African Holistic Health Llaila O. Afrika, 1990 African Holistic Health Llaila O. Afrika, 1993 Bioethics in Africa: Theories and Praxis Yaw A. Frimpong-Mansoh, Caesar A. Atuire, 2019-07-30 Bioethics urges us to question and debate fundamental moral issues that arise in health-related sciences. However, as a result of Western dominance and globalization, bioethical thinking and practice have inevitably been shaped and defined by Western theories. With recent discussions centering on the relationship between culture and bioethics, it is important to consider how and to what extent can bioethics reflect and accommodate non-Western values and beliefs. Debatably, many scholars working in the field of African bioethics seek to construct a bioethical practice that is grounded in indigenous African values. Yet, how relevant are ancient African cultural norms to the lives and realities of the 21st-century Sub-Saharan Africans? This edited volume explores bioethics in Africa from pluralistic and intercultural perspectives. The selected papers offer diverse theoretical and practical perspectives on the bioethical challenges that are common and specific to the lives of Sub-Saharan Africans. The contributors define bioethics broadly, beyond ethical issues relating to biomedical and biotechnological science, to include applied ethics that concern all aspects of life. Multidisciplinary in approach, the contributions to this book consider bioethics in relation to philosophy social work psychiatry African studies religious studies psychology and medicine The broad scope of this volume means it will be of interest to those studying and working in bioethics as well as the fields mentioned above

Law, Religion and Human Flourishing in Africa M. Christian Green, 2019-05-19 A shared interest of law and religion is the advancement of human flourishing yet there is no common understanding of what it means for humans to flourish and the means by which to attain a flourishing life The concept of human flourishing is especially important for Africa where community and national development compete with forces of conflict and scarce resources In the broadest sense the concept of human flourishing focuses our attention on having a comprehensively good or worthwhile life but various religious and legal traditions suggest different norms for measuring the quality of life and designing the institutional structures that could best facilitate and preserve it
