Incomplete Streets Stephen Zavestoski, Julian Agyeman, 2014-08-27 The Complete Streets concept and movement in urban planning and policy has been hailed by many as a revolution that aims to challenge the auto normative paradigm by reversing the broader effects of an urban form shaped by the logic of keeping automobiles moving By enabling safe access for all users Complete Streets promise to make cities more walkable and livable and at the same time more sustainable This book problematizes the Complete Streets concept by suggesting that streets should not be thought of as merely physical spaces but as symbolic and social spaces When important social and symbolic narratives are missing from the discourse and practice of Complete Streets what actually results are incomplete streets The volume questions whether the ways in which complete streets narratives policies plans and efforts are envisioned and implemented might be systematically reproducing many of the urban spatial and social inequalities and injustices that have characterized cities for the last century or more From critiques of a mobility bias rooted in the neoliberal foundations of the Complete Streets concept to concerns about resulting environmental gentrification the chapters in Incomplete Streets variously call for planning processes that give voice to the historically marginalized and more broadly that approach streets as dynamic fluid and public social places This interdisciplinary book is aimed at students researchers and professionals in the fields of urban UKTET HPTET BTET PTET and other STET Exam Chinese Migrants and Africa's Development Doctor Ben Lampert, Doctor May Tan-Mullins, Daphne Chang, Giles Mohan, 2014-06-12 China's recent stepping up of relations with Africa is one of the most significant developments on the African continent for decades. For some it promises an end to Africa's dependent aid relationships as the Chinese bring expertise, technology and a stronger business focus. But for others it is no more than a new form of imperialism. This book is the first to systematically study the motivations, relationships and impact of this migration. It focuses not just on the Chinese migrants but also on the perceptions of and linkages to their African hosts. By studying this everyday interaction we get a much richer picture of whether this is South-South cooperation as political leaders would have us believe or a more complex relationship that can both compromise and encourage African development.

Sociology in Today's World Brian Furze, Cengage Learning Australia, Pauline Savy, 2014. Sociology in Today's World explores why sociology is important and relevant to everyday life. It comprehensively covers key aspects and current issues in Australian and New Zealand society whilst emphasising the importance of diversity and a global perspective.

Putin Redux Richard Sakwa, 2014-05-23 This book builds on the strengths of the previous volumes by the same author to provide the most detailed and nuanced account of the man his politics and his profound influence on Russian politics foreign policy and society However this is not a new edition of the earlier books but is an entirely new work The focus now is on the dilemmas of power since 2008 There is a brief biographical sketch of Vladimir Putin and much analysis of his ideas and policies but the book now focuses on the systemic contradictions that have created a blockage on modernisation and a stalemate in politics Putin s role as Prime Minister since 2008 and his political successes and failures analysis of the implications of Putin s third term as President and the 2011 12 electoral cycle and the ensuing crisis which led to thousands protesting on the streets This work assesses the achievements and failing of Putin s rule but above all tries to make sense of contemporary developments This is the definitive account of Putin and is essential reading for all scholars and students of Russian politics *Bullsh*t Comparisons* Andrew Brooks, 2024-03-28 Life is complicated comparisons are easy We consume enormous quantities of information every day from sources that are reliable and those less trustworthy including journalists politicians friends and social media One of the most commons tools we use to communicate is comparison Are we suffering a hurricane of migrants Do dogs look like their owners Is Oxford better than Harvard Metaphors models and metrics are used to compare anything from schools to wars to iconic people But how helpful are they What truths do they hide and what bullsh t do comparisons propagate Looking across a fascinating range of situations both familiar and unfamiliar serious and light hearted Bullsh t Comparisons is a ground breaking guide to the role of could be true but misleading comparisons It is Essential Work, Disposable Workers Mostafa Henaway, 2023-07-20T00:00:00Z Across the world we are witnessing daily the lethal effects of a rapid and scary hardening of borders ignited and justified by manufactured fear and scarcity In such conditions highly exploitative ideas of managed migration are presented as reasonable and just And temporary worker programs championed by countries like Canada and the US are presented as an acceptable response to both acute labour shortages and ugly nationalist feelings For this all workers pay the price in the form of dwindling rights and diminished solidarity This book is the result of decades of thinking organizing and deep research on the global struggle for equality and freedom in and against an increasingly walled world Through this immediate and up close account Henaway takes the reader on a journey across a familiar consumer landscape of corporate power from Amazon and Dollarama to chicken farms and late night rideshares offering a vivid analysis of the consequences of a system built to marginalize exploit and divide people through the creation of exclusionary categories of belonging In Essential Work Disposable Workers Henaway offers a counter proposal to the global border arguing that we reject control over freedom of movement as a means to halt a race to the bottom for all working people and instead build solidarity across struggles for decent work and justice In this moving account of a global system of hyper exploitation Henaway weaves stories of struggle with his own on the ground experience and expansive research to explain the workings of a global system of managed precarity that affects everyone who works albeit unequally Written with the unique verve and insight of a committed scholar and decades long grassroots organizer Essential Work Disposable Workers offers a vivid analysis to help us grasp the cruel consequences of borders and points to an alternative future

