Defense Appropriations United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on Department of Defense, 2007 Space, Number, and Geometry from Helmholtz to Cassirer Francesca Biagioli, 2016-08-22 This book offers a reconstruction of the debate on non-Euclidean geometry in neo-Kantianism between the second half of the nineteenth century and the first decades of the twentieth century Kant famously characterized space and time as a priori forms of intuitions which lie at the foundation of mathematical knowledge The success of his philosophical account of space was due not least to the fact that Euclidean geometry was widely considered to be a model of certainty at his time However such later scientific developments as non-Euclidean geometries and Einstein's general theory of relativity called into question the certainty of Euclidean geometry and posed the problem of reconsidering space as an open question for empirical research. The transformation of the concept of space from a source of knowledge to an object of research can be traced back to a tradition which includes such mathematicians as Carl Friedrich Gauss, Bernhard Riemann, Richard Dedekind, Felix Klein and Henri Poincaré and which finds one of its clearest expressions in Hermann von Helmholtz's epistemological works. Although Helmholtz formulated compelling objections to Kant, the author reconsiders different strategies for a philosophical account of the same transformation from a neo-Kantian perspective and especially Hermann Cohen's account of the apriority of mathematics in terms of applicability and Ernst Cassirer's reformulation of the a priori of space in terms of a system of hypotheses. This book is ideal for students, scholars and researchers who wish to broaden their knowledge of non-Euclidean geometry or neo-Kantianism.

Slyer, 2014-11-12 Print CourseSmart The Russian Economy and Foreign Direct Investment Kari Liuhto, Sergei Sutyurin, Jean-Marc F. Blanchard, 2016-11-10 Before the recent Ukrainian crisis, Russia was one of the main sources of foreign direct investment (FDI) outflow and one of the main targets of FDI inflow in the world. However, the events in Ukraine, the formation of the Eurasian Economic Union and China's growing interest in the Russian market and its natural resources have changed the picture completely. This new book brings together an international group of contributors to present a timely and comprehensive analysis of FDI to and from Russia. The book assesses the impact of the changed international political situation on foreign firms operating in Russia and explores how the new world context has affected Russian investments abroad. The book also considers the future relationship between Russian corporations and the EU and the USA in light of recent events. This book answers an array of key questions including how have investments from and to Russia developed in the last 100 years, how are Russian businesses spreading to foreign countries through their indirect investments and how is the Russian Government influencing the investments of Russian businesses abroad. This volume is of great interest to those who study international economics, modern world economy and FDI as well as those interested in international investment movements and the changing role of Russia in international business and the global economy.

inclusion Joseph Mintz, Brahm Norwich, 2023-12-13 There has been considerable interest internationally in how research can be effectively translated to have an impact on practice in schools The application of evidence informed approaches in the field of education is contested and debated Such debates are intensified in relation to the issue of how best to include children with diverse learning needs in the classroom The role of knowledge science and evidence in how we both conceptualize and best support children with special educational needs and other forms of diversity in the classroom remains an open question in terms of both policy and practice Although there is a considerable and growing body of literature on evidence informed practice in education in general there has been less attention paid to its implications for the domain of educational inclusion specifically However tensions between differing conceptualisations of difference and the role of categorisation present questions as yet not fully answered as to the ways in which evidence can and should articulate with practice in this specific domain For example issues of what is inclusion the place of norms and values that define inclusion how we conceptualize and think about difference across culture language and cognition are raised when we think about the application of evidence to practice in the area of educational inclusion

Power Density Vaclav Smil, 2016-09-02 The first systematic quantitative appraisal of power density offering detailed reviews of power densities of renewable energy flows fossil fuels and all common energy uses There is no author whose books I look forward to more than Vaclav Smil Bill Gates In this book Vaclav Smil argues that power density is a key determinant of the nature and dynamics of energy systems Any understanding of complex energy systems must rely on quantitative measures of many fundamental variables Power density the rate of energy flux per unit of area is an important but largely overlooked measure Smil provides the first systematic quantitative appraisal of power density offering detailed reviews of the power densities of renewable energy flows fossil fuels thermal electricity generation and all common energy uses Smil shows that careful quantification critical appraisals and revealing comparisons of power densities make possible a deeper understanding of the ways we harness convert and use energies Conscientious assessment of power densities he argues proves particularly revealing when contrasting the fossil fuel based energy system with renewable energy conversions Smil explains that modern civilization has evolved as a direct expression of the high power densities of fossil fuel extraction He argues that our inevitable and desirable move to new energy arrangements involving conversions of lower density renewable energy sources will require our society currently dominated by megacities and concentrated industrial production to undergo a profound spatial restructuring of its energy system
