Trauma and Forgiveness C. Fred Alford,2014-01-09 Contrary to the view of trauma popularized by literary theorists Trauma and Forgiveness argues that the traumatized are capable of representing their experience and that we should therefore listen more and theorize less Using stories and case studies including testimonies from Holocaust survivors as well as the victims of ordinary trauma C Fred Alford shows that while the traumatized are generally capable of representing their experience this does little to heal them

He draws on the British Object Relations tradition in psychoanalysis to argue that forgiveness which might be expected to help heal the traumatized is generally an attempt to avoid the hard work of mourning losses that can never be made whole. Forgiveness is better seen as a virtue in the classical sense a recognition of human vulnerability. The book concludes with an extended case study of the essayist Jean Améry and his refusal to forgive. Object Relations, The Self and the Group Charles Ashbach, Victor L. Schermer, 2005-08-18 Presents a framework for integrating group psychology with psychoanalytic theories of object relations ego and self. Key constructs defined, discussed and illustrated with practical examples. The Gendered Unconscious Louise Gylter, 2010-04-23 Feminist interventions in psychoanalysis have often attempted either to subvert or re-frame the masculinist and phallogocentric biases of Freud's psychoanalysis. This book investigates the nature of these interventions by comparing the status and treatment of women in two different psychoanalytic models: the Kleinian and the feminist models. It argues that in fact these interventions have historically tended to reinforce such biases by collapsing the distinction between the gendered minds of individuals and theories of gender. This investigation is framed by two steps. First, in assessing the position of women and the feminine in psychoanalysis. The Gendered Unconscious explores not only the ways they are represented in theory but also how these representations function in practice. Secondly, this book uses a framework of a comparative dialogue to highlight the assumptions and values that underpin the theory and clinical practice in the two psychoanalytic models. This comparative critique concludes with the counter-intuitive claim that contemporary Kleinian theory may in practice hold more radical possibilities for the interests of women than the practices derived from contemporary psychoanalytic gender theory. This book is of significant interest to those studying the psychology of women, psychoanalytic studies, health psychology, sociology, gender studies and cultural studies. It will also be of interest to clinicians and candidates of professional psychotherapy and psychoanalytic training programmes. Ordinary People and Extra-ordinary Protections Judith L. Mitrani, 2009-03-04 Many people come to analysis appearing quite ordinary on the surface. However, once below that surface we often come into contact with something quite unexpected: extra-ordinary protections created to keep at bay any awareness of deeply traumatic happenings occurring at some point in life. Judith Mitrani investigates the development and the function of these protections, allowing the reader to witness the evolution of the process of transformation wherein defensiveness steadily mutates into communication. She lucidly and artfully weaves detailed clinical work with a variety of analytic concepts and her original notions including unmentalized experience and its expression in enactments, adhesive pseudo-object relations and the way in which this contrasts and compares with normal and narcissistic object relations. These provide valuable tools for understanding the infantile transference, countertransference and for the refinement of our technique with primitive mental states. Ordinary People and Extra-ordinary Protections will prove stimulating and accessible in its style and substance to a broad analytic readership, from the serious student of psychoanalysis to the most seasoned professional. Self-in-Relationship Psychotherapy Augustine Meier, Micheline

Boivin,2022-07-29 In this innovative book the authors set out their theory of Self in Relationship Psychotherapy SIRP advocating for the integration of relational self and physical intimacy needs in the conceptualization and treatment of psychological problems placing human needs at the center of treatment This marks a shift in how psychological and relational problems are understood currently being perceived in terms of affects cognitive processes and behaviors Using numerous illustrations from their own clinical practice Meier and Boivin contend that this understanding overlooks the pivotal role that needs play in all aspects of peoples personal lives and relationships Children adolescents and adults do not live primarily from feelings and thoughts but from basic psychological and relational needs such as wanting to be in a meaningful relationship having the autonomy and freedom to make decisions about their lives experiencing being competent being regarded as a significant and important person and experiencing emotional intimate and sensual and or sexual connections By taking such an approach this book stands out among other books on psychotherapy theories Authored by two seasoned psychologists who have provided therapeutic services to children adolescents and adults for 40 years this book comprises the foundational theory for practicing Self in Relationship Psychotherapy making it of interest to graduate students clinicians in training and practicing psychologists social workers and psychotherapists alike Psychic was dominated by the Tambaran a male tutelary spirit that acted as a social and intellectual guardian or patron to those under its aegis as they made their way through life To Melanesian scholarship the cultural and psychological anthropologist Donald F Tuzin was something of a Tambaran a figure whose brilliant and fine grained ethnographic project in the Arapesh village of Ilahita was immensely influential within and beyond New Guinea anthropology Tuzin died in 2007 at the age of 61 In his memory the editors of this collection commissioned a set of original and thought provoking essays from eminent and accomplished anthropologists who knew and were influenced by his work They are echoes of the Tambaran The anthology begins with a biographical sketch of Tuzin s life and scholarship It is divided into four sections each of which focuses loosely around one of his preoccupations The first concerns warfare history the male cult and changing masculinity all in Melanesia The second addresses the relationship between actor and structure Here the ethnographic focus momentarily shifts to the Caribbean before turning back to Papua new Guinea in essays that examine uncanny phenomena narratives about childhood and messianic promises The third part goes on to offer comparative and psychoanalytic perspectives on the subject in Fiji Bali the Amazon as well as Melanesia Appropriately the last section concludes with essays on Tuzin s fieldwork style and his distinctive authorial voice

Matthew McMahon, George Gifford, 2021-09-07 This particular work by Gifford contains six pieces now updated into current modern print The first work is worth the cost of the volume itself It is his treatise on The Great Mystery of God s Providence on Genesis 45 8 concerning the historical narrative of Joseph coming to power in Egypt by God s providence He particularly deals with the question To what degree does the holy and righteous God make use of the evil actions of wicked men and devils without any impeachment of his righteousness and holiness This is a wonderful and masterful treatise that will expand your view of the great mystery of God s providence in the world not only in Joseph s time but throughout all of redemptive history including our own time In his second piece he covers James 2 26 so faith without works is dead while comparing both Paul s use of justification by faith and James use of justification by works In his third sermon on James 3 he covers the manner in which the Christian s speech ought to glorify God and how very often that it does not This is especially proven out by dealing with Christians in the church where out of the same mouth comes blessing and cursing In his fourth piece he demonstrates the need and virtue of true fortitude to the glory of God In this he considers the strength and vigor of the Christian in all they do in zeal for the glory of Christ In his fifth piece on Psalm 133 1 he covers the need and commendation of unity in the church the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace as set down by David in the Psalm and echoed in Ephesians by Paul His final piece is an explanation of the parable of the sower from Matt 13 1 9 teaching that in the innumerable multitude that came to hear Christ s heavenly doctrine the Savior shows that out of this great number of people that were so zealous and traveled so far there were three groups out of four that did not profit by his teaching and were therefore still creatures under damnation Only one group of the four were true hearers In all these works Gifford is very easy to read yet exegetically sound and
