At The Helm A Laboratory Navigator Handbooks:

At the Helm Kathy Barker, 2002 In this book a successor to her best selling manual for new recruits to experimental science At The Bench Kathy Barker provides a guide for newly appointed leaders of research teams and those who aspire to that role

Developing an institutional framework for supporting supervisors of research students: A practical guide, 2012 This booklet describes the outcomes of a unique inter institutional project undertaken in Ireland between 2008 and 2012 to develop a common framework for the support of supervisors of postgraduate research students The experiences of the seven institutions who ultimately participated in the project are summarized in the form of a series of commentaries on approaches to such training and a description of the primary elements of the final framework itself It is intended that this information may be of use to any institutions interested in developing their own supports for research supervisors and ultimately will be of benefit to the supervisors themselves and of course their students Back cover

Genome Research, 2005 Academic Scientists at Work Jeremy Boss, Susan Eckert, 2006-10-16 A guide for scientists on the journey from the end of a postdoctoral career to the point of promotion to Associate Professor this 2nd edition focuses on three aspects of the academic setting Scholarship Teaching and Service Valuable advice is provided on such topics as choosing and landing an academic job setting up and managing the lab obtaining funds organizing writing and publishing your work teaching and mentoring and the promotion and tenure process

Career Opportunities in Clinical Drug Research Rebecca Jane Anderson, 2010 It is simply amazing to me that so many of my industry coworkers stumbled upon their careers in clinical research like I did merely by chance In most cases once those opportunities were presented to us we found fulfilling and successful careers Undoubtedly other eager job seekers would also find this career path attractive If only someone would tell them about it

The Chicago Guide to Landing a Job in Academic Biology C. Ray Chandler, Lorne M. Wolfe, Daniel E. L. Promislow, 2008-09-15 The Chicago Guide to Landing a Job in Academic Biology is an indispensable guide for graduate students and post docs as they enter that domain red in tooth and claw the job market An academic career in the biological sciences typically demands well over a decade of technical training So it s ironic that when a scholar reaches the most critical stage in that career the search for a job following graduate work he or she receives little or no formal preparation Instead students are thrown into the job market with only cursory guidance on how to search for and land a position Now there s help Carefully clearly and with a welcome sense of humor The Chicago Guide to Landing a Job in Academic Biology leads graduate students and postdoctoral fellows through the perils and rewards of their first job search The authors who collectively have for decades mentored students and served on hiring committees have honed their advice in workshops at biology meetings across the country The resulting guide covers everything from how to pack an overnight bag without wrinkling a suit to selecting the right job to apply for in the first place The authors have taken care to make their advice useful to all areas of academic biology from cell biology and molecular genetics to evolution and ecology and they give tips on how applicants can tailor their approaches to different institutions from major research universities to small private colleges With jobs in the sciences ever more difficult to come by The Chicago Guide to Landing a Job in Academic Biology is designed to help students and post docs navigate the tricky terrain of an academic job search from the first year of a graduate program to the final negotiations of a job offer

Survival Skills For Scientists Federico Rosei,Tudor Wyatt Johnston,2006-07-17 This book provides young scientists from physicists through to sociologists the counsel and tools that are needed to be their own agents and planners to survive and succeed hopefully even thrive in science Making a good career based on peer reviewed science means navigating many stressful phases from graduate school through to permanent employment Performing artists pay agents to help them in this effort In effect this book is designed to allow you to act as your own agent You are counseled to analyze yourself deeply to know clearly what you want and whether you can live with it how to make career choices and what you should then keep in mind when to fight and when to yield The unwritten rules of the science game are explained including how to become published and known the pitfalls of peer review and how to evade them papers and posters job interviews and getting your science funded Interspersed with this are illustrative anecdotes and a fair amount of humor While the book is aimed at young scientists from graduate students and beyond more senior scientists will benefit from seeing the world from the point of view of rising scientists and become aware of the preoccupations of people in a system which has changed much from when the present senior scientists were rather younger a

Survive and Thrive Wendy

Crone,2022-05-31 The experience of an untenured faculty member is highly dependent on the quality of the mentoring they receive This mentoring may come from a number of different sources and the concept of developing a constellation of mentors is highly recommended but a mentoring relationship that is guided by the mentee s needs will be the most productive Often however the mentee does not know their own needs what questions to ask and what topics they should discuss with a mentor This book provides a guide to the mentoring process for untenured faculty Perspectives are provided and questions posed on topics ranging from establishing scholarly expertise and developing professional networks to personal health and balancing responsibilities The questions posed are not intended for the mentee to answer in isolation rather a junior faculty member should approach these questions throughout their untenured years with the help of their mentors Survive and Thrive A Guide for Untenured Faculty will help to facilitate the mentoring process and lead junior faculty to a path where they can move beyond just surviving and truly thrive in their position Table of Contents Tough Questions About Why You Are Here Joining Your Department and Discipline Establishing Expertise Developing Networks Relationships and Mentoring Activities Getting Support and Evaluating Your Personal Health Planning for the Future Conclusion
