Incomplete Streets Stephen Zavestoski, Julian Agyeman, 2014-08-27 The Complete Streets concept and movement in urban planning and policy has been hailed by many as a revolution that aims to challenge the auto normative paradigm by reversing the broader effects of an urban form shaped by the logic of keeping automobiles moving By enabling safe access for all users Complete Streets promise to make cities more walkable and livable and at the same time more sustainable This book problematizes the Complete Streets concept by suggesting that streets should not be thought of as merely physical spaces but as symbolic and social spaces When important social and symbolic narratives are missing from the discourse and practice of Complete Streets what actually results are incomplete streets The volume questions whether the ways in which complete streets narratives policies plans and efforts are envisioned and implemented might be systematically reproducing many of the urban spatial and social inequalities and injustices that have characterized cities for the last century or more From critiques of a mobility bias rooted in the neoliberal foundations of the Complete Streets concept to concerns about resulting environmental gentrification the chapters in Incomplete Streets variously call for planning processes that give voice to the historically marginalized and more broadly that approach streets as dynamic fluid and public social places This interdisciplinary book is aimed at students researchers and professionals in the fields of urban geography environmental studies urban planning and policy transportation planning and urban sociology

Chinese Migrants

and Africa's Development Doctor Ben Lampert, Doctor May Tan-Mullins, Daphne Chang, Giles Mohan, 2014-06-12 China's recent stepping up of relations with Africa is one of the most significant developments on the African continent for decades. For some it promises an end to Africa's dependent aid relationships as the Chinese bring expertise, technology and a stronger business focus. But for others it is no more than a new form of imperialism. This book is the first to systematically study the motivations, relationships and impact of this migration. It focuses not just on the Chinese migrants but also on the perceptions of and linkages to their African hosts. By studying this everyday interaction we get a much richer picture of whether this is South-South cooperation as political leaders would have us believe or a more complex relationship that can both compromise and encourage African development.

Commonplace Diversity: Social Relations in a Super-Diverse Context Susanne Wessendorf, 2014-11-03 Drawing on in-depth ethnographic fieldwork Wessendorf explores life in a super-diverse urban neighbourhood. The book presents a vivid account of the daily doings and social relations among the residents and how they pragmatically negotiate difference in their everyday lives.

Innovative Social Practice and Community-Based Approach to the Ocean Michael C. Huang, Jih-Gau Juang, Hongshi Jin, 2025-09-30 This book stands as a pioneering work illustrating a community-based and people-centered approach to the ocean. It meticulously outlines methodologies, procedures and evaluations of social practices initiated by universities and think tanks rooted in the actualization of social responsibility. Its outcomes extend towards implications for blue impact finance, highlighting a dedicated commitment to fostering positive change in oceanic environments. Universities play a vital role in bridging research and education to create innovative solutions for communities as partnerships. Japan and Taiwan share similar concerns as maritime states and recognize that collaboration is the linchpin for strengthening relationships among faculty, students and local residents, ensuring sustainability with a positive societal impact. To address this issue, the Ocean Policy Research Institute (OPRI) of the Sasakawa Peace Foundation collaborates with the Taiwan-Japan Alliance of Local Revitalization and Social Practice and the National Taiwan Ocean University. Through this joint effort, thematic case studies are selected to illuminate the methodology of impact assessment and evaluation for ocean link initiatives within the framework of think-tank-university social responsibility. This book contains four key parts: I Methodology of Problem Solving Structure for Coastal Region; II Challenges and Opportunities of Ocean Link Industries; III Innovative Forms of Blue Impact; and IV Evaluating Blue Impact from Social and Environmental Perspective. Successful experiences have been shown to rely on problem identification, assessment and endeavor driven by shared motivations and the establishment of trust among research institutes, universities and communities. This is an open access book.

