

DynaNotes Grade 8 Social Studies Alignment to TEKS/Student Expectations

Example: "Impact of Reconstruction Amendments" Section

Student Expectation:

8.16 (B) Government. The student understands the process of changing the U.S. Constitution and the impact of amendments on American society. The student is expected to describe the impact of 19th-century amendments, including the 13th, 14th, and 15th amendments, on life in the United States.

How DynaNotes are Helpful:

First, view the DynaNotes Quick Start Guide. Key takeaways are that DynaNotes student course notes ...

- ... are a supplement to, not a replacement for, your current quality instructional practices.
- ... are intended to initially be used as scaffolding to enable or speed understanding, retention, recall, application work, completion, etc.
- ... are, secondarily, helpful for measuring and communicating student progress and also as a communication tool for use with parents/guardians.
- ... are a natural study aid at test time, because students have grown familiar with them (much of the content should be retained by most students through use when needed so that a minimal amount still needs to be "memorized" just before test time).

Next, see Exhibit A for aligned sample problems. Any of these activities could be assigned to students to complete in pairs in class, independently at home, or independently at school with or without the DynaNotes course notes. The presence of the DynaNotes student course notes has no impact on the assignments themselves in most cases (assuming assignments reach the appropriate rigor and are TEKS-aligned). Rather, the notes impact each student's experience as he/she works to complete the assignment. In most cases, the notes enable a stronger sense of personal progress that yields more student effort ... which yields more progress, and then more effort, and so forth:

- Students exhibit a willingness to try (empowerment).
- Students seek help in the DynaNotes well-researched, visual reference when they are "stuck" instead of requiring a verbal re-explanation from the teacher.
- As many students help themselves, teachers are freed up to spend more 1:1 face time with those who need more than a simple reminder or example.
- Students can use the notes to point out and better describe what they do understand and what they do not understand about the notes themselves and/or the social studies assignment at hand.
- Teachers can adjust any student's notes access as the teacher believes is appropriate for that student, such as blocking notes access for a student who is approaching mastery until that student is checking his/her work, and then allowing him/her to regain access.
- Students can use the notes to help explain concepts and skills to other students (using correct vocabulary and accurate examples).

DynaNotes Student Course Notes Content:

LEGISLATIVE REFORMS

After Lincoln's assassination, Vice President Andrew Johnson from Tennessee became president. He granted pardons to ex-Confederate officers and others. He vetoed many bills. The Republican Congress (made of states that had not seceded) passed some reform legislation:

- Freedmen's Bureau: helped ex-slaves by providing food, clothing, medical care, helping families reunify, and setting up black schools
- 13th Amendment: abolished slavery in every state in the U.S.
- Civil Rights Act: granted blacks full citizenship and civil rights
- 14th Amendment: defined U.S. citizen as any person born in U.S. or naturalized (foreign-born person who completed legal process to become a U.S. citizen, which included living in U.S. for five years and renouncing all allegiances to other countries or powers); 14th amendment guaranteed equal protection under the law to all citizens

After 1866, Radical Reconstruction Congress passed more legislation:

- Reconstruction Act of 1867: imposed military rule in southern states and required ratification of 14th amendment for readmission to Union
- 15th Amendment: guaranteed right to vote to all citizens, regardless of "race, color, or previous condition of servitude" (enslavement)
- Enforcement Acts of 1870 and 1871: protected black voters

Under Radical Reconstruction, new state governments were Republican dominated. All states passed reform legislation for universal male suffrage, and some created black schools and other social programs.

IMPACT OF RECONSTRUCTION AMENDMENTS (CR)

The 13th amendment ended slavery forever in the U.S. However, the Supreme Court narrowly interpreted the 14th and 15th amendments and nullified parts of the Enforcement Acts. This allowed states to limit voting among blacks and segregate (separate by race) public institutions. However, these amendments would have a huge impact on life in the U.S. as the civil rights movement of the 1960s used them to establish more equality of opportunity among races and groups.

ECONOMIC, POLITICAL, AND SOCIAL PROBLEMS (CR)

In the South, blacks and whites faced many problems:

- Southern Economy: over 250,000 had died and destruction of farms and property were widespread; needed an agricultural labor force
- sharecropping: many blacks and poor whites could not afford land; they made deals with landowners who supplied the land, seed, and materials; both parties shared the crop that was produced
- Black Codes: state laws passed during Johnson's reconstruction (former rebels filled state governments) that restricted blacks much as they had been as slaves; repealed by reconstructed governments
- Ku Klux Klan: violently intimidated black voters, scalawags (moderate southerners), and carpetbaggers (northerners); led by Democrats

In the North, many people wanted to punish the South and secure rights for freed slaves. Their support for Reconstruction waned due to corruption in southern state governments, political scandals in the Republican party, and the U.S. economy's collapse in the Panic of 1873. Federal troops were removed in 1877. Democrats returned to power.

IMPACT OF ELECTION OF HIRAM RHODES REVELS

Hiram Rhodes Revels was an educated preacher who was born free:

- Mississippi state senate voted to send Revels to U.S. Senate in 1870
- U.S. Senate Democrats tried to block Revels from his seat
- Republican senators defended him; became first black U.S. senator
- because Jefferson Davis had held one of the U.S. Senate seats for Mississippi before secession, the seating of a black U.S. Senator for Mississippi was symbolic for many groups in different ways
- many whites supported Revels (great speaker; had moderate views)
