents find themselves in the empty nest stage of life Rather than focusing on measuring the intensity of empty nest syndrome or asking whether parents marital satisfaction increases or decreases in this phase the authors present rich qualitative data from across Poland and France to show that there is great variation in how families experience the empty nest developing both a study on intimacy and love and on family solidarity Throughout the book themes of mixed emotions nuanced attitudes contradictions and dissonance are explored while shedding light on supporting actors of the empty nest transition such as family pets and material objects