Inequality and the 1% Danny Dorling, 2014-10-07 Since the Great Recession hit in 2008, the 1% has only grown richer while the rest find life increasingly tough. The gap between the haves and the have-nots has turned into a chasm. While the rich have found new ways of protecting their wealth, everyone else has suffered the penalties of austerity. But inequality is more than just economics. Being born outside the 1% has a dramatic impact on a person's potential, reducing life expectancy limiting educational and work prospects and even affecting mental health What is to be done In Inequality and the 1% leading social thinker Danny Dorling lays bare the extent and true cost of the division in our society and asks what have the super rich ever done for us He shows that it is the 1% that threatens us with the most harm and why we must urgently redress the balance Infinite Suburbia MIT Norman B. Leventhal Center for Advanced Urbanism, 2018-03-13 Infinite Suburbia is the culmination of the MIT Norman B Leventhal Center for Advanced Urbanism's yearlong study of the future of suburban development Extensive research an exhibition and a conference at MIT's Media Lab this groundbreaking collection presents fifty two essays by seventy four authors from twenty different fields including but not limited to design architecture landscape planning history demographics social justice familial trends policy energy mobility health environment economics and applied and future technologies This exhaustive compilation is richly illustrated with a wealth of photography aerial drone shots drawings plans diagrams charts maps and archival materials making it the definitive statement on suburbia at the beginning of the twenty first century The UK Regional-National Economic Problem Philip McCann, 2016-03-10 In recent years the United Kingdom has become a more and more divided society with inequality between the regions as marked as it has ever been In a landmark analysis of the current state of Britain's regional development Philip McCann utilises current statistics examines historical trends and makes pertinent international comparisons to assess the state of the nation The UK Regional National Economic Problem brings attention to the highly centralised top down governance structure that the UK deploys and demonstrates that it is less than ideally placed to rectify these inequalities The North South divide in the UK has never been greater and the rising inequalities are evident in almost all aspects of the economy including productivity incomes employment status and wealth Whilst the traditional economic dominance of London and its hinterland has continued along with relative resilience in the South West of England and Scotland in contrast the Midlands the North of England Northern Ireland and Wales lag behind by most measures of prosperity This inequality is greatly limiting national economic performance and the fact that Britain has a below average standard of living by European and OECD terms has been ignored The UK's economic and governance inequality is unlikely to be fundamentally rebalanced by the current governance and connectivity trends although this definitive study suggests that some areas of improvement are possible if they are well implemented This pivotal analysis is essential reading for postgraduate students in economics and urban studies as well as researchers and policy makers in local and central government Big Data Applications in Geography and Planning Mark Birkin, Graham Clarke, Jonathan Corcoran, Robert Stimson, 2021-05-28 This unique book demonstrates the utility of big data approaches in human geography and planning Offering a carefully curated selection of case studies it reveals how researchers are accessing big data what this data looks like and how such data can offer new and important insights and knowledge The Routledge International Handbook on Hate Crime Nathan Hall, Abbee Corb, Paul Giannasi, John Grieve, 2014-07-25 This edited collection brings together many of the world's leading experts both academic and practitioner in a single volume handbook that examines key international issues in the field of hate crime. Collectively it examines a range of pertinent areas with the ultimate aim of providing a detailed picture of the hate crime problem in different parts of the world. The book is divided into four parts: An examination covering theories and concepts of issues relating to definitions of hate crime, the individual and community impacts of hate crime, the controversies of hate crime legislation and theoretical approaches to understanding offending, An exploration of the international geography of hate in which each chapter examines a range of hate crime issues in different parts of the world including the UK, wider Europe, North America, Australia and New Zealand, Reflections on a number of different perspectives across a range of key issues in hate crime examining areas including particular issues affecting different victim groups, the increasingly important influence of the Internet and hate crimes in sport, A discussion of a range of international efforts being utilised to combat hate and hate crime. Offering a strong international focus and comprehensive coverage of a wide range of hate crime issues, this book is an important contribution to hate crime studies and will be essential reading for academics, students and practitioners interested in this field.

Dougherty, 2016-07-15 The last two decades have witnessed a dramatic expansion and intensification of mineral resource exploitation and development across the global south, especially in Latin America. This shift has brought mining more visibly into global public debates and spurred a great deal of controversy and conflict. This volume assembles new scholarship that provides critical perspectives on these issues. The book marshals original empirical work from leading social scientists in a variety of disciplines to address a range of questions about the practices of mining companies on the ground, the impacts of mining on host communities and the responses to mining from communities, civil society and states. The book further explores the global and international causes, consequences and innovations of this new era of mining activity in Latin America. Key issues include the role of Canadian mining companies and their investment in the region and to a lesser extent the role of Chinese mining capital. Several chapters take a regional perspective while others are based on empirical data from specific countries including Bolivia, Brazil, El Salvador, Guatemala and Peru. Geopolitics, Military Modernisation and the Future of the Indo-Pacific Bates Gill, Adam Lockyer, Yves-Heng Lim, Andrew T. H. Tan, 2024-08-02 This book examines to what extent geopolitics explains the current wave of force modernisation in the Indo Pacific region Examining the leading Indo Pacific nations in terms of defence spending the United States China India Japan South Korea Australia Taiwan Singapore Pakistan Indonesia and Thailand geopolitical principles are used to create hypotheses that can be tested against the military modernisation programmes of the major actors in the Indo Pacific region The book represents a bridge between reference works and the literature on international politics in the Indo Pacific The empirical chapters provide qualitative narratives that explore the force postures military modernisation and procurement patterns of the cases and assess why these nations military modernisation has followed particular courses and evaluate this evidence against the expectations of geopolitics and its rivals This book will be a valuable addition to scholars practitioners and indeed anyone interested in the future stability of one of the world s most important and dynamic regions African Transnational Diasporas D.

Public in a Privatized World David A. McDonald,2016-02-15 How do we provide effective public services in a deeply neoliberal world In the wake of the widespread failure of privatisation efforts societies in the global south are increasingly seeking progressive ways of recreating the public sector With contributors ranging from cutting edge scholars to activists working in health water and energy provision and with case studies covering a broad spectrum of localities and actors Making Public in a Privatized World uncovers the radically different ways in which public services are being reshaped from the grassroots up From communities holding the state accountable for public health in rural Guatemala to waste pickers in India and decentralized solar electricity initiatives in Africa the essays in this collection offer probing insights into the complex ways in which people are building genuine alternatives to privatization while also illustrating the challenges which communities face in creating public services which are not subordinated to the logic of the market or to the monolithic state entities of the past The U.S. City in Transition Barbara Hahn,2022-07-21 The U S city is undergoing constant change In the East and Midwest most cities were founded as trading posts on waterways They boomed during the industrial era and reached their population peak in the mid 20th century before suburbanization and deindustrialization caused them to decline in importance Traces of decay were everywhere and the prognosis for the future was conceivably poor As Barbara Hahn shows in her book this trend now seems to have been broken Things are looking up again for the US city Some of the former industrial cities have succeeded in structural change In the south and west of the country cities have developed into new growth centers However not all cities are benefiting from this positive development and many continue to shrink at an alarming rate As the author points out similar processes such as neoliberalisation deregulation privatisation and gentrification can be observed in all cities regardless of their location and level of development Due to the large number of didactically prepared graphics the book is suitable as a study read for students and scholars The characteristics of the U S city which are elaborated on the basis of current examples as well as the illustrative photos also illustrate the change of the U S city to the interested reader
