Extended Curriculum Programmes Tennyson Mgutshini ,2022-04-30 The introduction of ECPs in South African Universities is seen by many as South Africa s key strategy for addressing the problem of poor patterns of student success and has its basis on the uncontested acceptance that an extended study duration may be necessary to bring some categories of learners to a level of parity with the readiness expectations of their course of study Even so this transformative strategic imperative has been plagued by a range of challenges that include poor systems readiness poor selection mechanisms in the identification of ECP students poor numeracy and literacy amongst students and indifferent teacher involvement in ECPs This volume offers a rare insight into many of the above recognised challenges and in so doing provides critical matter for thought for educators within the higher education sector

Grassroots Law in Papua New Guinea Melissa Demian, 2023-12-14 The introduction of village courts in Papua New Guinea in 1975 was an ambitious experiment in providing semi formal legal access to the country s overwhelmingly rural population Nearly 50 years later the enthusiastic adoption of these courts has had a number of ramifications some of them unanticipated Arguably the village courts have developed and are working exactly as they were supposed to do adapted by local communities to modes and styles consistent with their own dispute management sensibilities But with little in the way of state oversight or support most village courts have become of necessity nearly autonomous Village courts have also become the blueprint for other modes of dispute management They overlap with other sources of authority so the line between what does and does not constitute a court is now indistinct in many parts of the country Rather than casting this issue as a problem for legal development the contributors to Grassroots Law in Papua New Guinea ask how under conditions of state withdrawal people seek to retain an understanding of law that holds out some promise of either keeping the attention of the state or reproducing the state s authority

Too Close to Ignore Mark Moran, Jodie Curth-Bibb, 2020-03-31 Less than five kilometres from Australia s most northern islands in the Torres Strait lies the southern coast of Papua New Guinea PNG The people living on the PNG side of the border along the South Fly coast live in abject poverty with a near total absence of services and infrastructure The disparity in income housing and health outcomes when compared with their nearby neighbours and relatives in the Torres Strait Islands is extreme The border is the focus of a range of interventions by the Australian and Queensland governments including border protection quarantine marine resource management and infectious disease control including an alarming outbreak of multi drug resistant tuberculosis Restrictions are increasing on trading fishing and access to Australian services However questions remain as to whether this focus is having unintended consequences increasing the destitution and frustration on the PNG side in turn exacerbating the security threat to Australia And as the Australian border hardens the Indonesian border beckons This book presents the results of three years of research into the unique social and political geography of the borderland The Torres Strait Treaty between Australia and PNG serves to construct a complex institutional layering a tiered economy and a hierarchy of identities between those South Fly villagers who have rights under the Treaty to travel into Australia and those who do not This creates a politics of expectation and frustration that permeates everyday life along the South Fly coast through which development projects must navigate

Mathematics Education in a Neocolonial Country: The Case of Papua New Guinea Patricia Paraide,Kay Owens,Charly Muke,Philip Clarkson,Christopher Owens,2023-01-10 Most education research is undertaken in western developed countries While some research from developing countries does make it into research journals from time to time but these articles only emphasize the rarity of research in developing countries The proposed book is unique in that it will cover education in Papua New Guinea over the millennia Papua New Guinea s multicultural society with relatively recent contact with Europe and the Middle East provides a cameo of the development of education in a country with both a colonial history and a coup less transition to independence Discussion will focus on specific areas of mathematics education that have been impacted by policies research circumstances and other influences with particular emphasis on pressures on education in the last one and half centuries This volume will be one of the few records of this kind in the education research literature as an in depth record and critique of how school mathematics has been grown in Papua New Guinea from the late 1800s and should be a useful addition to graduate programs mathematics education courses history of mathematics as well as the interdisciplinary fields of cross cultural studies scholarship focusing on globalization and post decolonialism linguistics educational administration and policy technology education teacher education and gender studies

East Asia's Demand for Energy, Minerals and Food Kate Barclay,Graeme Smith,2016-02-05 China Japan and South Korea s international relations are shaped by the fact that all three countries are significant importers of resources This book brings together work on specific aspects of the politics of resources for each of these countries regionally and internationally There are some similarities in the approaches taken by all these three For example their development assistance shares a focus on infrastructure building and reluctance to purposefully influence domestic politics However there are also significant differences due in large part to the individual nature of the states as international actors China has significant domestic supplies of resources while Japan and Korea are net importers China's size also marks it out as different as does its state socialist history and continuing authoritarian state One of the key issues to understanding contemporary resource politics in Northeast Asia is that Western dominance of the world order is currently declining In some cases Northeast Asian approaches to resources are seen as being mercantilist In other cases Northeast Asian powers are seen as replacing Western powers in exploiting resource rich developing countries This book gives readers an informed view of this very important issue in contemporary international relations This book was published as a special issue of Asian Studies Review
