The Principal's Companion Pam Robbins,Harvey B. Alvy,2003 This book

adds extremely relevant knowledge and skills for innovative reformers and for more traditional leaders alike. It provides a solid set of interesting and shrewd suggestions that can be used immediately by practising principals. From the Foreword by Kent D Peterson Professor Department of Educational Administration University of Wisconsin Madison. Despite the administrative leadership training that most principals receive in university courses their most useful learning doesn't occur until they are on the job. And the new knowledge much of it the result of trial and error success and failure is gained in relative isolation simply because there is no one else at that responsibility level within the school. Pam Robbins an educational consultant and Harvey B Alvy a practicing principal offer a well organized interactive manual for the role of principal. They have worked with hundreds of schools educators and other organizations around the world collecting data that form the basis for The Principal's Companion. This easy to read book combines the most helpful tried and true strategies with the most relevant leadership research and theory. The authors discuss creative leadership and necessary skills the wide variety of roles played by principals how to create a learning community personal and professional issues and much more. Quotes from practicing principals are included throughout the book and readers are encouraged to jot down their own reflections about each chapter theme. The Principal's Companion is a rare opportunity to collaborate with other principals an excellent professional resource that will be referred to again and again. Ideal for practicing and aspiring principals it is also highly useful as a text for administration courses.

The Other School System Eveline Kiley, 2009-06-16. Teaching the special needs child presents a great challenge to teachers. It therefore requires a knowledge of different techniques of behavior management and control. The techniques outlined have been tried and proven effective. Since rehabilitation is the primary focus of the special service schools the aim is to return the challenged students to general education schools as soon as possible or to provide guidance and terminal educational training. In order to achieve these goals and objectives the teacher plays a key role by using curricula that is adapted to the needs of the boys and girls. She or he must employ and methods to change and control disruptive aggressive behavior patterns that block learning. Teachers who show potential and willingness to work with socially maladjusted and emotionally disturbed or challenged or 12 1 1 must receive intensive training.
