Conceptual

Spaces: Elaborations and Applications Mauri Kaipainen, Frank Zenker, Antti Hautamäki, Peter Gärdenfors, 2019-06-25 This edited book focuses on concepts and their applications using the theory of conceptual spaces one of today's most central tracks of cognitive science discourse. It features 15 papers based on topics presented at the Conceptual Spaces Work 2016 conference. The contributors interweave both theory and applications in their papers. Among the first mentioned are studies on metatheories, logical and systemic implications of the theory as well as relations between concepts and language. Examples of the latter include explanatory models of paradigm shifts and evolution in science as well as dilemmas and issues of health, ethics and education. The theory of conceptual spaces overcomes many translational issues between academic theoretization and practical applications. The paradigm is mainly associated with structural explanations such as categorization and meronymy. However, the community has also been relating it to relations, functions and systems. The book presents work that provides a geometric model for the representation of human conceptual knowledge that bridges the symbolic and the sub-conceptual levels of representation. The model has already proven to have a broad range of applicability beyond cognitive science and even across a number of disciplines related to concepts and representation.

Fundamentals of Modern Manufacturing Mikell P. Groover, 2010-01-07 Engineers rely on Groover because of the book's quantitative and engineering oriented approach that provides more equations and numerical problem exercises. The fourth edition introduces more modern topics including new materials, processes and systems. End of chapter problems are also thoroughly revised to make the material more relevant. Several figures have been enhanced to significantly improve the quality of artwork. All of these changes will help engineers better understand the topic and how to apply it in the field.

Topographic Mapping John N. Hatzopoulos, Despina J. Hatzopoulos, 2024-10-01 This book is addressed to students and professionals and it is aimed to cover as much as possible the broader region of topographic mapping as it has evolved into a modern field called geospatial information science and technology. More emphasis is placed on using scientific methods and tools materialized in algorithms and software to produce practical results. For this reason, beyond the written material, there are also many educational and professional software programs written by the first author to help comprehend the individual methodologies developed. The Target of this book is to provide the people who work in fields of applications of topographic mapping: environment, geology, geography, cartography, engineering, geotechnical, agriculture, forestry, geointelligence, etc. a source of knowledge for the broader region so that to help them in facing relevant problems as well as in preparing contracts and specifications for such type of work assigned to professionals and evaluating such contracting results. It also aims to be a reference for theory and practice for professionals in Topographic Mapping. This book applies a didactics method where, with a relatively small effort, someone can digest a large volume of simple or complicated knowledge material at a desirable scientific depth within a relatively short time interval. The objective that educated people must be smarter than the machine and not treat the machine as a black box being button pushers has been achieved through the first author's experience in the USA and Greece with relative success by adopting this didactics technique. There are 14 chapters including Reference systems and Projections Topographic instruments and Geometry of coordinates Conventional construction of a topographic map Design and reproduction of a thematic map Digital Topographic mapping GIS Digital Terrain Models DTM DEM GPS GNSS methods of Photogrammetry Remote Sensing new technologies LIDAR IFSAR Augmented reality Mapping with UAS UAV Drones the method of Least Squares adjustment and Description of educational software accompanying the text

Handbook of Academic Learning Gary D. Phye, 1997-01-08 The Handbook of Academic Learning provides a comprehensive resource for educational and cognitive psychologists as well as educators themselves on the mechanisms and processes of academic learning. Beginning with general themes that cross subject and age level, the book discusses what motivates students to learn and how knowledge can be made personal for better learning and remembering. Individual chapters identify proven effective teaching methods for the specific domains of math, reading, writing, science, and critical problem solving; how students learn within those domains; and how learning can be accurately assessed for given domains and age levels. The Handbook takes a constructivist perspective to academic learning, emphasizing the construction of personal knowledge of an academic nature. Constructivism within the context of learning theory is viewed as involving an active learner that constructs an academic knowledge base through the development of cognitive strategies and metacognition. The book discusses the development of basic literacy skills that provide the foundation for higher order thinking and problem solving. Constructivism recognizes the social dimension of classroom learning and emphasizes the motivational elements of self-regulation and volition as essential learner characteristics. Written by authors who have first-hand experience with both theory development and the development of authentic classroom instructional techniques, the Handbook empowers educators to develop, implement, and field test authentic instructional practices at their school site. The book provides a review of the literature, theory, research, and skill techniques for effective teaching and learning. Identifies effective teaching with specific techniques. Covers elementary school through high school. Discusses teaching methods for all main subject areas: reading, writing, math, science, and critical thinking. Identifies how students learn to learn. Reviews theory, research, techniques, and assessment. Contains field-tested examples for the educational professional at the school site. Provides a resource for staff development.
