and then changed over time This enables new ways of envisioning how cities must be conceived and adapted in the future to the dual conditions of rapid urbanisation and economic restructuring coupled with unpredictable environmental conditions due to climate change With its emphasis on both urban design and the ecological this book brings together key articles that point the way forward for reconciling the often conflicting concerns of urbanism and environmentalism Twenty three texts are organised into four distinct sections covering metropolitan architecture the sprawling megalopolis the megacity and the recently emerging metacity These are broadly chronological and highlight the recent thinking behind some of the key urban developments ranging from the art of traditional city making covered by European architects and historians in the late 20th century to contemporary Tokyo described by Atelier Bow Wow Features original texts from Reyner Banham Rem Koolhaas Aldo Rossi Colin Rowe David Grahame Shane Bernard Tschumi Oswald Mathias Ungers and Robert Venturi Denise Scott Brown and Steven Izenour Contains newly commissioned texts from Mary Cadenasso Sharon Haar and Victoria Marshall Carlos Leite Steward TA Pickett and Albert Pope Includes new translations of important essays by Vittorio Gregotti and Paola Vigan Topics range from the European historic city to the Las Vegas Strip and the megacity of S o Paulo taking in the global sustainable city

Rich in oil and strategically located between Russia and China Kazakhstan is one of the most economically and geopolitically important of the so called Newly Independent States that emerged after the USSR s collapse Yet little is known in the West about the region s turbulent history under Soviet rule particularly how the regime asserted colonial dominion over the Kazakhs and other ethnic minorities Grappling directly with the issue of Soviet colonialism Curative Powers offers an in depth exploration of this dramatic bloody and transformative era in Kazakhstan s history Paula Michaels reconstructs the Soviet government s use of medical and public health policies to change the society politics and culture of its outlying regions At first glance the Soviets drive to modernize medicine in Kazakhstan seems an altruistic effort to improve quality of life Yet as Michaels reveals beneath the surface lies a story of power legitimacy and control The Communist regime used biomedicine to reshape the function self perception and practices of both doctors and patients just as it did through education the arts the military the family and other institutions Paying particular attention to the Kazakhs ethnomedical customs Soviet authorities designed public health initiatives to teach the local populace that their traditional medical practices were backward even dangerous and that they themselves were dirty and diseased Through poster art newsreels public speeches and other forms of propaganda Communist authorities used the power of language to demonstrate Soviet might and undermine the power of local ethnomedical practitioners while moving the region toward what the Soviet state defined as civilization and political enlightenment As Michaels demonstrates Kazakhs responded in unexpected ways to the institutionalization of this new pan Soviet culture Ethnomedical customs surreptitiously lived on despite direct sometimes violent attacks by state authorities While Communist officials hoped to exterminate all remnants of traditional healing practices Michaels points to evidence that suggests the Kazakhs continued to rely on ethnomedicine even as they were utilizing the services of biomedical doctors nurses and midwives The picture that ultimately emerges is much different from what the Soviets must have imagined The disparate medical systems were not in open conflict but instead both indigenous and alien practices worked side by side becoming integrated into daily life Combining colonial and postcolonial theory with intensive archival and ethnographic research Curative Powers offers a detailed view of Soviet medical initiatives and their underlying political and social implications and impact on Kazakh society Michaels also endeavors to link biomedical policies and practices to broader questions of pan Soviet identity formation and colonial control in the non Russian periphery All Rise Louise Ann Fisch,1996 As an emerging power broker in the predominantly Anglo establishment Garza personified the new elite in the Mexican American community and in the Democratic Party The Rese and Growth of the English Nation: with Special Reference to Epochs and Crises W.
