Short-Short Stories Alan M. Cavanaugh, 2010-05 Short Short Stories for Readers Short of Time is a compilation of 61 ultra short stories two pages or less in length These are in marked contrast to regular short stories that average 12 to 16 pages and may extend to a whopping 30 to 40 pages If you're like the author you're especially open to brief jolts of literature that consume only a few minutes or even less each In our fast paced society economy of words while reading and writing is correspondingly appropriate Snatch a sampling of stories when riding on short duration bus train and car trips waiting for a dentist or physician and maybe even while on a commode A re-read of a story may provide an added benefit In this book you will find the short short stories to be highly varied Read about a woman having to learn wildflower names from her fiancée the dwarf planet Pluto's complaint of losing its planet's status a snake fearing woman who prefers her snakes having legs and a nearly 80 year old fiddler worried about contracting AIDS from bad blood during bypass surgery The photographs are meant to complement the stories But they can be appreciated on their own merits You will note that their titles differ from those of the stories

Beyond the simple contrastive analysis: Appropriate experimental approaches for unraveling the neural basis of conscious experience Jaan Aru, Talis Bachmann, 2015-06-26

Contrasting conditions with and without conscious experience has served consciousness research well However research based on this simple contrast has led to controversies about the neural basis of conscious experience One key reason for these ongoing debates seems to be that the simple contrast between conditions with and without consciousness is not specific for unraveling the neural basis of conscious experience but rather also leads to other processes that precede or follow it Acknowledging this methodological problem implies that some of the previous research findings about the neural underpinnings of conscious experience are actually reflecting the prerequisites and consequences rather than the direct correlates of conscious perception Thus it is required to re evaluate the previous results to find out which of them are telling us anything about the neural basis of consciousness But first and foremost to overcome this methodological problem we need new experimental paradigms that go beyond the simple contrastive analysis or find the ways how some older but well forgotten paradigms may foster a new look at this emerging problem Accordingly this research topic is looking for empirical and theoretical contributions that 1 envision new and suitable experimental approaches to study consciousness that are free from the limitations of the simple contrastive analysis 2 provide empirical data that help to separate the neural correlates of conscious experience from the prerequisites and consequences of it 3 help to re assess previous research findings about the neural correlates of conscious perception in the light of the methodological problems with the traditional contrastive analysis We hope that the theoretical insights and experimental approaches collected within this Research Topic help us to gain a more refined understanding of the neural basis of conscious experience
