It examines the factors that contribute to students' poor performance in the community secondary schools in Tanzania to discern the main factors contributing to their poor performance. The 2023 Focus Conference will focus on Goal Four: Quality Education of the United Nations UN Sustainable Development Goals. SGD Goal Four is seized with providing equal access for all women and men to affordable and quality technical, vocational, and tertiary education, including university. Quality education in this context means the ability to function, provide and derive value in society. The theme of the conference is therefore coined as: The Role of Higher Education in the Attainment of Sustainable Quality Education. Through this theme, the conference will provide a space for participants to share practical knowledge, experiences, and possible solutions to the myriad of problems that confront the higher education sector. Universities are often thought of as ivory towers far removed from the realities that confront global societies. To compound this, higher education is increasingly being questioned for its relevance in providing practical and innovative solutions to existing societal problems Such questions often navigate around the relevance of the academic programmes being offered curriculum the capacity of staff employability of graduates and generally the ability of these institutions to understand why they exist Indeed higher education s role in creating a sustainable future will presumably take on greater importance as the world continues to become increasingly globalised and interdependent

Effects of Government Mandates and Policies on Public Education in Africa, the Caribbean, and the Middle East Cynthia S. Sunal,Oluseyi Matthew Odebiyi,Kagendo Mutua,2022-06-01 As the demand for education at all levels has increased so have the models of meeting these increased demands for education As in many other parts of the world public education has expanded to serve large populations across the regions of Africa the Caribbean and the Middle East Many nations in these regions have instituted mandates policies and frameworks intended to simultaneously increase access to public education opportunities as well as improve the quality of education provided and to address a wide populace. Because the increase in educational demand has occurred at all levels, these efforts often address various levels of education from early childhood through primary schooling, junior secondary and secondary schooling, and into tertiary education. Efforts also have been made to increase participation in education by marginalized and/or special populations. The range of efforts is large, with some focusing on involving migrants, immigrants, refugees in primary education, while others aim at opening up choices at the university level. Recently, nations in the region have recognized the possibilities of digital learning; online learning, as cell phones and other widely used portable wireless devices have made it possible to sell the idea that one can learn from anywhere at any time. This widespread access to technology has made it possible for governments as well as private entities to expand learning opportunities even to populations previously unreached or to address difficult-to-reach sectors of the population. At the same time, the population itself has not only increased in numbers but in diversity. Maintaining quality through digital and other means of quick expansion of educational opportunities continues to be challenging, if not problematic.

Effects of Government Mandates and Policies on Public Education in Africa, the Caribbean and the Middle East is Book IX of the series Research on Education in Africa, the Caribbean and the Middle East. Chapters document, describe, and/or raise critical issues and/or questions resulting from government policies, mandates, and frameworks intended to make available public education to an ever-growing populace while at the same time being mindful of improving quality of education being available to an increasingly diverse populace.

Educating Adolescents Around the Globe Meike Watzlawik, Alina Burkholder, 2020-05-04 By traveling to different parts of the world, this book provides a multidisciplinary perspective on the current state of adolescent education and demonstrates how education systems are formed by and closely tied to culture. After establishing a theoretical background, the book delves into the particulars of adolescent education and its associated challenges in six countries: India, Kenya, Germany, Brazil, Japan, and Denmark. In tandem with the discussion of institutions, the stories of those who are all too often underserved or left behind are told. Despite the diversity of each education system, the investigation reveals several unifying themes that transcend the specific contexts. The lessons from each example are woven together to demonstrate how the individualized needs of students can best be met in a vision for the future of educating adolescents.
