S Like Catcher In The Rye:

Libraries in the Age of Mediocrity Earl Lee, 1998-01-01 I only wish I had your paper before me when I wrote Silicon Snake Oil Clifford Stoll Ultimately says Earl Lee libraries are involved in the quest for truth but conceptualize it in a way very different from most Library professionals pursue a philosophy of inclusion trying to have as many versions of Truth as possible in the hopes that somewhere in the mass of material something meaningful may be found by some discerning reader But in recent years the mass of data has grown to bury truth and defeat the discerning Librarians have lost sight of what is important The uncontrollable mass of data the transformation of the library to an information center the demise of the card catalog the meretriciousness of publishers offerings the dumbing down of textbooks the decision by the Library of Congress to use the OCLC online system exclusively these are all the subjects of thought provoking and unsweetened opinions welcome reminders of the rich tradition of intellectual freedom in the profession

A Queer History of Adolescence

Gabrielle Owen, 2020-12-15 A Queer History of Adolescence reveals categories of age and adolescence specifically as an undeniable and essential mechanism in the production of difference itself Drawing from a dynamic and varied archive including British and American newspapers medical papers and pamphlets and adolescent and children s literature circulating on both sides of the Atlantic Gabrielle Owen argues that adolescence has a logic a way of thinking that emerges over the course of the nineteenth century and that survives in various forms to this day This logic makes the idea of adolescence possible and naturalizes our historically specific ways of conceptualizing time development social hierarchy and the self Rich in intersectional analysis this book offers a multifaceted and historicized theory for categories of age that challenges existing methodologies for studying the people called children and adolescents Rather than offering critique as an end in and of itself A Queer History of Adolescence imagines the world making possibilities that critique enables and in so doing shines a necessary light on the question of relationality in the lived world Owen exposes the profound presence of history in our current moment in order to transform the habits of mind shaping age relations social hierarchy and the politics of identity today

Roberta S. Trites,1998-04-01 The Young Adult novel is ordinarily characterized as a coming of age story in which the narrative revolves around the individual growth and maturation of a character but Roberta Trites expands this notion by chronicling the dynamics of power and repression that weave their way through YA books Characters in these novels must learn to negotiate the levels of power that exist in the myriad social institutions within which they function including family church government and school From Wallflowers to Bulletproof Families Abbye E. Meyer,2022-02-04 Uses of disability in literature are often problematic and harmful to disabled people This is also true of course in children s and young adult literature but interestingly when disability is paired and confused with adolescence in narratives compelling complex arcs often arise In From Wallflowers to Bulletproof Families The Power of Disability in Young Adult Narratives author Abbye E Meyer examines different ways authors use and portray disability in literature She demonstrates how narratives about and for young adults differ from the norm With a distinctive young adult voice based in disability these narratives allow for readings that conflate and complicate both adolescence and disability Throughout Meyer examines common representations of disability and more importantly the ways that young adult narratives expose these tropes and explicitly challenge harmful messages they might otherwise reinforce She illustrates how two dimensional characters allow literary metaphors to work while forcing texts to ignore reality and reinforce the assumption that disability is a problem to be fixed She sifts the freak characters often marked as disabled and she reclaims the derided genre of problem novels arguing they empower disabled characters and introduce the goals of disability rights movements The analysis offered expands to include narratives in other media nonfiction essays and memoirs songs television series films and digital narratives These contemporary works affected by digital media combine elements of literary criticism narrative expression disability theory and political activism to create and represent the solidarity of family like communities

Reconceptualizing the Literacies in Adolescents' Lives Donna E. Alvermann, Kathleen A. Hinchman, David W. Moore, III, David W. Moore, Stephen F. Phelps, Diane R. Waff, 2007-07-10

Reconceptualizing the Literacies in Adolescents Lives Second Edition focuses on exploring the impact of young people's identity making practices in mediating their perceptions of themselves as readers and writers in an era of externally mandated reforms What is different in the Second Edition is its emphasis on the importance of valuing adolescents' perspectives in an era of skyrocketing interest in improving literacy instruction at the middle and high school levels driven by externally mandated reforms and accountability measures A central concern is the degree to which this new interest takes into account adolescents' personal social and cultural experiences in relation to literacy learning In this new edition of Reconceptualizing the Literacies in Adolescents Lives students' voices and perspectives are featured front and center in every chapter Particular attention is given throughout to multiple literacies especially how information and new communication technologies are changing learning from and with text Nine of the 15 chapters are new all other chapters are thoroughly updated The volume is structured around four main themes

- Situating Adolescents' Literacies addressing how young people use favorite texts to perform their identities how they counter school based constructions of incompetence and how they re-construct their literate identities in relation to certain kinds of gendered expectations pedagogies and cultural resources
- Positioning Youth as Readers and Writers stressing the importance of classroom discourse cultural capital agency and democratic citizenship in mediating adolescents' literate identities
- Mediating Practices in Young People's Literacies looking at issues of language social class race and culture in shaping how adolescents represent themselves and are represented by others and
- Changing Teachers Teaching Changes capturing the productive ambiguities associated with teaching urban adolescents to read and write in changing times encouraging students to conduct action research on topics that are personally relevant and using enabling constraints as a concept to formulate policies on adolescent literacy instruction

Rethinking Racism Jennifer S. Trainor, 2008-11-04 In Rethinking Racism Emotion Persuasion and Literacy Education in an All White High School Jennifer

Seibel Trainor proposes a new understanding of the roots of racism one that is based on attention to the role of emotion and the dynamics of persuasion This one year ethnographic study argues against previous assumptions about racism demonstrating instead how rhetoric and emotion as well as the processes and culture of schools are involved in the formation of racist beliefs Telling the story of a year spent in an all white high school Trainor suggests that contrary to prevailing opinion racism often does not stem from ignorance a lack of exposure to other cultures or the desire to protect white privilege Rather the causes of racism are frequently found in the realms of emotion and language as opposed to rational calculations of privilege or political ideologies Trainor maintains that racist assertions often originate not from prejudiced attitudes or beliefs but from metaphorical connections between racist ideas and nonracist values These values are reinforced even promoted by schooling via emotioned rules in place in classrooms in tacit unexamined lessons rituals and practices that exert a powerful though largely unacknowledged persuasive force on student feelings and beliefs about race Through in depth analysis of established anti racist pedagogies student behavior and racial discourses Trainor illustrates the manner in which racist ideas are subtly upheld through social and literacy education in the classroom and are thus embedded in the infrastructures of schools themselves It is the emotional and rhetorical framework of the classroom that lends racism its compelling power in the minds of students even as teachers endeavor to address the issue of cultural discrimination This effort is continually hindered by an incomplete understanding of the function of emotions in relation to antiracist persuasion and cannot be remedied until the root of the problem is addressed Rethinking Racism calls for a fresh approach to understanding racism and its causes offering crucial insight into the formative role of schooling in the perpetuation of discriminatory beliefs In addition this highly readable narrative draws from white students own stories about the meanings of race in their learning and their lives It thus provides new ways of thinking about how researchers and teachers represent whiteness Blending narrative with more traditional forms of ethnographic analysis Rethinking Racism uncovers the ways in which constructions of racism originate in literacy research and in our classrooms and how these constructions themselves can limit the rhetorical positions students enact
