

Current Event Project

"The whole past is the procession of the present."

Thomas Carlyle

One of the major goals of a history class is to equip you with the skills to analyze what is happening today, before it becomes history. Thus, you must know what is happening in the world around you, on a local, state, national, and international level. Each of you will be required to prepare and present one current event each semester. We will kept up to date and informed by one another. Current event presentations will be made in the beginning of class Wednesday and Thursday of every week.

Your current event article must come from either a newspaper, news magazine (TIME, Newsweek, National Geographic), or a reputable internet news source. Remember, an acceptable article must relate to current problems, issues, or programs that deal with our society or global matters that are appropriate for school. Entertainment or sports news is not acceptable.

PROJECT REQUIREMENTS:

You will compose a current event paper that you will present to the class on the date assigned to you. Your current event paper should be 2 typed pages, double-spaced, size 12-font with standard margins. It should be divided into two parts.

Section 1: What happened?

- Start with a general topic sentence that includes the topic of the article.
 - Example: The Los Angeles Times article "Marines in Afghanistan prepared for a long haul" describes/explains/comments on...
