Being Alive Essays On Movement Knowledge And Description:

Being Alive Tim Ingold, 2011-04-19 Anthropology is a disciplined inquiry into the conditions and potentials of human life. Generations of theorists however have expunged life from their accounts treating it as the mere output of patterns, codes, structures or systems variously defined as genetic or cultural, natural or social. Building on his classic work The Perception of the Environment, Tim Ingold sets out to restore life to where it should belong at the heart of anthropological concern. Being Alive ranges over such themes as the vitality of materials, what it means to make things, the perception and formation of the ground, the mingling of earth and sky in the weather world, the experiences of light, sound and feeling, the role of storytelling in the integration of knowledge and the potential of drawing to unite observation and description. Our humanity, Ingold argues, does not come ready made but is continually fashioned in our movements along ways of life. Starting from the idea of life as a process of wayfaring, Ingold presents a radically new understanding of movement, knowledge and description as dimensions not just of being in the world but of being alive to what is going on there. Being Alive TIMOTHY.

Breaking the Surface Douglass Whitfield Bailey, 2018 In Breaking the Surface, Doug Bailey offers a radical alternative for understanding Neolithic houses, providing much needed insight not just into prehistoric practice but into another way of doing archaeology. Using his years of fieldwork experience excavating the early Neolithic pit houses of southeastern Europe, Bailey exposes and elucidates a previously under-theorized aspect of prehistoric pit construction: the actions and consequences of digging defined as breaking the surface of the ground. Breaking the Surface works through the consequences of this redefinition in order to redirect scholarship on the excavation and interpretation of pit houses in Neolithic Europe, offering detailed critiques of current interpretations of these earliest European architectural constructions.

The work of the book is performed by juxtaposing richly detailed discussions of archaeological sites Etton and The Wilsford Shaft in the UK and Magura in Romania with the work of three artists who cut Ron Athey Gordon Matta Clark Lucio Fontana with deep and detailed examinations of the philosophy of holes the perceptual psychology of shapes and the linguistic anthropology of cutting and breaking words as well as with cultural diversity in framing spatial reference and through an examination of pre modern ungrounded ways of living Breaking the Surface is as much a creative act on its own in its mixture of work from disparate periods and regions its use of radical text interruption and its juxtaposition of text and imagery as it is an interpretive statement about prehistoric architecture Unflinching and exhilarating it is a major development in the growing subdiscipline of art archaeology Good Practices / Best Practices: A Manifesto for Academic Design Education and Research on Creative Practice Carl Bourgeois, Karen Maex, Kris Scheerlinck, Yves Schoonjans, Margarita Greene, Chris Van Keer, Liesbeth Huybrechts, Hilde Heynen, Richard Blythe, Johan Verbeke, Frank van der Hoeven, Guy Van Kerckhoven, 2012-11-12 Liquid Democracy Yu-Shan Tseng, 2025-02-25 This timely book carefully interrogates the increasingly fraught intersections of the digital the city and democracy It is a book that will endure bristling as it is with thoughtful reflection and insight on the democratic challenges that unfold amidst the ordinary troubled and generative digital worlds of cities as different as Madrid Taipei and Helsinki Amidst the work of policymakers activists and engineers what emerges is a hopeful exploration of what digital democracy platforms might enable Professor Colin McFarlane Durham University This vital book moves beyond a universal analysis of the effects of social media platforms on liberal democracy Through an in depth examination of civic platforms in Finland Spain and Taiwan Tseng provides a compelling and nuanced empirical and theoretical analysis of the contingent relationship between platforms place and democracy Professor Rob Kitchin Maynooth University Reimagining Democracy in the Digital and Urban Age How can democracy adapt and thrive in a world reshaped by artificial intelligence and digital platforms In Liquid Democracy author Yu Shan Tseng offers a bold new framework for understanding democracy as a dynamic fluid process Challenging the idea that AI and digital tools are inherently anti democratic this innovative volume bridges theory and practice to investigate various liquid conditions a novel concept capturing how political action flows and transforms like water within the intersections of urban spaces and digital technologies Through an in depth comparative study of three groundbreaking digital democracy platforms Decide Madrid in Madrid OmaStadi in Helsinki and vTaiwan in Taipei Tseng explores how digital platforms can foster participatory governance pluralism and alternative democratic futures In depth chapters critically examine the interactions between humans algorithms and urban systems revealing how digital tools reconfigure the boundaries of political participation decision making and collective action Throughout the text Tseng offers fresh insights into how democracy emerges under contingent conditions shaped by technology and geography Drawing from years of ethnographic fieldwork Liquid Democracy is essential reading for master s and PhD students in geography political science

Nomadic and Indigenous Spaces Judith Miggelbrink, Joachim Otto Habeck, Nuccio Mazzullo, Peter Koch, 2016-05-06 This volume is devoted to aspects of space that have thus far been largely unexplored How space is perceived and cognised has been discussed from different stances but there are few analyses of nomadic approaches to spatiality Nor is there a sufficient number of studies on indigenous interpretations of space despite the importance of territory and place in definitions of indigeneity At the intersection of geography and anthropology the authors of this volume combine general reflections on spatiality with case studies from the Circumpolar North and other nomadic settings Spatial perceptions and practices have been profoundly transformed by new technologies as well as by new modes of social and political interaction How do these changes play out in the everyday lives identifications and political projects of nomadic and indigenous people This question has been broached from two seemingly divergent stances spatial cognition on the one hand and production of space on the other Bringing these two approaches together this volume re aligns the different strings of scholarship on spatiality making them applicable and relevant for indigenous and nomadic conceptualizations of space place and territory

