Chinese Colonial Entanglements Julia T. Martínez, Claire Lowrie, Gregor Benton, 2024-07-31 Chinese Colonial Entanglements takes a new geographical approach to understanding the Chinese diaspora shining a light on Chinese engagement in labor trade and industry in the British colonies of the southern Asia Pacific Starting from the 1880s a decade when British colonization was rapidly expanding and establishing new industries and townships this volume covers the period up to 1950 including the 1930s when economic competition saw new racialized immigration restrictions and the 1940s when Chinese traders found new opportunities The editors Julia T Martínez Claire Lowrie and Gregor Benton bring together nine historians of Chinese diaspora in an effort to break down the boundaries of traditional area studies Collectively the chapters offer fresh comparative and transnational perspectives on economic entanglements across a region bounded by the Malay archipelago Australia New Zealand and the islands of the western Pacific Histories of white settler colonies such as Australia have tended to view Chinese diasporic experiences through the lens of exclusionary politics and closed borders This book challenges such interpretations bringing to the fore Chinese economic endeavors that connected Australia with Southeast Asia and the Pacific The volume begins with an introduction that makes the case for a regional approach to Chinese diaspora history This is followed by chapters on colonial commodity production where Chinese traders and workers were central to the development of colonial banana phosphate and furniture industries These industries reflect the diversity of Chinese roles from small business owners to indentured workers for British colonial enterprise The book then explores the economic activities of Chinese business elite from revenue farming to intercolonial trading and rural retail It points to colonial restrictions on business development and explains how Chinese enterprises sought to overcome restrictions through relationships with colonial leaders and by mobilizing Chinese family and transnational business networks in case studies from British North Borneo Australia and Samoa Relying on diverse sources including archival correspondence Chinese language newspapers personal letters and oral histories the authors reveal the importance of social familial and political connections in shaping the relationships between the colonial authorities and Chinese workers and traders Nuclear Science Abstracts, 1967 Resources in Education, 1994 Congressional Record United States. Congress, 1971 The Amateur Hour Jonathan Zimmerman, 2020-10-27 The first full length history of college teaching in the United States from the nineteenth century to the present this book sheds new light on the ongoing tension between the modern scholarly ideal scientific objective and dispassionate and the inevitably subjective nature of day to day instruction American college teaching is in crisis or so we are told But we've heard that complaint for the past 150 years as critics have denounced the poor quality of instruction in undergraduate classrooms Students daydream in gigantic lecture halls while a professor drones on or they meet with a teaching assistant for an hour of aimless discussion The modern university does not reward teaching so faculty members at every level neglect it in favor of research and publication In the first book length history of American college teaching Jonathan Zimmerman confirms but also contradicts these perennial complaints Drawing upon a wide range of previously unexamined sources The Amateur Hour shows how generations of undergraduates indicted the weak instruction they received But Zimmerman also chronicles institutional efforts to improve it especially by making teaching more personal As higher education grew into a gigantic industry he writes American colleges and universities introduced small group activities and other reforms designed to counter the anonymity of mass instruction They also experimented with new technologies like television and computers which promised to personalize teaching by tailoring it to the individual interests and abilities of each student But Zimmerman reveals the emphasis on the personal inhibited the professionalization of college teaching which remains ultimately an amateur enterprise The more that Americans treated teaching as a highly personal endeavor dependent on the idiosyncrasies of the instructor the less they could develop shared standards for it Nor have they rigorously documented college instruction a highly public activity which has taken place mostly in private Pushing open the classroom door The Amateur Hour illuminates American college teaching and frames a fresh case for restoring intimate learning communities especially for America s least privileged students Anyone who wants to change college teaching will have to start here