Food Tourism and Regional Development C. Michael Hall, Stefan Gössling, 2016-05-26

Food tourism is a topic of increasing importance for many destinations. Seen as a means to potentially attract tourists and differentiate destinations and attractions by means of the association with particular products and cuisines, food is also regarded as an opportunity to generate added value from tourism through local agricultural systems and supply chains and the local food system. From a regional development perspective, this book goes beyond culinary tourism to also look at some of the ways in which the interrelationships between food and tourism contribute to the economic, environmental and social wellbeing of destinations, communities and producers. It examines the way in which tourism and food can mutually add value for each other from the fork to the plate and beyond. Looking at products (e.g. cheese, craft beer, noodles, wine), attractions, restaurants and events, and diverse regional examples (e.g. Champagne, Hong Kong, Jamaica, Margaret River, southern Sweden, and Tuscany), the title highlights how clustering, networking and the cultural economy of food and tourism, and foodscapes, adds value for regions. Despite the attention given to food, wine and culinary tourism, no book has previously directly focused on the contribution of food and tourism in regional development. This international collection has contributors and examples from almost every continent and provides a comprehensive account of the various intersections between food, tourism and regional development. This timely and significant volume will inform future food and tourism development, as well as regional development more widely, and will be valuable reading for a range of disciplines including tourism development studies, food and culinary studies, regional studies, geography and environmental studies.

Gendered Migrations and Global Social Reproduction E. Kofman, P. Raghuram, 2015-03-24 Eleonore Kofman and Parvati Raghuram argue for the benefits of social reproduction as a lens through which to understand gendered transformations in global migration. They highlight the range of sites, sectors and skills in which migrants are employed and how migration is both a cause and an outcome of depletion in social reproduction.

Knowledge Borders Kathrine E. Richardson, 2017-04-28 Key sections of the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) deal with temporary labor mobility. Ideally, NAFTA status provisions should make the temporary movement of professionals easier across the border of all NAFTA countries. However, in the case of some key sectors, it is arguably not the case. Within the context of recent literature on cross-border trade, city regions, regionalism, international labor mobility and post-September 11 security measures, this book probes the dynamics of transitory immigration of knowledge workers between the North American west coast city regions of Vancouver, Seattle and the greater San Francisco Bay and Silicon Valley area. This book includes in-depth interviews with Canadian and US immigration officials, immigration attorneys and executives, and professional staff of new technology firms and Fortune 500 companies. It ultimately explores whether or not the Canada-US border is an impediment to the development of a cross-border high-tech clusters.

Class and Everyday Life Kirsteen Paton, 2023-11-28 Exploring the issues of class through in-depth studies of housing, sport, art, music and politics in Britain, Class and Everyday Life persuasively demonstrates the pervasive influence of class on everyday life and the need to centre a radical understanding of class within emancipatory political movements. The need for a more expansive understanding of class is politically urgent There is a disconnect between descriptive and analytical approaches to class and the politics of class and realities around how class is lived Discourse has been shaped by top down frameworks of analysis and measurements which have stripped the study of class of its political radicalism This book makes the case for a sociology of class which is informed by a politics of class based upon using the everyday as the point of enquiry It presents a sociology of class from the bottom up which focuses on everyday life and the point at which class is made and remade In doing so it advocates for an attentiveness to class and everyday life through a conjunctural analysis Using an everyday lens this book examines how the shifting conjunctures manifest in everyday spaces in classed ways and how such changes are negotiated resisted and shape the working class subject and communities This is based upon an understanding of everyday classed experiences which identifies and challenges inequalities while also recognising value and hope This perspective aims to offer a recognition of both the opportunities and challenges of class as a way of developing a stronger more politicised understanding of class which takes solidarity and class community power seriously to resist inequality and develop emancipatory politics This urgent and impassioned book will be essential reading for students academics and activists with an interest in the lived experience of class in Britain today