Music Worlding in Palau Birgit Abels, 2025-10-01 Music Worlding in Palau Chanting Atmospheres and Meaningfulness is a detailed study of the performing arts in Palau Micronesia as holistic techniques enabling the experiential corporeality of music s meaningfulness that distinctly musical way of making sense of the world with which the felt body immediately resonates but which to a significant extent escapes interpretive techniques Drawing on long term ethnographic research alongside Pacific Islander and neo phenomenological conceptual frameworks Music Worlding in Palau distinguishes between meaning s and meaningfulness in Palauan music making These are not binary phenomena but deeply intertwined However unlike meaning s meaningfulness to a significant extent suspends language and is thus often prematurely considered ineffable The book proposes a broader understanding of how the performing arts give rise to a sense of meaningfulness whose felt bodily affectivity is pivotal to music making and lived realities Music Worlding in Palau thus seeks to draw the reader closer to the holistic complexity of music making both in Palau and more generally

Prayers for the People Rebecca Louise Carter, 2019-07-05 Grieve well and you grow stronger Anthropologist Rebecca Louise Carter heard this wisdom over and over while living in post Katrina New Orleans where everyday violence disproportionately affects Black communities What does it mean to grieve well How does mourning strengthen survivors in the face of ongoing threats to Black life Inspired by ministers and guided by grieving mothers who hold birthday parties for their deceased sons Prayers for the People traces the emergence of a powerful new African American religious ideal at the intersection of urban life death and social and spiritual change Carter frames this sensitive ethnography within the complex history of structural violence in America from the legacies of slavery to free but unequal citizenship from mass incarceration and overpolicing to social abandonment and the unequal distribution of goods and services And yet Carter offers a vision of restorative kinship by which communities of faith work against the denial of Black personhood as well as the violent severing of social and familial bonds A timely directive for human relations during a contentious time in America s history Prayers for the People is also a hopeful vision of what an inclusive nonviolent and just urban society could be

Past Mobilities Jim Leary, 2016-05-13 The new mobilities paradigm has yet to have the same impact on archaeology as it has in other disciplines in the social sciences on geography sociology and anthropology in particular yet mobility is fundamental to archaeology all people move Moving away from archaeology s traditional focus upon place or location this volume treats mobility as a central theme in archaeology The chapters are wide ranging and methodological as well as theoretical focusing on the flows of people ideas objects and information in the past they also focus on archaeology s distinctiveness Drawing on a wealth of archaeological evidence for movement from paths monuments rock art and boats to skeletal and DNA evidence Past Mobilities presents research from a range of examples from around the world to explore the relationship between archaeology and movement thus adding an archaeological voice to the broader mobilities discussion As such it will be of interest not only to archaeologists and historians but also to sociologists geographers and anthropologists

Urban Displacement and Trade in a Senegalese Market Gunvor Jónsson, 2024-03-07 The Malian market at the railway terminus in Dakar was bulldozed in 2009 and following privatisation of the railway passenger services in Senegal soon ceased altogether The consequences were felt especially by women traders who had travelled the line since its inauguration making the terminus in Dakar the centre of a thriving network of traders and migrants To examine the fates of those whose livelihoods were destroyed or disrupted Gunvor J nsson spent a year with the women evicted from the terminus Urban Displacement and Trade in a Senegalese Market explores what happens at the end of urban displacement when it is all over so to speak when the dust has settled and people find themselves scattered in sometimes unfamiliar surroundings trying to pick up the pieces and create something meaningful This book argues that rupture and ensuing displacement do not produce a clean slate where identities networks and histories must be produced from scratch Traders and their markets do not simply vanish into thin air when they are evicted The book examines not only what is lost but what emerges when a dense node such as the terminus is dissolved and fragmented The ethnography of the traders reveals that the aftermath of eviction in cities may lead to diasporic forms of consciousness and identity formations Displacement whether on a local or global scale demands difficult adjustments and people s capacities to adapt to new circumstances and environments vary This book uncovers some of these different capacities and variations in traders reactions to displacement Praise for Urban Displacement and Trade in a Senegalese Market J nsson s book is a masterful study of the aftermath of displacement in a major African city Through deep ethnographic engagement the book shows how displacement is about more than leaving a place it is also about how people rebuild livelihoods and how the space left behind continues to haunt their imagination of a meaningful life H l ne Neveu Kringelbach UCL This book is an inspiring tribute to the Malian women traders of Senegal Emptied out from their old market stalls by a vainglorious development scheme they bravely regrouped to recover their livelihoods and protect their families Gunvor J nsson challenges the idea that displacement only involves refugees Instead she creatively marries studies of migration and urbanization providing fresh insights to both fields Robin Cohen University of Oxford

Tracking the Neolithic House in Europe Daniela Hofmann, Jessica Smyth, 2012-12-09 The Neolithic period is noted primarily for the change from hunter gatherer societies to agriculture domestication and sedentism This change has been studied in the past by archaeologists observing the movements of plants animals and people But has not been examined by looking at the domestic architecture of the time Along with tracking the movement of sedentism Neolithic houses are also able to show researchers the beginnings of cultural identity group representation through the construction and decoration of these structures Additionally as agriculture moved west and north in this era the architecture and material culture shows this change and its significance Chapters are arranged chronologically so that authors can address differences and similarities of their region to neighboring ones To ensure continuity authors have framed the chapters around the following considerations construction materials and architectural characteristics how houses facilitated or perpetua
