Women and Sharia Law in Northern Indonesia Dina Afrianty, 2015-05-01 This book examines the life of women in the Indonesian province of Aceh where Islamic law was introduced in 1999 It outlines how women have had to face the formalisation of conservative understandings of sharia law in regulations and new state institutions over the last decade or so how they have responded to this forming non governmental organisations NGOs that have shaped local discourse on women s rights equality and status in Islam and how these NGOs have strategised demanded reform and enabled Acehnese women to take active roles in influencing the processes of democratisation and Islamisation that are shaping the province The book shows that although the formal introduction of Islamic law in Aceh has placed restrictions on women s freedom paradoxically it has not prevented them from engaging in public life It argues that the democratisation of Indonesia which allowed Islamisation to occur continues to act as an important factor shaping Islamisation s current trajectory that the introduction of Islamic law has motivated women s NGOs and other elements of civil society to become more involved in wider discussions about the future of sharia in Aceh and that Indonesia s recent decentralisation policy and growing local Islamism have enabled the emergence of different religious and local adat practices which do not necessarily correspond to overall national trends occupied a special place in the Western imagination Indonesia home to a peaceful version of Islam offered a reassuring counter model to a rowdy and accusatory Arab Islam Since 1999 however confrontations between Christians and Muslims in the Moluccas excesses of vigilantism in Sulawesi and especially the Bali and Jakarta bombings have shattered these simplistic stereotypes For many terrorism experts often self proclaimed Indonesia s mutation confirmed the hackneyed thesis that equated obscurantism with Islam and saw violent outbreaks as an inevitable consequence The Oxford Companion to Pakistani History Ayesha Jalal,2012 Insofar as history is constantly in the process of being reconfigured in the light of new processes and challenges any Companion to the history of Pakistan cannot but be an ongoing if not obviously an open ended enterprise The historiography of Pakistan has been missing such a comprehensive survey of not only sixty five years of the country s existence but also of the movement preceding its creation Pakistan possesses a rich and varied history considering that it was carved out of the Indian subcontinent one of the world s oldest civilizations hence the prevailing geographical religious ethnic linguistic and cultural diversities and complexities The Oxford Companion to Pakistani History has attempted to provide the reader with information on as colourful a spectrum of subjects as possible This is the first time that all facets of Pakistani history have been covered in one encyclopaedic volume A wide range of topics have been discussed from the pre Partition colonial period to post Partition movements religious political cultural etc peoples and places culture architecture politics military economics linguistics archaeology judiciary art theatre education foreign relations government media philanthropy civil society and several others The Companion differs from other encyclopaedias in the sense that all entries have been written in an analytical unbiased style by well known experts in the related field of the topic paying the keenest attention to factual details A system of cross referencing is available through insertion of asterisks within the text linking the entry to another headword that may appear while reading a particular entry Maps of Pakistan and the Indian subcontinent along with a Subject Index are provided at the end of the volume All these steps have been taken to render the Companion as user friendly as possible Publisher s description page 4 of dust jacket The Madrasa in Asia Farish A. Noor,Yoginder Sikand,Martin van Bruinessen,2008 Summary Since the rise of the Taliban and Al Qaeda the traditional Islamic schools known as the madrasa have frequently been portrayed as hotbeds of terrorism For much longer the madrasa has been considered by some as a backward and petrified impediment to social progress However for an important segment of the poor Muslim populations of Asia madrasas constitute the only accessible form of education This volume presents an overview of the madrasas in countries such as China Indonesia Malaysia India and Pakistan Publisher description Islam and Society Mujibul Hasan Siddiqui,2020-01-01 An Abrahamic monotheistic religion teaching that there is only one God Allah and that Muhammad is a messenger of God Islam is the world s second largest religion with nearly two billion followers It teaches that God is merciful all powerful and unique and has guided mankind through prophets revealed scriptures and natural signs Islam and Islamic society are widely debated time and again on several fora Amidst the plethora of literature on the theme this book focuses on Islamic society from various perspectives Consisting of fifteen well researched papers authored by different scholars of repute this book furnishes vital information on diverse aspects walks of society e g religion education family and marriage women politics terrorism human rights and reforms and revival from Islamic point of view Definitely this will prove a vade mecum to one and all concerned The Wilopo Cabinet, 1952-1953 Herbert Feith, 2009-04 The Wilopo Cabinet was something of a watershed in post revolutionary Indonesian politics During its fourteen months of existence important changes developed in the constellation of political power among the major political parties the President and the army And within one of the major parties there occurred a shift in the relative strength of leadership groups of such importance as to bring about significant changes in the party's political posture and in its relationship with several of the other parties It was during this period that cabinet government was seriously undermined and parliament lost much of its prestige and power and it was during these fourteen months that were set in train many of the developments which have dominated Indonesian political life in the last few years The key political events of this period are complex and confusing and have generally been but imperfectly understood outside of Indonesia Yet failure to understand them can result in more than inability to understand the period itself It will also make difficult any full and sound comprehension of the important developments of the past few years Herbert Feith in my judgment has probed much further into the events of this period than any other non Indonesian scholar He has searched out a great deal of significant new data which he has analyzed with tools sharpened by long residence and research in Indonesia interviews with many knowledgeable Indonesians and a full mastery of the Indonesian language I believe he has presented as clear a picture of an important period of Indonesian history and of its shaping of subsequent events as is likely to emerge for some time

George McT Kahin ABOUT THE AUTHOR Herbert Feith 1930-2001 became familiar with Indonesia during 1951-53 and 1954-56 when he was an English Language Assistant with the Ministry of Information of the Republic of Indonesia A citizen of Australia he received an M A degree from the University of Melbourne in 1955 and a Ph D from Cornell University in 1961 He was a Research Fellow in the Department of Pacific History Australian National University from 1960 to 1962 and was Chair of Politics at Monash University from 1968 until 1974

Islam and Nationalism in India M.T. Ansari, 2015-10-30 Islam in India as elsewhere continues to be seen as a remainder in its refusal to conform to national and international secular modern norms Such a general perception has also had a tremendous impact on the Muslims of the Indian subcontinent who as individuals and communities have been shaped and transformed over centuries of socio political and historical processes by eroding their world view and steadily erasing their life worlds This book traces the spectral presence of Islam across narratives to note that difference and diversity demographic as well as cultural can be espoused rather than excised or exorcized Focusing on Malabar home to the Mappila Muslim community in Kerala South India and drawing mostly on Malayalam sources the author investigates the question of Islam from various angles by constituting an archive comprising popular administrative academic and literary discourses The author contends that an uncritical insistence on unity has led to a formation in which minor subjects embody an excess of identity in contrast to the Hindu citizen whose identity seemingly coincides with the national This has led to Muslims being the source of a deep seated anxiety for secular nationalism and the targets of a resurgent Hindutva in that they expose the fault lines of a geographically and socio culturally unified nation An interdisciplinary study of Islam in India from the South Indian context this book will be of interest to scholars of modern Indian history political science literary and cultural studies and Islamic studies
